PRESIDENT SCANS SKY

Indicates Bright Days in 1927

Coolidge Refuses to Predict Developments of Year But Appears Confident

Present Prosperous State of Nation in Basic Lines of Trade Encouraging

BY KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (Exclusive) President Coolidge, in a discussion of the economic outlook in the United States for 1927, today adhered to his customary policy of refusing to make predictions concerning future developments, but strongly indicated a belief that the coming year will mean a continuation of the general prosperity that has existed in the country during the last six years. Referring to discuss existing conditions and their probable relationship to the next twelve months, rather than to embark on a speculative study of the new year, the President informed callers at the White House that the country at present is a fundamentally sound condi-

REPORTS ENCOURAGING

Reports reaching him from various government departments and from the country generally show no diminution in production or industrial activity. Wages have not receded appreciably from the high levels maintained for a year or more and employment is generally satisfactory, with an increasing demand for labor in some sections of the country.

Secretary of Labor Davis informed the Cabinet at today's Cabinet meeting that opportunity for employment is increasing notably in New York and the eastern centers.

The country is well provided with capital for the maintenance and expansion of business and industrial activity; skilled labor is available for ordinary needs; the country is rich in natural resources and in raw materials.

Turning more specifically into the realm of the economic outlook, the White House spokesman called attention to the fact that foreshadows of an era of depression during 1927, similar to pessimistic predictions made a year ago concerning the notable developments of 1926—a year that has been marked by extreme prosperity in most lines of industry and business.

It is recognized that some farm products, notably cotton, do not present, at this time, such prices as obtained a year ago, but it is believed the cotton producers may be able to absorb a certain amount of that loss.

AID FOR FARMER

The government itself is endeavoring by every possible way to aid the farmer, while President Coolidge will not favor legislation offering assistance to agriculture, such as is

BORAH GIVEN HIGH PRAISE BY OBREGON

Statement on Situation in Latin America Elicits Message Thanking Senator

A message thanking Senator Borah for his recent statement on the Mexican and Nicaraguan situation was dispatched to the Senator at Washington last night by Alvaro Obregon, former President of Mexico, now visiting in Los Angeles. The text of the message follows:

"Noteworthy for its inspiration in moral principles and in the highest regard for the rights of citizens is the statement Your Excellency gave to the press in connection with the cases of Mexico and Nicaragua, which has enhanced your personality and attracted the admiration and gratitude of all the Spanish-speaking people living south of the Rio Grande, whose highest ideals are to see that their sons may live in a free country independent of all foreign interference.

"There is nothing so wonderful and gratifying as the unbiased and brave stand Your Excellency has taken, condemning before the eyes of the world the violence inflicted against the sovereignty and dignity of the Latin-American countries, with the sole purpose of protecting, as has been stated, private rights of individuals and American enterprises; especially

DISCLAIMS MEDDLING

Coolidge States Nicaragua Aims

Declares Navy Aiding Neither Side But Only Protecting American Interests

Rebel Envoy in Mexico Says Recent Defeat Spells Doom for Diaz

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The trouble in Nicaragua aroused new reverberations in Washington today, stirring the White House to make public explanations of its policy and bringing into sharper definition the points of controversy between the administration and its critics.

Replying directly to some of the protests against the landing of American forces on Nicaraguan soil, the White House spokesman declared the United States has no other object than protection of American life and property, and is taking no hand as between the two Nicaraguan factions who are contending for control of the country.

Later in the day Secretary Kellogg of the State Department and Secretary Wilbur of the Navy went hurriedly to the White House, where they remained closeted for a long time with President Coolidge. The action set in motion many reports of important developments in the embattled little Central American republic, but when the conference was over the White House and Mr. Wilbur remained silent while Secretary Kellogg said the conversation had related to China.

PROTEST BY ENVOY

Meantime the envoy here of the unrecognized Sacasa government at Puerto Cabezas sent to the State Department a formal protest against the operations of the American forces landed in the Puerto Cabezas district. Among other things the protest accused Rear-Admiral Latimer, the American naval commander in Nicaraguan waters, of setting up a censorship in violation of the international law. Both the State and Navy departments denied they know of any such a step.

One of those who looked upon the day's developments with particular curiosity was Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The administration policy in Nicaragua has not appealed to him very strongly, but he is withholding a decision. Despite assurances given him repeatedly in talks he has had with Secretary Kellogg, Mr. Borah is making a personal investigation, and, until it is completed, he will not decide whether to ask Congress to go into the whole subject after the holidays.

The White House pronouncement today was directed at charges emanating from Central America and elsewhere that the real purpose of the American landing force was to strengthen the hand of President Diaz, who has been recognized by the United States as constitutional ruler of that country, and to cripple the activities of the Sacasa group, recognized by Mexico.

DENY INTERFERENCE

The spokesman for the President said that in making the landing Admiral Latimer followed the usual policy of the United States in Central America, making his contacts with shore at such points and in such a manner as to prevent harm to American life or property by either of the combatants. It was denied specifically that the American marines and bluejackets at Puerto Cabezas have interfered with the Liberal leader, Sacasa, or the members of his Cabinet. Sacasa has been given a house for his own use by the Braggman's Bluff Lumber Company, an American hardwood concern in the Puerto Cabezas district, the White House has been told, and he and his lieutenants are at liberty to carry on there as they see fit.

Dr. T. S. Vaca, the Sacasa agent here, did not make public the protest he delivered to the State Department late today, but he previously had complained that some of his messages to his chiefs in Central America had been turned back, and that the radio station at Puerto Cabezas had been placed under censorship by Admiral Latimer. It is doubtful whether the department will make formal reply to this protest, since it does not come from the agent of a recognized government.

One report that spread around diplomatic Washington while Secretaries Kellogg and Wilbur were at the White House told of supposed messages of great importance, said to have come to the Navy Department during the day from Admiral Latimer. Of this report there was no authoritative confirmation. When asked if Nicaragua had been discussed at the conference in the President's office, Secretary Wilbur said he must decline to reply.

ENVOY IN MEXICO SEES DOOM OF DIAZ

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28. (AP)—Dr. Pedro Zapeda, representative of the Liberal government on the east coast of Nicaragua, today asserted that the recent defeat of the Conservative government troops in the Pearl Lagoon fighting zone means the doom of the government of President Adolfo Diaz.

He asserted that the Pearl Lagoon defeat has left the Conservatives so crippled in strength that they will be unable to oppose the advance of the Liberals upon Managua, the capital of Nicaragua. The defeated government forces, he said, now will be forced to seek refuge in the neutral zone at Bluefields, where they will be disarmed by Rear-Admiral Julian Latimer, in command of the American naval squadron there.

Dr. Zapeda, who was sent to Mexico City by Dr. Juan Sacasa, who heads the Liberal faction, denied reports from Nicaragua stating that

NORRIS CASE STIRS FIGHTS

Attorney for Accused Pastor Battles City Manager of Fort Worth for Insinuation

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Dec. 28. (AP)—A fistic encounter between O. E. Carr, City Manager of Fort Worth, and Marvin Simpson, attorney, followed a declaration by Carr today that he believed the attorney was involved in sending a man to Mayor Meacham with an offer to kill Rev. J. Frank Norris, Baptist minister, who faces a murder charge.

Carr asserted the attorney and Dr. Norris sent a man to Mayor Meacham in an effort to trap the official, who is assisting in the prosecution of Dr. Norris.

The City Manager made his charge while Simpson, attorney for the minister, was taking Carr's deposition in a $150,000 damage suit brought against Dr. Norris by the 14-year-old son of D. E. Chipps, lumberman, who was shot and killed by Dr. Norris in the study of the First Baptist Church here last July.

Carr testified that a man visited Mayor Meacham, a close friend of Chipps, and offered to kill Dr. Norris for $5000. The Mayor, Carr said, rejected the offer and said he would be willing to spend an equal amount to save the pastor's life.

"Why didn't you have the fellow arrested?" Carr was asked.

"Because I thought Simpson sent him," the witness replied.

"If you think that you're just a liar," shouted Simpson, springing at Carr.

The attorney was quieted, but after Carr had finished the deposition, Simpson demanded to know if the City Manager "still believed" it. He struck Carr a staggering blow. Carr, with his overcoat on, fought back until the two were separated.

Before leaving the stand, Carr admitted to Dayton Moses, associated with Simpson in Dr. Norris's defense, that perhaps he "should withdraw" the remark as applied to Simpson.

Mayor Meacham in a deposition declared there was no organized effort to punish the prosecution of the minister on the murder charge.

The lumberman was slain when he went to Dr. Norris to protest against attacks being made by the preacher on Mayor Meacham and the city administration.

Dr. Norris's trial is set for January 10 at Austin.

Couple Flying to India Start Lap Into Italy

MARSEILLES (France) Dec. 28. (AP) Sir Samuel Hoare, British Air Minister, and Lady Maude Hoare, his wife, who are on a 12,000-mile air voyage to India, started off on the second lap of the journey today.

The air liner began the epoch-making flight at the Croydon airdrome near London yesterday and arrived at Marseilles last night, escorted into the city by five French planes. From Marseilles, the couple are flying to Pisa, Italy.

League Official Mentioned for American Post

GENEVA, Dec. 28. (AP)—Rumors published by European newspapers that Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary-General of the League of Nations, would resign include a report that he would be appointed British Ambassador at Washington to succeed Sir Esme Howard.

Before leaving for England after the last League meeting, Sir Eric told friends he had no inkling he would be offered another post and that he had no thought of resigning as Secretary-General. On the contrary, he said he was looking forward to two of the hardest years' work since the founding of the League, because of the projected international economic and disarmament conferences.

"BAREFOOT BOY" DISCOVERED IN ROLE OF "THE LAST LEAF"

DANVERS (Mass.) Dec. 28. (AP)—A half-starved old man, a gardener by trade and a vegetarian by diet, lies seriously ill in the State Hospital here while neighbors recall the gossip which named him model for the tribute to boyhood by John Greenleaf Whittier, who wrote:

"Blessings on thee, little man,
Barefoot boy, with cheeks of tan,
With thy turned-up pantaloons,
And thy merry whistled tunes,
With thy red lips, redder still,
Kissed by strawerries on the hill;
With the sunshine on thy face
Through thy torn brim's jaunty grace.
From my heart I give thee joy;
I was once a barefoot boy!"

Frankie Marston is the gray-whiskered man whom neighbors assisted from his lonely cottage, where he was found weak from lack of food. These neighbors recalled the poem, that it was attributed to his inspiration, and that he had worked here on an estate where Whittier lived. They recalled also that the gardener shunned meats and subsisted largely on fruits, nuts and berries.

Marston was unconscious when he reached the hospital and doctors attributed his condition to lack of food and exposure to cold.

No one knows just how old he is, but neighbors declared he is well past the 60 mark. Despite his age he still carries "the cheek of tan" and, like most hermits, is reputed to be comparatively well off.

He had worked on what is known as "the old Whittier estate" here until a few weks ago, carrying out the usual odd jobs of an outdoor caretaker. He has been a fixture around the estate for the last half-century. In summertime he augments his gardening income with berry-picking trips into the woods in this vicinity.

FUND TAKEN YEARS AGO SENT BACK

Former San Diego Lawyer Returns $20,000 and Its Interest for Victims

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—More than ten years ago Lester Welch, brilliant young San Diego attorney and politician, who was prominent socially, disappeared, and with him went $20,000 that had been intrusted to him by clients. At first it was feared he had been a victim of foul play, but later he was traced to Central America. Complaints charging him with embezzlement of the funds then were issued by the District Attorney's office.

Today Attorney James O'Keefe received a draft for $30,000 representing the embezzled funds and interest from March, 1916, from Welch, transmitted through a friend in an eastern city. With the draft there came a message from Welch, stating that he was sending the money in order that his victims might be reimbursed.

Four of the victims, all women, are to receive checks from O'Keefe tomorrow. The fifth, a man, is believed to have left San Diego and no trace of him or any relatives can be found.

Welch when he left San Diego was about 30 years of age, and abandoned a wife and young son. They since have left San Diego and are believed to have joined him. O'Keefe today refused to tell from what city the $30,000 draft came or to reveal the name of the friend who acted for Welch. The embezzlement charges made against Welch will be dismissed within a few days, it is believed.

Ex-Dry Agent Defends Self in Raid Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—John H. Vail, former Federal prohibition agent charged with murdering James S White, Shasta county deputy Game Warden, took the stand in his own defense in Federal Judge St. Sure's court here today and dramatically described the shooting during a raid on the Shasta View Hotel at Castella, Shasta county.

"I did not fire until White had shot me twice," Vail testified.

He said he had been struck in the face by Joseph Mattos and had subdued Mattos with a blackjack.

New York Stage Heeds Edict

Mayor Walker Gives Notice of Impending Censor to Launch Clean-up

Producers Pledge to Cut Out Filth After Hearing of Executive's Plan

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Theatrical producers are going to undertake a moral housecleaning "for the protection of the theater and the good name of the city of New York," they assured Mayor Walker today.

The Mayor conferred with about twenty producers and theatrical representatives in his office, warning them against immorality on the stage and urging action by the theater men themselves rather than by a censor. He does not want to see a censor in the theater, he said.

Mayor Walker announced that the agreement of the producers, "to create a real thorough-going organization for the protection of the theater and the good name of the city of New York," will be binding not only on those who attended the conference today but also on others who were not present, although they were invited, for the protection of all producers.

SEVERAL ABSENT

Among the absentees were Sam Harris, George White, Earl Carroll, Flo Ziegfeld and George M. Cohan, who was expected from Monroe, N. Y. Mayor Walker said he knows Mr. White is willing to co-operate. He added he believed invitations to the conference had been sent to all producers.

In a statement after the conference, the Mayor said:

"We generally and informally discussed the theater. Some complaints, received by me, were leveled at some productions, but no plays were discussed in detail and no comparison was made. They were, however, admonished by me that if they did not get together in some form or organization to control their own properties and the improvement of the character of theatrical performances, the Mayor would have to find a way to do it for them.

"I understand that the real artistic shows on Broadway are starving to death and that some fly-by-night salacious productions are selling out nightly. Many of the complaints are about the undressed condition of some of the musical shows.

DUMPING SHOWS

"I don't want to assume an alarming attitude, but something must be done. They are dumping shows in New York that could not get bookings in the road."

Mayor Walker expressed the opinion that it is impossible to obtain convictions where police officers make arrests of individuals on the ground that their performances are salacious. The play goes on, he said, and the players usually are acquitted.

Juries, he declared, refuse to act as censors, and so the only recourse, if the producers refuse to "see the light," he believes to be legislation creating an official censor. Such legislation, he said, he will have enacted if the producers do not act.

"But how about the citizens' play juries appointed by Dist.-Atty. Banton as an unofficial adjunct of his office?" a reporter asked. "Have they proven a flat failure?"

Women Drawing Alimony Declared Without Rights to Loaf at Expense of Former Spouses

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Ex-wives have no inherent right to live in idleness on the earnings of their former husbands, the Third District Court of Appeal ruled today in affirming the judgment of the Alameda County Superior Court reducing the alimony to be paid by Ervin H. Lamborn to Frances G. Lamborn from $45 a month to $30.

Mrs. Lamborn, a trained nurse, was granted the decree five years ago on the ground of cruelty, since when, states the opinion written by Justice Plummer, she has shown a "lack of any real disposition to earn any part of her own living."

The trial court was justified, he continues, "in considering the laudable wish of the respondent (Lamborn) to remarry, and that he should not be so crippled in his finances that another home may not be established unless it appeared to the trial court that the necessities of the former wife compelled such a course.

"Where the ex-husband is earning wages by daily labor a trial court in awarding alimony, should not do so in a sum inducting idleness on the part of the ex-wife. Where there are no children involved and the parties are both young in years we think the trial court may take into consideration in awarding alimony the possibility, probability and desirability of allowing the respective parties to establish another and perhaps more congenial home."

Justice Plummer emphasizes the changed conditions brought about by the employment of women and girls in industry and adds:

"Whether the plaintiff is sufficiently able to enter this class and become independent, or at least to make a reasonable effort to attain that end and so relieve the opposite party from the monthly draft upon his wages ($100 a month in this case,) were all equitable matters for the trial court to weigh and consider.

"The mere fact that the appellant was granted a divorce in this action does not absolutely brand the defendant as one whose means and circumstances should not be taken into consideration."

Hopes for Relief Rise With Slackening of Rainfall and Colder Weather

Nashville Takes Measures to Prevent Diseases While High Water Remains

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 28. (AP)—Forecast of colder weather tonight and clear skies tomorrow supported hopes that relief is in sight for flooded areas of several States where continuous rains have brought about flood situations.

General rains were followed by renewed rising of streams in the basin of the Lower Ohio and the Mississippi River and more extensive inundation along smaller streams.

Chief interest tonight centered on the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers which have overflowed at many places, bringing distress to Nashville and Chattanooga and to inhabitants of the bottom country in Tennessee and Kentucky.

RELIEF CARRIED ON

While these two tributaries of the Ohio continued to rise gradually, their crests were expected to move downstream through tomorrow and Thursday. The Lower Ohio was rising and in Indiana and Kentucky had overflowed low grounds in both States and caused farmers to move live stock and equipment to safer places. Relief measures were being carried on in Nashville, where the greatest distress prevailed. Several score blocks in the Tennessee capital remained under water. Police and sanitary officials provided shelter for refugees and set up safeguards against diseases.

The total of fatalities attributed to the southern floods stood tonight at thirteen, while property damage could not be estimated.

High waters in Arkansas still were receding and the menace of floods which have damaged crops and highways is believed to have passed.

OUT OF BANKS

Today's rains in Mississippi renewed the already burdened flow of streams in that State and brought forth protective measures in central and southern counties. The Yalobusha and Big Black, in the northern half of Mississippi, were out of their banks in places.

The Memphis Weather Bureau announced today that the Mississippi River will continue to rise in this district, reaching a stage of thirty-four feet early next week. Flood stage is thirty-five feet.

Refugees from adjacent low-lying lands were being cared for tonight in Chattanooga where the Tennessee River still was creeping upward under the impetus of heavy rains upstream.

Many residents of Huntsville, Ala., were forced from their homes when Pinhook Creek overflowed a part of the town.

The above seven men were chosen from a field of fourteen candidates nominated in a primary election two weeks ago.

Home for Aged in San Mateo County Burned

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The San Mateo County Relief Home was destroyed by fire today and its thirty-six aged and infirm inmates rescued a few hours after a smaller fire in the home apparently had been subdued by the San Mateo fire department.

The aged inmates had fled from the first fire to an open field, and had then returned when the danger was pronounced over. They were in the house but an hour or so when the second fire swept through the structure, and it was necessary for attendants to carry some of them out.

It is supposed that the second fire started from the smouldering embers of the first.

Ex-Weather Bureau Chief Goes to Altar

BUFFALO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Prof. Willis L. Moore, for eighteen years chief of the United States Weather Bureau at Washington, and at one time assistant Secretary of Agriculture, was married here today to Miss Doris Garlick Pilling of Peterboro, Ont.

Prof. Moore gave his age as 70 years. His bride said she was 28.

CRIME WAVES BLAMED ON HUGE CHANCE FOR GAIN

Crook Smart Business Man and Not Subnormal, Scientists Told; Speed Demon Scored

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28. (AP)—The most effective way of stopping "a crime wave" is to make crime unprofitable, James H. Hepbron, managing director of the Baltimore Criminal Justice Commission, today told the annual convention of the American Association for the advancement of science. Deprecating the "modern" theory that criminals were "sick men" of low mentality or "born crooked," Mr. Hepbron said they usually were of high mental attainments and were in the business of crime because it paid.

"The belief that all criminals are mentally subnormal," said Mr. Hepbron, "is widely accepted and believed today. It was not until the World War, when great numbers of men were given intelligence tests, that the average of intelligence was found to be much lower than originally supposed, and when our convict population was examined it was found that they received a higher mental rating than the draft army of the United States, which was fairly typical of the mass population of the United States.

"And it must be remembered that convicts in penal institutions represent the lower type of criminals, because the more astute frequently escape detection. Generally speaking, the criminals received a higher mental rating than their guards.

"It would seem that actual as well as potential criminals go through the same mental processes as the average citizen. They consider the chances of success or failure just as the average man does."

SCORES SPEEDER

Two of the worst offenders against society are the "speed demon" and the wealthy man who "bribes" the poor man to obtain liquor, in the opinion of Dr. Hastings H. Hart of the Russell Sage Foundation, he said.

"I know a Governor of a State," said Dr. Hart, "who brags that he habitually drives at the rate of fifty miles an hour. We have these speed demons everywhere—you find them boasting in smoking cars and clubrooms, who take human life or maim children for their own pleasure.

"The wickedness of the prohibition law lies in the fact that we do not consider it from the health standpoint. Nobody objects to enforcement that is clearly for the public health. We have lost sight of the fact that the central element in prohibiting the sale of liquor is the health consideration."

Dr. Hart made these statements in a general criticism of the present system of law enforcement, in which, he said, the principal trouble was the emphasis placed on "force," the vengeful spirit of the "eye for an eye" proponents, in his opinion, one of the greatest dangers in the system.

Scientists are trying to find out what a melody is, in addition to being a mere string of separate musical sounds or notes.

Progress in this direction was explained today to the American Psychological Association, which is meeting in connection with the convention of the American Association for Advancement of Science, by Prof. George Humphrey, head of the department of philosophy, Queens University, Kingston, Ont.

"Music," said Prof. Humphrey, "is a psychological thing, although the notes that go to make it up are physical things. We cannot as yet measure music by merely measuring the sonat that make it up."

'NATION AND SCIENCE' SUBJECT FOR HOOVER

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28. (AP)—"No greater challenge has been given to the American people since the great war than that of our scientific men in the demand for greater facilities," said Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in an address tonight before the American Association for the Advancement of Science. "It is an opportunity to again demonstrate in our government, our business, our private citizens, the recognition of a responsibility of our people and the nation greater than that involved in the production of goods or trading in the market."

Speaking on "The Nation and Science," Mr. Hoover sketched certain relationships of pure and applied science research to public policies and the national necessity for enlarged activities in support of pure science research.

He defined pure science research as "the search for new fundamental natural law and substances." Applied science, he said, "is the application of these discoveries to practical use. Pure science is the raw material of applied science, and the two callings depart widely in their motivating impulses, their personnel, their character, their support and their economic setting, and these differences are the root of our problem."

More liberal support of pure science is needed, Mr. Hoover said, and must be sought in three directions: First, from the government both national and State; second, from industry, and third, from an enlargement of private benevolence.

GEOLOGIST GIVES THEORY OF EARTH'S FORMATION

MADISON (Wis.) Dec. 28. (AP)—Comparison of the earth to an ivory billiard ball, which enables it to accommodate itself without disaster to strains and stresses, was made here today by Dr. T. C. Chamberlain of the University of Chicago, before the Geological Society of America.

In Dr. Chamberlain's theory, the plan is an elastic sphere consisting of great segments, thousands of miles deep, resting upon a solid core and riveted together by bolts of igneous material running through the different segments. This allows, he said, for the process of adjustment which is still going on, causing thrusts, grinding and upheavals, creating liquid rock through the heat of friction.

His theory is that the earth was formed by a merger of particles dispersed by the sun, when a star accidentally came close to it.

As was shown by Dr. W. H. Emmons, head of the department of geology at University of Minnesota, that gold and tin occur at the greatest depths in the earth, while other metals are found in higher strata. In a paper on the zonal arrangements of metals he pointed out that these two metals were succeeded upward toward the surface by copper, zinc, lead, lead-silver, arsenic, antimony and mercury. The same arrangement is present horizontally, he said, verifying this occurrence of ores by examples in Canada, Germany and Great Britain.

Dr. Emmons brought together and classified into five groups all known ore deposits.

WORK OF MICROBES

Concentration of copper, iron, lead and zinc in the metal mines of the world has been the work largely of microbes, Dr. Edson S. Bastin, chairman of the department of geology at the University of Chicago, declared before the society.

He said that anaerobic bacteria—those able to live without the presence of free oxygen—in their life processes set free hydrogen sulphide in stagnant waters. As is commonly known waters percolate through the ground everywhere. In some localities, these waters carry in solution metals such as copper with the stagnant waters where anerobic bacteria were at work the hydrogen sulphide served as a precipitant for the otherwise soluble metals. Instead of being scattered or lost in the sea, the metals were thrown down and concentrated as sulphide ore bodies.

In support of his theory, Dr. Bastin said that conditions now exist in stagnant waters which might well have been present when certain sulphide ores were formed.

SCIENTISTS JOIN IN WORK OF NEW ENCYCLOPEDIA

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Dec. 28. (AP)—Plans for the preparation of an American encyclopedia of social sciences through the co-operative enterprise of seven national organizations, at a cost of $650,000, were approved by the executive council of the American Historical Association, which opened its forty-first annual convention here today.

The work, considered a mammoth task of American scholarship, will occupy six years, with the results embodied in ten volumes, each containing some 800,000 words. Five-sixths of the cost is assured, it was said. Dr. Edwin R. A. Seligman, McVicar professor of political economy at Columbia University, has been selected as editor-in-chief.

The work, it was said, will include all sciences which are either primarily social in character or which have social connotations. Distinction will be made, however, between sciences dealing exclusively with social matters and the others, with the probability that economics and sociology would be placed in one group, and a second group given over to anthropology, statistics and political science, and other sciences.

NEED POINTED OUT

Dr. Seligman declared that scholars in the various branches of social science have found an imperative need for an authoritative summary of the results achieved in related fields. This, he said, would be supplied in the proposed encyclopedia.

Co-operating organizations are the American Economic Association, American Historical Association, American Political Science Association, American Sociological Society, American Statistical Association, American Anthropological Society and the American Association of Social Workers.

Assisting Dr. Seligman in the work will be Prof. Carlton J. Hayes, of Columbia University; Prof. John A. Fairlie, of the University of Illinois, Mary Van Kleeck, of the Russel Sage Foundation; Prof. William F. Osborn, of Barnard College; Clark Wissler, of the American Museum of Natural History, and A. A. Goldenweiser, of the American Sociological Society.

TEACHERS WON'T "STAY ON FARM"

Making "Little Red School" Attractive is Problem

Superintendents With Eye for Good Looks Assailed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—The difficulty of keeping teachers "down on the farm" was a problem that puzzled the forty California educators who met at the Fairmont Hotel today for the annual teacher training conference.

Seven rural teachers in every ten move to the city after the first year in a one-room country school, figures presented at the conference showed.

State Superintendent of Instruction Wood presided at the conference, which was attended by the presidents of the seven teacher colleges in the State, members of the board of education, and other educators interested in teacher training.

Poor living conditions and low pay were given as the reasons for the difficulty of holding good teachers in the rural districts. One suggested solution of the problem was to combine into larger units, as many of the 1800 one-room schools in the State as possible. This would do away with a large number of the country schools and enable the larger schools resulting from the consolidation to pay bigger salaries.

The fact that school superintendents frequently select teachers for their "good looks and not for their training" was bemoaned at the meeting.

Another item that gave the teachers cause for worry was the statement that "marriage and not teaching is the ultimate goal of most of the girls in the teachers' colleges and normal schools."

A State survey of all of the problems presented in teacher training was recommended at the meeting.

Among the speakers at the conference were B. R. Hardy, president of the San Diego Teachers' College; R. J. Werner, commissioner of secondary schools; Lester B. Rogers, of the University of Southern California, and E. P. Cubberley of Stanford University.

at this time, when moral principles and the principles of right and justice have been apparently shipwrecked under the weight and the influence of the big moneyed interests; and at a time when brutal force seems to be trying to rule the world.

"The best course to follow in seeking the protection and progress of the people of this country as well as the interests and future of all America, would positively be a policy of good will which would invite the love and confidence of all the Central American countries, thereby creating an harmonious spirit of co-operation and good will amongst the peoples of this continent. In this atmosphere of cordiality we may then look for and find a satisfactory solution to all of our mutual problems.

"In perusing the statement of Your Excellency, I have not been able to control the reactions of my Mexican and Latin temperament, and through this message, I wish to convey my sincere congratulations to an honorable North American citizen, who has done justice to the great American citizenry, and its noble traditions, and also to the thousands of liberty-loving men who lost their lives in the last World War in defense of the rights of the small nations, as it was stated on a memorable occasion by the Hon. Woodrow Wilson.

"You have made a strong appeal, exposing the violation of the fundamental principles of morality and justice, and pointed out a mistake which it is not yet too late to correct.

"I wish to state further that, at present, I do not hold any official position, whatsoever. I am not a member of our army and have not been since 1919, when, upon my application, the Senate of my country relieved me of my military rank, and the only title I have, of which I feel very proud, is that of a Mexican citizen. I take this opportunity to convey to you my highest regard and the personal esteem in which I hold Your Excellency."

BRAZILIAN PAPER ATTACKS AMERICAN POLICY

RIO JANEIRO (Brazil) Dec. 28. (AP) Describing as audacious and imprudent the policy which the United States is following in Nicaragua, O Jornal today declared that it is quite likely, however, that influential newspaper and Congressional protests will check it.

The American attitude, the paper says, shows a nervousness over Nicaraguan-Mexican relations on the part of the Department of State, while the landing of marines on the east of Nicaragua "shows a spirit capable of causing consequence certain to disturb continental tranquility."

"Fortunately," O Jornal continues, "there are several men in American politics who have exalted perceptions of their international duty, and they will be able to call the excited leaders back to common sense."

Highway Chief Resigns to Go on World Trip

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Chairman Harvey M. Toy of the State Highway Commission, who plans to accompany Gov. Richardson on a trip around the world, today formally submitted his resignation to take effect on January 3, the day Gov. Richardson leaves office.

"Your first official act," said Toy, "was my appointment on the Highway Commission, and I desire the last act of your administration to be the acceptance of my resignation."

The Governor last week announced Toy's intention of quitting the State service to accompany him on the journey.

ECONOMISTS PROVE DRY

Benefits Laid to Prohibition

Irving Fisher and Others at Convention Show Great Strides Under Law

Distribution of Wealth as Political Factor Making for Stability Cited

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University told the American Economic Association here today that although he had made a thorough canvass of members he was unable to get any speaker who would attack prohibition on purely economic grounds. Prof. Fisher, who conducted a round table on prohibition, added, however, that there are many economists who oppose prohibition on other than economic grounds.

One of those who spoke in favor of prohibition was Henry M. Leland of Detroit, 83-year-old founder of the Cadillac Motor Car Company.

"My very decided views of the dry laws," Leland said, "are based on my experience in operating plants employing from 1000 to 6000 men. I am convinced that the open saloon, the brewery and the distillery are far and away the most wasteful, the most destructive forces in our country.

DRY LAW LAUDED

"I am convinced also that the Eighteenth Amendment already has been a great blessing to the United States, that it is largely responsible for and should be credited with many elements of the present prosperity."

Prof. Frank W. Blackmar of the department of sociology of the University of Kansas took his own State as the best example of "a continuous struggle for more than forty years with all phases of the liquor problem."

"There were violations," he said, "but the law was finally and reasonably obeyed, just as other laws have been reasonably obeyed by a great majority of the people.

"But what of the present status of prohibition? No thoughtful person acquainted with the subject would expect Federal prohibition to be a success immediately upon the passage of the law. A long period of trial and error in administration and an educational propaganda to build up public opinion are necessary to make it a success.

"One thing is in immediate demand. The Federal government must learn to co-operate with local communities and local government. The government must clean its prohibition house and then give ample support to its officers."

SPHERE OF WEALTH

"Whether wealth is widely distributed or instead concentrated in the hands of the few is a matter of great significance from a political standpoint." Wilford I. King of the National Bureau of Economic Research, told the American Statistical Association.

"Those who possess the wealth of a nation are, oftentimes, its real rulers. The fact is generally recognized that the country in which most of the wealth is in the hands of the few, while the great majority of the people are propertyless, is one in which it is easy to incite the inhabitants to revolution, for under such circumstances the masses feel that they have little to lose through any political upheaval that may occur.

"On the other hand, in the nation in which the greatest majority of the inhabitants are property owners, governments tend to be unusually stable; for since property rights are commonly prized next to life itself, the owners of wealth oppose any policy which threatens the security of their holdings."

Discussing the "Money Value of Life and Life Extension," Dr. Alfred J. Lotka of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company estimated that the aggregate value—to their dependents, actual or potential—of all the males in the United States is $1,144,000,000,000. He estimated the value of women at three-quarters that of men, bringing the total value of the country's male and female population to approximately $2,000,000,000,000.

AIMS EXPLAINED

Leifur Magnusson, director of the Washington branch of the International Labor Conference, explained industrial legislation before the convention of the American Association for Labor Legislation. The meeting was held jointly with the American Economic Association.

"Labor legislation, whether national or international," he said, "has for its purpose the restricting of the activities of two conflicting groups—employers and workers—to prevent one group of hard-pressed working men from lowering the standards of another group, and to prevent oppressive conditions of work and of business competition."

The conference had succeeded, he pointed out, in effecting two international treaties, one prohibiting white phosphorous matches and one prohibiting employment of women in night factory work.

The American Political Science Association was told tonight that in practically all countries the representative system of government is admitted to be passing through a crisis. The speaker was Prof. B. K. Gooch, University of West Virginia.

"This phenomenon is of special importance in France on account of the pre-eminent influence of that country on the continent of Europe," he said. He declared that such solutions as dictatorship and revolution are unlikely in the French Republic, adding, "the French have had experience of them and desire no more."

"The French possess great reserve strength and vitality, and it is to be expected that their government system will survive the present crisis as it survived the war."

Holiday Liquor Toll in East Climbs Higher

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The government today ordered an inventory of all denatured alcohol preparatory to issuance of a new formula for industrial plants which will denature the alcohol along more distasteful but less poisonous lines.

While not apologizing for using wood alcohol as a denaturant in an attempt to prevent diversion of industrial alcohol to beverage uses, Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of enforcement, hopes to make the alcohol unusable by less poisonous means if possible.

SCORES SUCCUMB TO POISON LIQUOR

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—The death toll from Christmas liquor drinking in greater New York today had risen to twenty-three, with scores, perhaps more than 100, of persons under treatment in hospitals for alcoholism.

In Chicago seven deaths have been reported; in Detroit, five; in Des Moines, two; in Milwaukee, three and Omaha, one.

In New York, Bellevue Hospital alone today had seventy-nine persons, fourteen of them women, in its alcoholic ward, and ten alcoholic cases were reported at Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn. Seventeen of the twenty-three died in Manhattan, five in Brooklyn and one in Queens county.

The alcoholic death list for the entire holiday season in New York last year was only eighteen and the number of cases in hospitals was much lower than this year.

TWENTY-EIGHT DIE OF ALCOHOLISM IN BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Although no deaths from poison liquor have been reported this far since the holiday season began, Coroner Leland disclosed today that his records showed twenty-eight persons have died here this year from that cause and that 300 other deaths in which poison liquor was the chief contributing factor had been reported during the twelve-month.

"For every death which is officially attributed to poison booze here you may safely calculate ten times that many," said Coroner Leland.

ROME, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Women teachers will no longer be permitted to pursue their calling in Italy in the high schools as teachers of history, philosophy or literature, according to a regulation published by the Ministry of Education tonight.

In commenting on the decision, the ministry declared that while women probably are intellectually as well equipped as men to teach these subjects, the "feminine spirit is not suited through special nature to conceive with adequate force and clearness such important subjects as the literary, philosophical and historical, which principally contribute in building the souls and character of those who tomorrow will become active citizens of the great nation in its fullest development."

COOLIDGE SEES BRIGHT TREND

proposed in the McNary-Haugen farm relief measure, his administration has effected extensive improvements in the economic condition of the farmer and is urging Congressional approval of various additional remedial measures.

The tremendous manufacturing output of the United States, reaching unprecedented proportions, the White House spokesman said, is proceeding at an extraordinary rate, with transportation facilities proving adequate in most cases to the demand.

The railroads themselves are found to be in good shape and to be receiving incomes indicative of healthy conditions in other activities of the nation.

Observing that the American people, generally speaking, are receiving good incomes, the gentleman who reflected the opinions of Mr. Coolidge said that as a nation the people of the United States are disposed to spend their money freely during periods of prosperity and that this tendency inevitably results in greater production.

The inference to be drawn from the White House comments today unquestionably is that President Coolidge does not assume an attitude of pointing with pride to the favorable conditions prevalent throughout the country as the old year wanes, nor does he propose to view with alarm the ensuing year which, of necessity, will witness many adjustments and realignments in various lines of business and industry.

FLOGGINGS MUST END

Governor Warns Georgia Gangs

Ultimatum to Masked Bands Says Martial Law Will be Invoked if Needed

Whipping of Attorney Brings Denial That Hooded Men Belonged to Klan

ATLANTA (Ga.) Dec. 28. (AP)—The flogging of Wimberly E. Brown, an attorney, by a band of hooded men near Lyons, Ga., Friday night brought from Gov. Walker today a warning that martial law will be declared "if the regular processes of the courts fail to curb these outrages." Nathan Bedford Forrest, head of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia, issued a statement, terming the incident "an unspeakable outrage."

Those in the band "wore robes in imitation of the Klan regalia, but were not in any sense Klansmen," Mr. Forrest said, and added that the Klan will offer a reward for the apprehension of those involved.

Declaring in a formal statement that "mobs with heads covered with flour sacks shall not rule Georgia," Gov. Walker offered a special reward of $1000 for the first conviction of a member of the masked band, and called upon "every patriotic citizen" of Toomba county to co-operate.

JURY CALLED

Meanwhile, Judge B. N. Hardman at Louisville, Ga., called the Toombs county Superior Court and grand jury into special session beginning January 17 to investigate the whipping.

Mr. Brown assisted in the prosecution of five asserted members of a hooded band that fatally wounded Willie Wilson last July. Wilson, whose name had been linked with accusations of syrup thefts, was fired upon by members of the band, who forcibly entered his home with the apparent intention of kidnaping him. Those tried in connection with the attack on Wilson were acquitted the 23rd inst.

Brown said today a crowd of men "wearing Klan regalia" seized him on a street corner in Lyons, took him about two miles into the country and beat him so severely with leather straps that he since has been under a physician's care. They also warned him, he said, that unless he moved from the county within ten days he would be killed.

VICTIM WARNED

According to Brown, the only statement members of the mob made to him was that they "would teach me to prosecute the Klan" and to write articles for a Macon paper, which Brown believed referred to his prosecution of the Wilson case and an article in a Macon paper after the trial.

Mr. Forrest declared in his statement that there is no Klan in Lyons and never has been. "I sent an investigator to the scene when the attack came to my attention," he said, "and I am informed that the men were flour sacks over their heads and had white robes bearing the letters 'K.K.K.' That is not the Klan costume, and never has been. The Klan robes are white with an emblem on the breast, but no letters.

"The whipping of Attorney Brown was done by a group of bootleggers and moonshiners, who are attempting to run things high-handedly in Toomba county," said Mr. Forrest, adding that "the same bunch was responsible for the murder of Willie Wilson."

Marson's Wife and Her Son File Actions as Echo of Queer Family Love Mix-up

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Divorce actions have been started by Lyndon W. Burch of White Plains, and his mother, Mrs. Grace B. Marson, against Mrs. Isabelle Keys Burch and Capt. Arlando Marson, both of whom are held in San Francisco by Federal authorities on illegal proceedings brought against Capt. Marson. It was learned today when Thomas Send Morgan and David V. Cahill, attorneys for Mrs. Burch and Mrs. Marson, accepted service of the summons in the complaints filed by Burch and his mother against their respective mates.

Twenty days are allowed in which the defendants are allowed to file answers, or to ignore the summons, and papers in the case may not be filed for record until proof has been entered in the court that the exact nature of the complaints could not be learned. It is known, however, that the conditions of a Pullman car porter, two San Francisco apartment house proprietors have been taken out to be used to substantiate the charges. Capt. Marson and Mrs. Burch returned from Yonkers on October 4, the latter leaving her two children with her husband. About a month later Mrs. Marson was arrested in San Francisco on a Mann Act charge, the complaint in the case having been signed by Frederick Walkup, Mrs. Burch's former husband and father of Dean.

Mrs. Marson, the only daughter of the late Rev. Charles Lowe, well-known Episcopal bishop of New York, was divorced from Walkup and later she adopted the name of his grandfather, using his right name as an assumed name.

The elopement of Mrs. Burch and her stepfather-in-law caused a stir in Yonkers society, where she was prominent.

Mrs. Marson, against the wishes of relatives, made a flying trip to San Francisco, there to meet and wed her husband. Her stay was limited to twenty-four hours, Capt. Marson issuing a statement after her return that a reconciliation was impossible and that he hoped that matters would be straightened out so he would be free to marry Mrs. Burch.

Wireless Service Between New York and London to be Launched in January

LONDON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Trans-Atlantic telephone service, which is to be available to the public early in January, will cost £15 (about $75) for the first three minutes of a call and £5 for each additional minute, it was announced today by the Postmaster-General.

Wrong numbers won't count, however, and unless the London "hello girl" gets the particular person asked for in the New York area to which the service is limited at present, the charge will be $5 for making the attempt. Calls will be limited to twelve minutes when others are waiting to talk across the ocean.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—New Yorkers desiring to talk with people in London when the new wireless telephone service between the two cities starts next month must do so between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., eastern standard time, the American Telegraph and Telephone Company announced today. In London, which is five hours ahead of New York time, calls for New York will begin at 1:30 p.m. and end at 6:30 p.m.

Officials said the company, which will work in conjunction with the British Postoffice on the trans-Atlantic service, said these hours were chosen after tests had shown that during these periods atmospheric interference was less troublesome than at other hours.

For the present the service is to be available between any telephone in the metropolitan area of New York and any telephone in the metropolitan area of London. These limits, the telephone company announced, will be extended as fast as it becomes practical.

INHERITANCE TAX OPPOSED

Twenty States Represented at Capital Meeting

Plan Campaign to Repeal Federal Enactment

Program for Legislatures to be Adopted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (Exclusive) Twenty or more States, it is expected, will be represented tomorrow in Washington at a meeting convened by the Committee Opposed to Federal Inheritance Tax to plan for carrying on a campaign to obtain the repeal by Congress of that particular tax. State Senator Arthur P. Sherman, president pro tem of the Rhode Island State Senate, chairman of the committee, will preside.

This meeting follows up the one held here on November 6 at which an organization was perfected, and as a result of which gatherings a number of States have become interested in the movement. Forty of the forty-eight State Legislatures are to meet in January and the meeting will arrange to have appeals for support made to all of them.

Two Representatives and one Senator of the Michigan Legislature are already here as representing their State at the conference. They reported today that they expect to have their Legislature adopt a memorial to Congress immediately after convening next month asking that the Federal government retire from the inheritance tax field. They, immediately on their return, will urge the Governor of Michigan to appoint a committee on taxation, after the manner of the one appointed in Rhode Island. Indeed the Rhode Island plan, embodied in the joint resolution adopted at the last session of the State Legislature providing for a permanent committee on Federal taxation questions, is receiving general support and after tomorrow's conference probably will spread widely.

The chief business before the meeting will be to decide what steps State governments should take, through their Legislatures and executive departments, to obtain Congressional repeal of the inheritance tax, the grounds which are expected to have representatives in the meeting are Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Virginia, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

KNICKERS IN SCHOOL STIR COURT FIGHT

Decision Due Shortly on Whether Little Girl May Go to Classes So Garbed

JEFFERSONVILLE (Ind.) Dec. 28. (AP)—The law's delays and a pair of knickers kept Virginia Allen, 9 years of age, from attending Port Fulton school here, but it took whooping cough to keep her from appearing twice daily for classes from which her teacher daily sent her home.

The law's delays are near an end, however, and mandamus proceedings filed to force local school authorities to admit Virginia to the classes clad in unconventional knickers probably will be heard at New Albany, Floyd county, next week, it was announced today by H. Willard Phipps, Louisville attorney, who, with Vic Lorch of New Albany, sought through court action to aid Virginia to attend school clad in knickers.

Harian Vogt, principal, and Miss Margaret Poindexter, a teacher of the Port Fulton School, with the local school board, were made defendants in the mandamus proceedings which were filed in Clark county court here. The first hearing in October resulted in dismissal of the suit on technical error, but attorneys refiled the case, and it was transferred to Floyd county after several postponements for various reasons.

Court proceedings did not stop Virginia's daily trips to school which she continued until recently when she contracted whooping cough and had to be kept home for treatment.

They left for Southern California to spend the winter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Two separate contracts, totaling $313,260, for grading and paving 15.15 miles of the roadway on the floor of Yosemite Valley, were tentatively awarded today by the San Francisco office of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. William Moreing, Stockton contractor, was the successful bidder for the paving contract, his figure being $274,113. The Allied Contractors, Inc., of Omaha, was awarded the grading contract at $39,148.

PIECE OF CANDY HELD CAUSE OF MAN'S DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—A piece of candy that split his tooth caused the death last July of Eugene E. Magnus, part owner of a hat company, it is contended by his widow, Mrs. Clarice May Magnus, in suits against two accident-insurance companies for $20,000 filed today in Superior Court. The tooth that broke when Magnus was chewing candy had to be pulled and blood poisoning resulted that caused death five days after the tooth was broken, the complaint says.

FAG HELD NO HARM TO SOUL

Co-Ed Speaker at College Conference Declares Smoking Need Not Affect Girl's Religion

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—"If you are a girl, you can have your cigarettes without affecting your religion; you can be thoroughly modern and thoroughly spiritual." So said Miss Dorothy Richards, pretty graduate of Depauw University, now taking a post-graduate course in social work in New York, at the opening session of the national student conference of the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. here today.

Some 3000 students from the country's colleges and universities are meeting here in a crusade against immorality in youthful living and Godless materialism in youthful thinking. Their platform, pretty well epitomized by Miss Richards, declares that modern theories and Christian theologies are not incompatible.

CHRISTIANITY UNPOPULAR

"You can believe in the tenets of behaviorism and still believe in God," the young social worker added. "You can be a fearless scientist and be a loyal Christian at the same time."

So much for the platform. The purpose of the convention is to prove it and to make Christianity popular once more.

Miss Richards was quite ready to admit that it isn't popular on the average campus nowadays. She said candidly that as a university woman she knew that Christian morals were slipping at the universities. Morality wasn't fashionable. Nor was Christian philosophy. The "intellectuals" of the classrooms in these enlightened days weren't reading the Bible, Miss Richards said; they were reading Mr. Mencken instead.

"Morals" is a much misunderstood term, according to Miss Richards. "I can see nothing wrong in co-eds smoking," she said, "but I can see a great deal wrong in their petting. Quite frankly, I believe the urge to pet is just as strong in women as it is in men," she declared, "but I think it is an impulse which should be restrained. When a man asks me to pet, I just tell him frankly: 'I like to pet just as well as you do but we both know it's wrong, so let's don't.'"

HOME TIES HOLD

But Rev. G. A. Studdert Kennedy, rector of the Church of St. Edmund, London, and affectionately known in England as "Woodbine Willie," believes that Miss Richards represents a good half of the mid-Victorian left in the minimum of students today.

"The great majority of students today," said Dr. Kennedy, "would probably vary Miss Richards's reply: 'Now, I like to pet just as much as you do, but I don't believe we can get by with it.'

"If a religious or moral consideration enters into their reason the student is safe in that the ties of home and authority still have hold of them. If it is merely a matter of prudence, as most of them consider the 'straight and narrow' if they consider it at all, then he is one of a type that is trying to guide himself."

That, says Dr. Kennedy, is the problem which confronts the youth of today—they are being taught theories of material science and mistake them for facts.

SEEK WRONG BEAUTY

"They are striving after beauty but with only a pagan conception of it, and that is not true beauty," Dr. Kennedy said.

"Sometimes I fear for our youth and then again I take heart when I find a few strong characters that give promise of leadership other than the repression type against which youth has rebelled."

This same new economic structure, which Dr. Kennedy declared responsible for the changed viewpoint of youth, was singled out by Rev. Reinhold Niebur of Detroit in his address tonight as "industrialism and commercialism which puts privilege before personality."

"If you want to believe in God it is necessary," the Rev. Niebur said, "to overcome the lust of the senses which steep us into every kind of cult, from the cult of the automobile to the cult of Rudolph Valentino.

"It is interesting indeed that the modern generation, which prides itself on its intellectual emancipation, should have substituted for the worship of God, who is at once holy and loving, the worship of the 'great god whirl' and a devotion to a new kind of phallic worship with any chance film star as its symbol."

Disbarment of Follette Ruled by High Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive) — Permanent disbarment of Channing Follette, Los Angeles attorney, was made effective today by the State Supreme Court, upholding an order of the District Court of Appeal of April 20, 1926, which, in turn, upheld a Los Angeles county Superior Court order.

Follette is a former Los Angeles justice of the peace and was convicted of a perjury charge by the Los Angeles lower court.

"BATHTUB GIRL" WILL REMAIN IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Joyce Hawley, who achieved wide publicity as the "Bathtub Girl" in a party in Earl Carrol's theater in New York, denied in her parents' home here today that she had sailed from New York for Europe yesterday. She said she never had heard of Miss Frances Frentrub of Pittsburgh, the alias she was said to have assumed when she boarded the ship. She said she had no immediate intention of leaving Chicago.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL RECEIVES RAISIN GIFT BY MRS. HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (Exclusive) — They had raisins out at the Children's Hospital today when "the lady from California" brought great boxes of the luscious dried fruit grown on her own California ranch to the little patients in all the wards save those where contagion reigned.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, is the official name of the "lady," but the youngsters who clamored for cosy perches on her lap did not care a great deal about that. It was raisins they wanted and great, soft purple bunches of raisins they got.

Mrs. Hoover remained at the hospital for the better part of two hours distributing her home-grown raisins to the youngsters, whose diet the nurses decided could master the fruit, and patting pale little cheeks and weary gold heads. She was accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., and her party was escorted through the institution by Mrs. Frederick Brooke, president of the board of lady visitors of the hospital.

When the party arrived at the institution Mrs. Louis Titus of Washington and California, a member of the visiting board, had just completed her official tour of inspection, and so the youngsters, already roused from their reveries, were quite wide awake and alive to activities which Mrs. Hoover's visit caused.

To them she is the "lady from California," and when she smilingly suggested they copy her smile for the photographers they complied with all the grace the gift of raisins would inspire—and that was grace.

Since her arrival in Washington Mrs. Hoover has been intensely interested in the welfare of the Children's Hospital, and her annual visit as Mrs. Santa Claus is an eagerly awaited event at the hospital. There are at this time 103 little patients there, and Mrs. Hoover saw and patted and coddled pretty nearly every one of them.

The annual ball to be held at the Willard Hotel January 8 for the benefit of the Children's Hospital will be attended by Mrs. Hoover as well as other members of official and social Washington.

Japanese Prince Arrives from England, Called by Death of Father

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Prince Yasuhito Chihibu of Japan, 24-year-old brother of the new Mikado, called from his studies in Oxford because of the fatal illness of his father, arrived here today.

The booming of a twenty-one-gun salute, fired at Governor's Island, was virtually the only formal greeting. Under the direction of J. Wilbur Wright, Assistant Secretary of State, they were taken off the Majestic at quarantine by the Coast Guard cutter Raritan, a heavy fog having kept the liner from continuing to her pier.

The Prince, who is second in line to the Japanese throne, will pay his respects in person to President Coolidge, but his visit to the White House will be a quiet one. He is to sail from San Francisco for Tokio January 8, next.

Boy Slayer to Open Fight on Murder Charge

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Richard Joseph Crosarkin, member of a wealthy family who confessed he attacked and murdered Walter Schmith, 6 years of age, will be arraigned at noon tomorrow before Chief Justice Lindsay in Criminal Court.

Since relatives supplied him with counsel it is said Crosarkin has decided to repudiate his confession on the ground that he was frightened when he made it. It also is said that he will plead not guilty and present a defense of insanity. The lawyers will make a hard fight for delay on the assertion that public opinion is influenced by the crime and that Crosarkin cannot, at this time, get a fair trial.

The State will fight any postponements and demand an immediate trial and the death penalty.

MILAN (Italy) Dec. 28. (AP)—Arturo Toscanini, noted composer and orchestra conductor, has left for Cherbourg, France, where he will embark on a steamer sailing for New York tomorrow. He will stop off at Paris en route to Cherbourg.

Last July it was learned that Toscanini planned to leave for the United States in October to conduct orchestras in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento and Seattle. He failed to leave Milan, however, and continued at his operatic post there until this month.

The vessel will be allowed to clear from the port after the seizure. Counsel for the vessel said action would be taken to oppose the seizure, which was ordered on charges of false entry.

ROOT RECEIVES PEACE AWARD

Foundation Honors World Court Work

Former Secretary of State Accepts Prize

Presentation Takes Place at Dinner

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Elihu Root, former Secretary of State, received the Woodrow Wilson Foundation peace prize for 1926 at a dinner at the Hotel Astor tonight on the seventieth anniversary of the birth of the war-time President. The presentation was made by Norman H. Davis, president of the Foundation, and marked the recognition of Mr. Root's work in 1920 in the creation of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

"The growing prestige of the World Court and its success in preserving peace through the settlement of international questions of a justifiable character, has demonstrated the importance of the services of Mr. Root rendered in 1920," says Mr. Davis.

The Woodrow Wilson award medal accompanies a cash prize of $25,000. Mr. Root is the second person to receive the award, Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, having received the 1924 prize. Viscount Cecil is Great Britain's chief representative to the League of Nations.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation was established December 23, 1920, from funds collected throughout the United States.

A previously unpublished letter of Woodrow Wilson, in which he commended Gov. Smith to an unnamed but "well-known citizen of New York," has been made public.

"I hope and believe," wrote President Wilson, "that you will not be disappointed in Gov. Smith. He is a man who has stood quite apart in a great many ways, and I believe he feels in an unusual degree the impulses and compulsions of the changed order of the nation's and the world's affairs."

The letter, written in February, 1919, was made public last night, on the occasion of a meeting in Albany of local subscribers to the Wilson Foundation.

BIRTHPLACE HONORS WAR-TIME PRESIDENT

STAUNTON (Va.) Dec. 28. (AP)—Staunton tonight paid tribute to its most illustrious son, the late Woodrow Wilson, in celebration of the seventieth anniversary of his birth.

America's war-time President was born in the manse of the First Presbyterian Church here on December 28, 1856. His father, Rev. Joseph Ruggles Wilson, was pastor then and in the commemoratory exercises tonight, Rev. R. M. Fraser, present pastor and president of Mary Baldwin College, participated.

Alumni of the University of Virginia, from which Wilson was graduated in 1881, sponsored tonight's celebration and R. G. Gray Williams of Winchester, Va., president of the Virginia State Bar Association, delivered the principal address.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE TALKS AT WILSON MEETING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The curse of America is that it is laboring under a vast spiritual blight, William Allen White, the Kansas editor, said tonight in a speech before the Washington Wilson Association, celebrating the seventieth birthday anniversary of Woodrow Wilson.

"We Americans," he declared, "are making a thousand and one devices to aid in living, but not one contribution to life. What is our prosperity that we should brag about it, that we should go about in a cramped and ill-conditioned world rattling our little tin bank in one hand and our big steel saber in the other? If we have nothing to give the world but credit and nothing to save the world but guns we are poor, indeed."

Practical men, Mr. White said, will lift dubious eyebrows at this theory of America's position in the world, but the impotency of practical men, he added, was shown in the fate of such as Napoleon, George III and the former Kaiser.

"Woodrow Wilson trumpeting the world to righteous peace," he asserted, "remains today America's greatest payment to civilization. Until we organize to curb and control our international jealousies and greeds as we have built organized societies, governments and public opinion to shame private outbursts, wars will come again and again to devastate the earth and sap our faith."

Albert B. Fall's Condition Said to Be Very Good

EL PASO (Tex.) Dec. 28. (AP)—The condition of Albert B Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, who is ill at his home here with pneumonia was described as "very good" in a bulletin given out tonight by Dr. H. T. Safford.

The bulletin states that Mr. Fall appeared to offer "good resistance" to the disease, which "in all probability is an influenza pneumonia, which has a rather indefinite course."

It is hoped that within a few days the former government official will be out of danger, the bulletin concluded.

DEATH AWARD LOSES IN COURT OF APPEAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The award of $5130 made to their heirs of Capt. John T. Ough of the San Francisco-Sacramento Railway Company steamer Ramon by the State Industrial Accident Commission as a result of his being killed while fixing an electrical connection on the steamer, was reversed today by the District Court of Appeal. The court upheld the company's contention that Capt. Ough was not performing his regular duties when he was killed.

Seven Ordered Shot in Attack on Factory Girl

LENINGRAD (Russia) Dec. 28. (AP) Seven Russian youths today were sentenced by the provincial court to be shot for an attack on a young factory girl in a public park here. Ten others who participated in the crime were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from one to ten years.

The trial attracted nation-wide attention because of the declaration of the public prosecutor that cases of collective assault were becoming shockingly prevalent. He demanded the death penalty for all seventeen defendants as an example.

ITALO-GERMAN TREATY READY

Signing of Pact Expected After Holidays

England Looks With Favor on Arbitration Plan

Likely to Pave Way for Union With Austria

ROME, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Signature of an Italo-German treaty of arbitration is expected immediately after the holidays, it is learned from official circles tonight.

This pact, which is expected to have an important bearing on the shaping of the political alignment in Europe, has no character of an alliance, it was said by a Foreign Office spokesman, but will bring Italy and Germany again into friendly relations. More important than the text of the treaty, is the spirit which is shown—a spirit of co-operation which will clear up the misunderstandings of the last year—it was asserted.

While both Jugo-Slavia and France look with suspicion on the treaty, especially on the stress laid on it in the German-Italian press when the project was announced, there is nothing in the document which could give rise to suspicion of aggressive intentions on the part of Italy and Germany. The reported secret clauses are discounted as rumors without any foundation. The text of the pact probably will be published as the signatures are affixed.

Italy has assurances that the treaty will be looked on with favor by England, where the foreign policy is directed toward a rapprochement between Germany, Italy and France as the surest safeguard of European peace. It will also throw Germany and Italy into a united front on colonial questions, which with England's conciliatory attitude on this question, should make more probable a solution satisfactory to all.

The Foreign Office was asked whether in view of the impending treaty there would be any change in Italy's attitude toward a union of Germany and Austria. The reply was that for the present no change is contemplated. The attitude is bound to be affected in the future, however, for annexation of Austria to a friendly Germany is a vastly different proposition from an Austro-German union in opposition to Italian interests.

BOAT SEIZED WITH ARMOR EQUIPMENT

Federal Officers Believe Yacht Made Ready to Try Rum-Running Business

MIAMI (Fla.) Dec. 28. (AP)—The armored cabin cruiser K-14583 was seized here today by Treasury investigators and customs officials after it had been trailed from Boston. The vessel, valued at $40,000, was believed to have been intended for rum-running between Miami and the Bahamas.

The K-14583, according to government records, has figured extensively in the rum traffic in the vicinity of New York and Boston.

The yacht, numbered in the series operating out of New York, was shipped by rail from Boston, arriving here Friday and being claimed by the consignee, whose name was not disclosed. It was taken up the river, where it is believed the forecastle and masts were to be installed.

Action by government officials was under Federal law prohibiting use of armor plate by all except naval and coast-guard vessels.

PLEA MADE BY MOONEY UNDECIDED

Gov. Richardson Neither to Grant Nor Deny Appeal for Bomb-Case Pardon

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Gov. Richardson today announced he neither will grant nor deny a pardon to Thomas J. Mooney, who is serving a life sentence for murder in connection with the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing of 1916, in which nine persons were killed.

The Governor said: "I have given such consideration to the voluminous application for pardon by Thomas J. Mooney as the time and pressure of other business would permit. The matters called to my attention by Mooney's representatives do not impress me as affording sufficient cause to justify executive clemency; however, I desire to be fair in this matter and will not deny the application."

BANDIT QUEEN BOASTS

Girl-mother Confesses Her Part in Sixteen Robberies

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Alma Renuzzio, only 20 years of age, and mother of a 3-months'-old baby, estranged wife of a taxicab driver, boastfully admitted today that she was the "queen" of a gang of youthful bandits and that she had participated in sixteen of their robberies just to get a thrill out of the adventure.

John Chiducos, 18, one of the followers of the bandit queen, was shot to death last night by a victim whom he had neglected to search for weapons. Robert Ray, 20, a postal clerk and a student at Lewis Institute, was the slayer. Chiducos had held him up and robbed him of all his valuables, meanwhile holding what appeared to be a shiny revolver against the stomach of Ray. The latter discovered that the "gun" was a glass toy, so he began fighting the robber, finally killing him.

Five other members of the bandit-girl-mother's gang were rounded up later in the day and confessed more than a score of robberies at her direction.

VIOLATORS ENJOINED

Federal Officials Serve Injunctions on Wisconsin Bootleggers

HURLEY (Wis.) Dec. 28. (AP)—This little town of 3500 inhabitants, located on the Wisconsin-Michigan border line and known as the "sore spot" of prohibition enforcement officials, felt the effects of twenty-nine Federal injunctions today after a raid by three Federal officers.

Three United States deputy marshals today started their march along Silver street, the main thoroughfare of the town, and when they concluded their visits twenty-nine temporary injunctions, issued by Federal Judge Geiger at Milwaukee, had been served.

The injunctions restrained the saloon and soft-drink-parlor operators from selling liquors or removing their fixtures. The Federal District-Attorney said he would attempt to have the injunctions made permanent.

BOY COMMITS SUICIDE

Oakland Lad Says Good-by and Then Hangs Himself on Wall

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Impelled by a motive his relatives are unable to explain, Henry Kornaherns, 12-year-old Oakland boy, committed suicide by strangulation a short time after he had bade his mother and grandmother good-by this afternoon. The lad's body, kneeling before a wall and partly suspended by a rope and attached to a nail, was found by the grandmother.

Apparently the lad had deliberately decided to end his life for he had removed his eyeglasses, his tie and his cap and piled them neatly on the floor near where he attached the cord to the nail and then around his neck.

The mother said her son had been well and apparently happy in his play, his school and his employments as a paper carrier.

COOLIDGE LAUDS BOY SCOUT AIMS

Happiness and Helpfulness Keynote of Greetings

Congratulates Youth on Its Work During Year

President Honorary Head of Organization

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Happiness and helpfulness are two keynote words of new year greetings sent by President Coolidge to the 1,235,000 American youths who are members of the Boy Scouts of America, and the 4-H clubs of boys and girls. The new year's message, which was sent through James E. West, chief scout executive, was made public at the national offices of the Boy Scouts in this city. President Coolidge is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America.

There are 825,000 boys affiliated with the organization. The 4-H Club of rural boys and girls has numbers almost as great. Its work is carried on under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture, co-operating with the several States.

The President's New Year's message follows:

"As we go into the new year, I send you my greetings and best wishes for health and happiness in the coming twelve months.

"In my holiday message a year ago I pointed out the many advantages of membership in associations such as yours. If we should try to express their principles in a single word, that word, it seems to me, would be 'helpfulness.' You help others, and you help yourself by helping them.

"I congratulate you on the accomplishments of 1926 and know you will have abundant opportunities for usefulness in 1927. We get happiness from doing our duty, further happiness from doing a little more than is necessary, and from doing things as near right as we can.

"Our communities and our country are the better because of what you boys and girls are, what you do and what you will mean to our social and economical life as the men and women of the future."

Rockefeller Again Offers New York Park

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (Exclusive) John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has renewed his offer to give the city the old Billings estate of forty acres on Washington Heights as a city park, and Mayor Walker is giving serious consideration to the proposition, which was not accepted by the previous administration. In 1923, when Mr. Rockefeller offered to present the land to the city for park purposes, the property was valued at $5,000,000.

The matter was discussed at a conference between the Mayor and Mr. Rockefeller unknown to the City Hall attendants. It also is understood that the proposal to abolish the slums and construct model tenements was discussed.

The property originally was offered to the city by Mr. Rockefeller some years ago with the understanding that if the city accepted the gift it would acquire additional land to protect the proposed park from undesirable surroundings. This would have cost the city about $700,000, and for that reason was not accepted.

Coolidge que No Hay Entrometimiento en lo de Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Diciembre 28.—Los asuntos de Nicaragua han despertado hoy nuevos ecos en Washington y han movido a la Casa Blanca a publicamente explicaciones de política y a definir de un modo concreto la controversia entre la Casa Blanca y sus censores.

Refiriendo directamente a algunas de las protestas contra el desembarco de fuerzas norteamericanas en Nicaragüense, dijo el portavoz de la Casa Blanca que los Estados Unidos no llevan más objeto que proteger vidas y bienes de norteamericanos, y no están tomando parte ninguna en la contienda que entre dos facciones de Nicaragua se disputan el gobierno.

En una hora más avanzada del día, el secretario de Estado Kellogg y el jefe de Marina Wilbur fueron llamados a la Casa Blanca, donde permanecieron encerrados largo rato con el Presidente Coolidge. La conferencia causó algún revuelo porque circularon muchas noticias de nuevos sucesos en la pequeña república centroamericana, hoy en plena guerra; pero, terminada la conferencia, tanto la Casa Blanca como el señor Wilbur guardaron silencio. El señor Kellogg manifestó que la situación había tornado sobre

Si alguno de este ocurría, el representante especial del no reconocido gobierno establecido por Sacasa en Puerto Cabezas, dirigió una protesta formal contra las operaciones de las fuerzas norteamericanas desembarcadas en la región de Puerto Cabezas. Acusa al gobierno de Washington de haber establecido la censura violación del derecho de gentes. Tanto la secretaría de Estado como la de Marina niegan tener conocimiento de ese paso.

El presidente Borah de la comisión de relaciones del senado estuvo particularmente atento a estas incidencias. No le ha convencido mucho la explicación de la administración en Nicaragua; pero hasta ahora no ha tomado ninguna decisión. No obstante algunos que le ha dado en recientes conversaciones el ministro Kellogg, el señor Borah está haciendo investigación personal, y hasta no esté cerciorado no decidirá si ha de llamar al congreso que tome cartas en este asunto pasadas las vacaciones.

Batalla de Sacasa en Méjico Presidida por la Derrota de Díaz

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Diciembre 28. El señor Pedro Zepeda, representante del gobierno liberal de la costa oriental de Nicaragua, aseguró hoy que una derrota de las tropas del gobernador en la zona de la Laguna de la Perla significaba para el gobierno del general Adolfo Díaz.

"Afirma que esa derrota ha quedado de tal modo la fuerza de los conservadores, que no van a poder oponer al avance de los liberales sobre Managua, capital de Nicaragua. Las batidas fuerzas del gobierno van a verse obligadas a buscar refugio en la zona neutral de Bluefields, donde las desarmará el contra-almirante Julian Latimer, que está allí al mando de la escuadra naval norteamericana.

El doctor Zepeda, que fue enviado a la Ciudad de Méjico por el doctor Juan Sacasa, jefe del partido liberal, desmiente las noticias de Nicaragua de que combatieron 800 mejicanos en las filas liberales durante la batalla de la Laguna de la Perla.

Periódico Brasilero que Ataca la Política Norteamericana

RIO DE JANEIRO (Brasil), Diciembre 28.—Calificando de audaz y desvergonzada la política que están siguiendo los Estados Unidos en Nicaragua, "O Jornal" ha declarado hoy como cosa muy probable que los periódicos influyentes y las protestas del congreso la harán cesar.

La actitud de los Estados Unidos, dice el periódico citado, muestra mucha nerviosidad por parte del ministerio de Estado en la cuestión de las relaciones méjico-nicaragüenses, y el desembarco de infantería de marina en el este de Nicaragua 'demuestra un espíritu capaz de provocar consecuencias que vayan hasta perturbar la tranquilidad continental."

Pronto Comenzarán los Trabajos de la Fábrica de Ford en Long Beach

De Long Beach llega la noticia de que mañana va a comenzar en firme el trabajo de dragado para la construcción del gigantesco embarcadero, que va a penetrar en la propiedad que tiene en el puerto de Long Beach la fábrica de Ford. Esa noticia y el anuncio de que se están esperando en estos días los planos ya completos para la edificación de la fábrica, con un coste de $2,500,000, son indicaciones de que muy pronto vamos a ver levantarse el importante edificio con sus múltiples dependencias.

Los planos estarán en manos de Albert Kahn, que es el arquitecto de la Compañía de Automóviles Ford, de Detroit, y dentro de breves días llegarán a Long Beach, según lo ha hecho saber el señor J. W. Kapex, gerente de esta sucursal de la compañía.

Espérase que en estos días recorra el señor Edward Grace, ingeniero de la compañía, que se halla ahora en Sudcalifornia, la propiedad sita en el canal de Cerritos, y estudie los planos, poniéndose de acuerdo con los ingenieros del Puerto de Long Beach y con E. B. Brown, ingeniero de la Compañía Ford, encargado de toda la construcción exterior. Tendrá que decidirse la cuestión de si será más conveniente emplear pilotes de hormigón o pesados pilotes de madera traída con creosota.

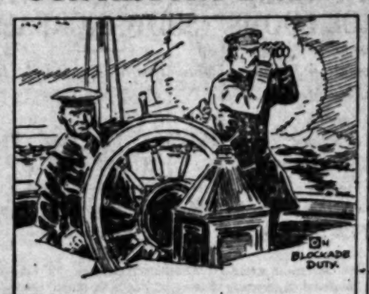
The "Hatteras" and the "Alabama".

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



AFTER THE DEFEAT OF THE UNION NAVAL AND MILITARY FORCES AT GALVESTON, TEXAS (JAN. 1, 1863), AND THE REOCCUPATION OF THE CITY BY THE CONFEDERATES, ADMIRAL FARRAGUT DISPATCHED THE U. S. S. "BROOKLYN" AND SIX OTHER VESSELS TO BLOCKADE THE PORT.

ON JAN. 11, 1863, A STRANGE SAIL WAS SIGHTED OFF GALVESTON BY THE BLOCKADERS AND THE U. S. WAR STEAMER "HATTERAS" WAS SENT TO ASCERTAIN HER IDENTITY. OVERTAKEN BY THE FEDERAL VESSEL, THE STRANGER SIGNALLED THAT SHE WAS THE BRITISH STEAMER "SPITFIRE."

THE "HATTERAS" WAS ABOUT TO SEND A BOAT CREW TO INVESTIGATE, WHEN THE STRANGER SUDDENLY RAN UP THE CONFEDERATE COLORS AND REVEALED HERSELF AS THE PRIVATEER "ALABAMA," RECENTLY BUILT IN ENGLAND. THEN, WITHOUT FURTHER WARNING, THE "ALABAMA" FIRED A DESTRUCTIVE BROADSIDE INTO THE "HATTERAS."

THE UNION SHIP WAS TERRIBLY CUT UP BY THE FIRST SHOTS, BUT VALIANTLY RETURNED THE FIRE OF HER ADVERSARY. BEFORE LONG, HOWEVER, THE "HATTERAS" WAS IN A SINKING CONDITION AND HER OFFICERS WERE OBLIGED TO SURRENDER.

TOMORROW—EARLY CAREER OF THE "ALABAMA."

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Charles against Henry Eldevold, one of three brothers charged under six counts with grand larceny and making false statements to obtain credit in connection with the defunct Minnesota Central Creameries, Inc., were dismissed at New Ulm. His brothers, Robert and Fred have been convicted on similar charges. The creamery company did a business of about $1,000,000 a year. In addition the Eldevolds operated the Eldevold creamery of Minneapolis, and the Minnesota Produce Company, a subsidiary of the local creamery. Through their manipulations, it was charged that the Brown County Bank was forced to go through bankruptcy proceedings.

WOMEN URGED TO BE PARTISAN

Daughter of Columbia Head Raps Feministic Ideas

Finds Nonpartisan Groups of Sex Out of Date

Advocates Party Loyalty as Important Lesson

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—A plea that women who desire to make themselves felt in politics next year "take a New Year's resolution to drop feministic and sex-conscious ideas and get down to work" was voiced today by Sarah Schuyler Butler.

Miss Butler, daughter of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is vice-president of the Republican women's State committee.

FEMINIST CRUSADERS

"The day of the feminist crusader in the United States is definitely over," she said, "and the only way now for women to function fully in the political field is for them to start at the bottom and learn the game from the ward-canvassing stage on up.

"There are only two ways for a woman to get invited to important political conferences. One is for her to be so influential that she is necessary, which is unlikely, and the other is to inspire the leaders with confidence in her political judgment.

"To devote the whole of one's life to politics," she said, "is to warp one's point of view. Yet we find that if we don't keep our women workers busy between campaigns we lose them to other organizations, other drives, campaigns and movements, which will make use of their surplus enthusiasm.

"One of the greatest lessons which women should learn is party loyalty. Women should realize that the two-party system, with all its faults, is the best instrument to date for democratic government. Unless the people have parties, which it can hold responsible as it would an individual, the result is something like the Mexican chaos.

NONPARTISANISM

"Nonpartisan organizations composed only of women are as out of date as the suffrage movement."

Miss Butler said she felt that it was because women in this country are likely to be very feministic when they go into political work that they do not get such "dignified and desirable publicity" as they do in England.

HOT LAVA OF VOLCANOES BURIES CITY

Kamchatka Town Like Pompeii and Populace Flees Molten Rain

PETROPAVLIVSK (Kamchatka, Russia) Dec. 28. (AP)—Eruption of the volcanoes Montnovsky and Avatchinskayasopka during the past ten days have transformed this city into a modern Pompeii. Although no loss of life was reported today, much property damage was caused.

Great masses of molten earth fell upon the city while violent underground rumblings which accompanied the eruptions caused the populace to flee to the hills for safety.

The whole city, which only a few days ago was buried in snow, now is transformed, great layers of gray lava giving it the appearance of a dead city.

(Avatchinskayasopka, which has an elevation variously estimated between 2300 and 9045 feet, was in violent eruption in 1827, 1837 and 1855. At its summit is a crater several hundred yards in circumference, and on its east side, at an elevation of 5000 feet, is a secondary crater.)

COPPER TRADE CONTROL LOOMS

Export Association Planning to Stabilize Market

Speculative Element Likely to be Eliminated

Foreign Consumers to be Dealt With Directly

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—A world-wide export association, recently formed to control the marketing of copper, has started to function as part of an ambitious project to bring the consumption of the red metal into closer alignment with production, valued annually at nearly $500,000,000.

Under the plan formulated by the new Copper Exporters, Incorporated, American methods of direct selling will be extended to the international markets in an effort to increase trade, stabilize prices abroad and combat harmful speculation.

SPECULATION

For many years attempts to cultivate world trade in copper have been thwarted by demoralizing price changes caused by factors other than supply and demand. The price of copper in many foreign markets has been dominated largely by the action of speculators without any financial interest in the production of the metal. The agreement of producers controlling approximately 90 per cent of the copper supply to deal directly with foreign consumers, in line with simplified policy, is now expected to eliminate this troublesome speculative element.

New York City is the center of the copper market in the United States, and it is here that contracts aggregating several hundred million dollars are made each year through a dozen or more sales agencies for the distribution of the metal from the producers of the largest consumers.

The leading selling agencies, handling the output of mines in all sections of the United States, South America and other producing centers, include Guggenheim Bros., American Metal Company, Metal Sales Corporation, Phelps-Dodge Corporation, Chile Exploration Company, Nichols Copper Company, American Smelting and Refining Company, Calumet and Hecla Company, United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company, Adolph Lewisohn & Sons, Copper Range Company, Mohawk Mining Company, Quincy Mining Company and International Metals and Minerals Corporation.

Virtually the entire output of American copper refineries is sold through these agencies, which are all located within a half-mile radius in downtown New York. Some of the large copper buyers, such as the electrical manufacturing companies, maintain purchasing agencies in the same district. The bulk of the great volume of business is transacted by telephone and telegraph, and this is made possible because of the relative stability of the market, in which daily variations are normally limited to a fraction of a cent a pound.

SHIPMENTS

Copper normally is sold for shipment in from one to three months, thus allowing producers to govern their output in accordance with the orders on their books so far as possible. At present surplus stocks of refined copper, exceeding 140,000,000 pounds, make possible immediate shipments, but frequently these are not available. Quotations ordinarily are made on a delivered basis.

Notwithstanding the narrow price fluctuations, the copper market in the United States is regarded as competitive, with values governed strictly by supply and demand. Attempts to maintain an artificial price level have always resulted in failure. Many years ago an organization known as the Secretan syndicate tried to bolster prices by withholding copper from the market. Buyers held off as supplies increased, and eventually the syndicate was forced to dissolve as the accumulated stocks were dumped on the market.

In 1907 a similar attempt to hold up prices turned out disastrously, and as late as 1920 producers, accustomed to inflated war values, attempted to hold the price around the 18-cent level. Price cutting by low-cost producers quickly broke this artificial market.

REFINING CENTERS

There are five outstanding copper refining centers in the United States—New York City, Baltimore, the Michigan Lake district, Anaconda, Montana and Tacoma, Washington. With the exception of the Montana works, most of the refiners are able to use water transportation. The Tacoma refineries of the American Smelting and Refining Company supply virtually all of the copper exported to the Orient, while the eastern seaboard plants provide the major part of the domestic requirements. Connecticut is the center of the brass industry, which takes a large part of the copper output.

The great industrial activity of the past several years has led to increased consumption of copper through the development of electric power, railroad electrification, extension of telephone facilities and large amount of new building.

AUTO ACCIDENTS SHOW INCREASE

One Death Recorded for Each 923 Cars

Fatalities for Past Year Total 21,627

Safety Conference Issues Warning Note

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The hazard of death in automobile accidents is rising rapidly in the United States, the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety said today in issuing statistics showing that one person was killed in 1925 for every 913 automobiles in service.

Automobile deaths for the year were 21,627, exclusive of fatalities occurring when cars were in collision with trains or street cars. The number of automobiles registered was 19,954,347.

"Emphasis should be constantly given to the fact that the death rate from automobile accidents is increasing rapidly year after year," the conference statement said, "and that the street hazards for everyone is becoming greater and greater. Better regulations must be enacted and enforced and better safety campaigns must be carried on."

In New York State, one person was killed for every 731 automobiles registered, while in Florida, though the total number of deaths was smaller, the killing rate was one person for each 397 cars. Iowa, at the other end of the scale, was charged with only one death for every 2190 cars registered.

Not too much reliance was to be placed in these comparative figures, the statement pointed out, since the number of visiting foreign cars, and the mileage of vehicles operated rather than the number of machines registered in a single State, was to be taken as the true test of hazard.

Prank Startles Joker's Friends, Death Follows

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Dec. 28. (AP)—While attempting a practical joke on two friends, Joe Fisher, about 30 years of age, a rider on the W. R. Hearst ranch above San Simeon, was accidentally shot and killed late yesterday.

Fisher, who was on horseback, saw Sebastian and William Parks with their shotguns in their hands, resting after a hunting trip. He charged toward them with his horse and the hunters leaped to their feet.

As the men jumped one of the shotguns was discharged, and the charge struck Fisher in the throat. He died instantly. The Coroner's jury today returned a verdict of accidental death. Fisher had taken some horses to the ranch from the Rudolph Valentino estate a few days ago.

WEIGHTY IS EVIDENCE IN WATER CASE

Transcript Fills Many Books of Record in Courts of Tulare County

VISALIA, Dec. 28.—What is declared more than four times the most voluminous transcript ever filed with the Supreme Court of California has been placed with the County Clerk of Tulare county for transmission with the appeal by the defendants in the long trial of the Tulare Irrigation District vs. the Lindsay-Strathmore Irrigation District, declared California's most famous water suit.

This transcript weighs more than 100 pounds in testimony alone, not to mention the maps, charts, photographs and other exhibits.

Until this time the most weighty volume of transcript ever recorded with the Supreme Court weighed twenty-six pounds, according to report. That came from the case of the Herminghaus heirs of Fresno county against the Southern California Edison Company, in which a decision has just been handed down against the Edison company.

The transcript on appeal filed here goes back to the opening of the now famous Tulare county suit in 1916. It was finally decided last year, subject to appeal, by Superior Judge Stephens of Los Angeles county. There are fifty-six volumes of transcript and thirty-four volumes of exhibits.

Transcript of the testimony was taken by the late J. H. Murray, reporter for Tulare county, and is said to be by far the largest volume of record for any single case ever taken in California courts.

Judge Stephens will come to Tulare county, it is said, to accept the transcript and other documents and check them as complete.

TRIBUTE TO WILSON

Pasadena Club Honors Memory of War President

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—Woodrow Wilson was classed with George Washington and Abraham Lincoln as one of the three greatest Presidents of the United States by Dr. Josiah Sibley, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, in an address today before a meeting of the Woodrow Wilson Club of Southern California held at the Hotel Green.

Several hundred persons attended the luncheon to pay tribute to the war President on the occasion of the seventieth anniversary of his birth. Dr. Sibley referred to President Wilson as a world leader who closely approached the Christian ideal of "peace on earth, good will to all men," and also as a martyred President who died in the service of his country.

J. F. Triska, president of the organization; Miss Mary Foy and Robert A. Swink of Pasadena, toastmaster, each spoke briefly in tribute to Wilson.

LADY LUCK SMILES ON DELIVERY MAN

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 28.—"Lady Luck" smiled upon G. B. Davis, Porterville wood dealer, today. Davis delivered a load of wood at the J. A. Bennett home on Harrison street and started for the business district, happily unconscious of having dropped his wallet in the street near the Bennett home. Mrs. Bennett, going into the back yard for wood, noticed the wallet and picked it up just as a party of tramps passed about ten feet away. The wallet contained a roll of greenbacks and silver, Davis's identification card, Automobile Club registration and other valuable papers.

PADEREWSKI TO TOUR AUSTRALIA

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, eminent pianist and Polish patriot, who arrived at the Hotel Maryland here last night for a six weeks' stay, is planning a concert tour in Australia late this winter and next spring, it was learned today.

The famous musician is here for a rest and avoided newspaper men. He is not planning any recitals in Southern California, his secretary said. He arrived from his ranch near Paso Robles with Mrs. Paderewski and his piano, which is installed in his suite at the Maryland.

Following the election it was announced that installation exercises will be held jointly with other county units in Fullerton on January 4.

SEEK GOLD ON MOUNT RUBIDOUX

Riverside Men File Claims on Slopes of Hill Leading to Easter Shrine

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 28.—That Rubidoux Mount may revive the days of of forty-nine and be the Mecca of the gold-seekers as well as the Easter shrine of the Southland was declared possible by three locators who yesterday recorded placer and quartz claims on the southwest slope of Riverside's beloved hill. Those professing to know the purposes of the "Rubidoux gold-mining claim," as it is entitled, declare that undermining of the peace tower and other embellishments is an extremely remote possibility.

The claims were filed by C. D. McNeill, Robert E. Gray and Samuel W. Thompson. According to P. T. Evans, on whose property a portion of the claims encroached, a gold mine was operated by the Rubidoux family in the early days of the vicinity. This early Spanish family, owning a vast estate in this district, procured a considerable amount of gold in 1868, it is said, and even as late as 1884 some placer mining was done in rich streams along the Santa Ana River near here. The recorded claims locate the lode as 300 feet southwest of the Santa Ana River bridge and about 300 feet south of the river on the southwest slope of Rubidoux Mountain and one and one-quarter miles from Seventh and Main streets, Riverside.

Was Chauffeur, Now Mayor of Suburban City

PASADENA, Dec. 28. (AP)—Revealing more eclat than did Will Rogers in his climb from the stirrups of his cowboy saddle to Mayor's throne in Beverly Hills, is the story of the ascendency of Earl Dennis Topping, who has just leaped from the chauffeur's seat of an automobile to chief executive's chair in Sierra Madre, a foothill town northeast of here.

More than a dozen years ago, Topping, moved to Sierra Madre, where wisteria vines grow as large as decoders and attract almost as many visitors. At that time he was just plain Earl Dennis with a winning Irish smile and a knack for driving and taking care of automobiles. He became chauffeur for Mrs. H. W. Topping, a wealthy widow past middle age, and herded her flock of costly European cars.

Varying the usual romantic procedure of eloping with her chauffeur, Mrs. Topping adopted him instead. He became Earl D. Topping, and backed by the woman's wealth and forceful personality he grew to be a permanent figure in the village, and today took his place as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Sierra Madre, his honor, the Mayor.

RELIEVE TRAFFIC JAM

Police of Four Cities Hold Joint Conference

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 28.—Plans to eliminate a traffic jam such as annoyed thousands of motorists last New Year's Day in Alhambra and which will be prepared by the police department heads of Pasadena, South Pasadena, San Marino and Alhambra. The officials met today to devise a traffic plan which will aid in handling the crowds to and from the Rose Tournament in Pasadena.

At the conference were Police Chief W. J. Shull of Alhambra; Police Chief Charles Kelly of Pasadena and City Marshal Frank Higgins of South Pasadena. City Marshal Ben Parker of San Marino will also co-operate in the arrangements.

The plan is intended to speed up traffic in Alhambra and the cities to the north particularly on the morning of New Year's Day. Traffic officers assisted by Boy Scouts will be stationed at the principal intersections on the through routes.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

SANTA ANA, Dec. 28.—George Hunn, San Juan Capistrano, charged with reckless driving following an accident in San Juan Capistrano on November 8 in which Hila Cook suffered a broken leg, was fined $250 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today after plea of guilty. At the same time Justice Morrison announced that a charge of failure to stop and render aid which had been placed against Hunn would be dismissed.

Hunn was unable to pay the fine and was committed to the County Jail to spend one day for each dollar of the fine. The condition of the Cook girl is greatly improved.

PAYS HEAVY FINE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 28.—George E. Petersen of this city paid a fine of $250 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving before Justice of the Peace C. W. Warner here yesterday. Petersen's car is said by officers to have collided with another machine on the State highway recently. Officers placed him under arrest immediately after the wreck.

DESTRUCTIVE RAIDS

Burglars Destroy Much Valuable Property to Secure Small Amount of Plunder

CALEXICO, Dec. 28.—Burglars raided seven business houses here last night, breaking through skylights, prying off doors and smashing their way into offices and safes. Property damage at the places burglarized amounted to more than the value of the goods stolen, according to Police Chief Joe Hardwick today.

Merchandise valued at $130 and 85 cents in cash was the total amount of the loss, but to obtain this the yeggs broke through two skylights, three doors, a window and two safes.

Hardwick expressed the belief that the work had been done by Mexican burglars who were amateurs at the business. They took advantage of the freezing temperatures when no one was on the streets and completed their work without discovery in a single instance. Hardwick announced a shake-up on the police force today as a result of the raids.

Places burglarized included the Union Oil Company's general offices, Standard Oil Company's garage, the Hema automobile agency, the Anderson Proutman automobile agency, the Yourman Packing Company, H. P. Fites hardware store and the Sones Lumber Company.

IN FAVOR OF SELLING GAS PLANT

Huntington Beach Officials Say Better Service Comes from Private Company

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 28.—The local Chamber of Commerce yesterday placed itself on record as favoring the sale of the city gas system to the Southern Counties Gas Company at the figure which the gas company has offered. The chamber approved the action of the City Trustees in calling a special election to decide whether or not the city shall sell the gas system.

Mayor C. G. Foster presented the gas matter to the Chamber of Commerce and asked for the opinion of the members. Other members of the City Board of Trustees were present. Figures on the gas system were presented by City Controller C. R. Furr. The figure showed that the system cost $104,000. Depreciation placed the present valuation at $83,800. Liabilities are outstanding against the system of about $44,000, which represent bond issues not yet paid off. Furr also showed that the city suffered a loss of approximately $10,000 when lines in the area of West Seventeenth street were abandoned. He decided that an additional loss of about $25,000 was confronting the city east of Seventeenth street, if the oil derricks encroached upon that territory.

Furr estimated the cost of installing new gas lines on the east side of town at $25,788. He estimated the cost of a gas holder at $45,000 and the cost of a site for the gas holder at $5000. The money would have to be raised by a bond issue, he pointed out.

The Southern Counties Gas Company has offered the city $75,000 cash for the gas system. Representatives of the gas company also addressed the Chamber of Commerce.

Oil Company Sues for Tax Money Refund

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 28.—Suit for $12,256.45 refund in oil taxes has been filed against Kern county by the North American Consolidated, having extensive holdings on the West Side. The oil company in its complaint asserts that the taxes have been collected illegally and under duress.

When queried as to the latest oil-tax suit today, County Tax Collector Tom Burk said: "There is nothing new about the suit. A similar one is pending before Judge William Deby of Inyo county who heard the testimony for this county, being qualified to do so as he sits in another court. As yet he has not rendered a decision. This last suit is based on the theory that a county has no right to tax a leasehold interest for road district taxes. The oil company has leased oil lands from the government and does not hold them in fee. The attorneys filing suit are proceeding under the theory that the government land is not taxable for road district purposes."

TEACHERS GUESTS OF IRRIGATION DISTRICT

EL CENTRO, Dec. 28.—Sixty teachers from the Los Angeles schools are making a trip along the Imperial Valley levees today as guests of the Imperial Irrigation District. The visit here was arranged both as an outing and for educational purposes and will include a trip through the valley to the Laguna Dam and Rockwood heading. The party had luncheon at Brawley yesterday and listened to addresses by M. J. Dowd, district engineer; President Patterson of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Roy Stilgenbauer.

TAKE LEASE ON PIER BALLROOM

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 28.—The Egyptian Ballroom, exotic and lavish dance palace on the Ocean Park Pier, was taken over yesterday by Wolfson Brothers, eastern capitalists, who have leased the property from the Ocean Park Realty Company. Carl Perry, formerly of Des Moines, Iowa, is the new manager. Innovations from eastern resorts are to be introduced to the dancing public here, according to an announcement. Jack Tenney's orchestra will continue to supply the music.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR FORMER OFFICER

SANTA ANA, Dec. 28.—A warrant for the arrest of H. L. Riggs, former motorcycle officer of Newport Beach, was placed in the hands of Santa Ana officers today by authorities from Sacramento county, where Riggs is wanted on a charge of violation of the California Motor Vehicle Act. Officers failed to locate Riggs in the Newport district.

ACCUSED OF HOLD-UP

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 28.—Harry Prater, Taft automobile dealer, is being held in the West Side city jail on suspicion of robbing A. A. Crosbie, Taft prizefighter promoter, who last night was held up near his establishment, the White Gymnasium, in Taft Heights, by an armed bandit and robbed of $500 in cash.

According to H. B. Higgins, Taft chief of police, Crosbie is said to have identified Prater as the lone bandit, but the latter denies any knowledge of the hold-up.

Mortgage Land for More Than Million Dollars

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 28.—Two hundred and fifty thousand acres of Kern county's richest agricultural and grazing lands, comprising the entire holdings of the El Tejon Ranchos, Inc., has been mortgaged to the California Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles to secure a bonded indebtedness of $1,250,000. The holding which secures the trust indenture includes the four big ranchos acquired by Spanish grant years ago, together with thousands of acres of sectionized land along the borders of the immense ranchos. The deeds to the property were filed for record today by Mark Armstrong of the Kern County Abstract Company.

The $1,250,000 indebtedness was incurred by a resolution at a recent directors' meeting to pay off an indenture of $1,000,000 made in 1926 in favor of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles.

The $1,000,000 debt will be paid off, leaving a working capital of $250,000 for development of the vast acreage, according to reports.

TO RETURN PRISONER

Tulare County Officer Goes to Salt Lake City

VISALIA, Dec. 28.—Gov. Richardson having granted extradition papers for C. Francis Osborne, sought since last April by Tulare police and wanted in other Tulare county cities on various charges, including forgery, obtaining money under false pretenses and embezzlement, Deputy Sheriff Ben Gurr of Tulare county is now in Salt Lake City, where Osborne is held in jail. Osborne was traced through half a dozen States before his arrest recently in Utah. He was said to be selling electrical appliances in Delta, Utah, although living in Salt Lake City. It is not known when Gurr will return with his prisoner as it is believed Osborne will fight extradition.

Dist.-Atty. Leroy McCormick of Tulare county has taken over the case for prosecution. He declares present charges against Osborne will total $3000 and several others are pending, such as selling mortgaged property and other asserted crimes.

VALLEY PASTOR WILL LIVE IN LOS ANGELES

VAN NUYS, Dec 28.—Rev. S. M. Bernard, former pastor of the Van Nuys Christian Church, and his family will leave here next week for their new home in Los Angeles, where Dr. Bernard will take up other work with the church. He resigned here two or three weeks ago and preached his farewell sermon last Sunday. He had been pastor of the local church for four years, during his pastorate raising the membership from 100 to 530 and building a new $60,000 church edifice. Besides being an able preacher, Dr. Bernard is regarded as one of the best of the church's executives in Southern California.

WOULD DIE RATHER THAN BE DEPENDENT

FRESNO, Dec. 28.—Despondent because old age was conquering him and tomorrow he was to become an inmate of the Old People's Home, Ed Christie, aged employee of the Pancher Creek Nurseries, shot himself in the head this afternoon, inflicting injuries which physicians said would prove fatal.

He was found in the loft room he occupied by George Arnold, foreman of the nursery, who called assistance. Christie had consented to enter the home only after argument, Arnold said, believing that the enforced move had prompted self-destruction.

DELIVER LARGE ORDER

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 28.—The Douglas Company, Santa Monica airplane manufacturers, will start deliveries late next January on a government contract for seventeen large passenger transport planes, according to an announcement today at the Wilshire-Boulevard plant.

The ships will be used for speeding up transportation of officers and men between various government destinations. The planes will be equipped for ambulance needs in emergency cases. The contract supplements a former deal completed for the government more than a year ago, when similar planes, now in use at a number of fields, were delivered.

CITY MARSHAL RESIGNS

MONTEREY PARK, Dec. 28.—Expressing the opinion that a change in the head of the police department might bring harmony out of the present political turmoil, City Marshal C. F. Ergenbright today tendered his resignation to the City Trustees. The resignation, which becomes effective at once, was accepted by the board.

Ergenbright was appointed city marshal last April following a municipal election when three new trustees went into office.

FATE SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE

Change of Holiday Plans Most Fortunate

Long Beach Resident Escapes Rage of Killer

Rest of Family Murdered by Crazed Husband

LONG BEACH, Dec. 28.—An eleventh-hour change in her plans, four weeks ago, undoubtedly saved the life of Mrs. Nora Guidry, 655 Redondo avenue, Long Beach, friends declared today. Mrs. Guidry is the eldest of nine children, eight of whom were killed along with their mother, at Texico, N. M., by their enraged stepfather, George Hassel.

Mrs. Guidry left Long Beach last night for her former New Mexico home upon receipt of a telegram from the Sheriff at Texico, advising her of the tragedy that befell all her sisters and brothers and her mother.

For three weeks Mrs. Guidry has watched the mails in expectation of the arrival of a letter from her mother, Mrs. George Hassel, inviting her to come to New Mexico to spend the holidays. She had planned to make the trip and then, after a conference with her husband, a Long Beach oil worker, had changed her plans and was to leave only in the event that her mother should urge her to go, it was said today.

Had Mrs. Guidry carried out her original plans she would have been a member of the George Hassel household at Texico at the time of the tragedy, and would doubtless have become one of Hassel's victims, friends here declare.

Hassel, according to advices from Texico, killed his wife with an ax, used a shotgun on his oldest stepson, again wielded the ax on three or four of the other children and choked the rest to death with his hands, according to his asserted confession.

The telegram from county authorities at Texico last night was the first intimation Mrs. Guidry had of the tragedy. Los Angeles newspapers furnished the details, and the woman, accompanied by her husband, boarded the first train for New Mexico.

Murder Charge Fails to Worry Accused Man

SANTA ANA, Dec. 28.—Apparently unperturbed by his situation and having an air of being perfectly at ease, wearing a pair of carpet slippers, Albert Dewey Gaines was arraigned on a murder charge today before Superior Judge James L. Allen who set his trial for Tuesday, January 11. The information charging Gaines with slaying Joseph J. Patterson, Los Angeles bond broker, was read to him by Court Clerk Earl R. Abbey and Gaines when asked by the court for his answer to the charge replied: "Not guilty."

His attorney, O. A. Jacobs, asked Judge Allen to delay setting the case for trial until next Friday so that Jacobs could confer with his associate Attorney George Halverson of Los Angeles, and learn what dates would be convenient for Halverson.

Judge Allen, however, announced that the trial would be set for January 11 with the two following days also reserved for it. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kenneth H. Burns expressed the view that the trial would require at least a week, whereupon the court indicated that in such an event the court calendar would be cleared to give the murder trial right of way. Gaines then shuffled out of the courtroom in his carpet slippers and was led back to the County Jail by two deputy sheriffs.

SCIENTIFIC TOUR

Students Study Fauna and Flora in Mexico

CLAREMONT, Dec. 28.—A scientific party of ten students and professors left Claremont late yesterday for Lower California, where they will remain until Saturday searching for botanical and small animal species for the Pomona College collection.

Three automobiles were used in transporting the party and its equipment, which is led by Prof. Jose Pijoan and Wright M. Pierce, curator of birds and mammals at Pomona College. This is the tenth group of students to leave Pomona College for research study in Lower California in the last four years.

Special provisions have been made for them by the Mexican government authorities, who permit them to take their guns and traps with them for hunting and collecting purposes. The party will go as far south as Santo Thomas, near which is an old ruins of one of Padre Serra's missions. Botanical specimens of all kinds, mammals and some sea life will be studied and collected. The students will return January 2.

FROST KILLS FLOWERS

SAN DIMAS, Dec. 28.—Because frost has destroyed all of the flowers planted here several weeks ago to be used on the float entered by San Dimas in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, the Chamber of Commerce has issued an appeal to all residents of Pomona Valley for flowers. The float is to depict a desert oasis with a camel and a traveler resting and a small tent of flowers.

Silver Peak Guest Ranch, Walnut, Cal., is now receiving guests. For reservations phone Pomona Suburban 5. —[Advertisement.]

MAN HUNT FOLLOWS INQUEST

Coroner's Verdict Responsible for Active Search of Man Accused of Murder

REDLANDS, Dec. 28.—Following the verdict of the Coroner's inquest today, which said that F. Mancinas died from a knife wound in the temple, police all over the south began a more thorough search for Thomas Ramirez, who, the officers here say, is responsible for the murder of Mancinas. The woman who caused all the trouble swore to a complaint against her divorced husband charging him with disturbing the peace and he was arrested immediately after the inquest. He is Leo Gonzales, and Mancinas, his friend, was helping him beat up Ramirez when the latter stabbed Mancinas and then fled, the police believe.

"Mancinas of Pearl avenue died from a knife stab in the left temple inflicted by one John Doe, true name unknown, with homicidal intent," according to the verdict rendered by the Coroner's jury.

From all indications, according to the police, the lives of the two Mexican witnesses who testified at the inquest must have been threatened by friends of Thomas Ramirez, because both shielded Ramirez when quizzed today, although vastly different stories were said to have been told by them immediately after the stabbing.

Mancinas died at 2:30 p.m. Christmas Day at Redlands Hospital. The fistic battle between him and Ramirez occurred a week ago. Leo Gonzales, the principal witness, over whose divorced wife the fighters were quarreling, was arrested at the close of the inquest on a warrant based on a complaint of Amelia Gonzales.

The woman accused her divorced husband of gaining entrance to her home at 2:30 o'clock in the morning following the stabbing of Mancinas, and said Gonzales tore her night clothes and fired a gun. He is charged with disturbing the peace. He said he did not see the stabbing, although Ramirez and Mancinas were scuffling. Ramion Cervantez also testified he did not see the fatal blow struck.

USE BATHROOM AS JAIL FOR VICTIMS

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 28.—Burglars last night held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rochford, owners of a grocery store at Fourteenth street and Electric avenue. The burglars returned a valuable pearl necklace to Mrs. Rochford when she pleaded with them and told them that it was a Christmas present from her husband. The hold-up occurred about 8 o'clock.

Two young men stopped at the Rochford apartments adjoining the store and stated that they wanted some groceries. Mr. Rochford took them into the store. After entering the burglars marched Rochford back into his apartment at the point of a gun and locked both Mr. and Mrs. Rochford in a bathroom. They escaped with about $160 in cash and a valuable diamond stick pin.

The bandits were unmasked and according to Rochford worked unhurriedly. A good description of both men was furnished police. Mr. and Mrs. Rochford were forced to remove the bathroom door from its hinges before they could give the alarm.

The city of Bakersfield and the county have agreed to stand the greater portion of the burden and public service corporation, including both of the local railroads, have been or will be asked to contribute a portion of the emergency fund necessary to prevent the possibility of a devastating flood next spring.

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 28.—For a consideration of $40,000, T. E. Klippstein and Charles Haberkern, both of Bakersfield, have purchased the old Fish baseball diamond at Nineteenth street and Union avenue from heirs of the Fish estate. According to Mr. Klippstein, he and his partner will level the property and subdivide it for business locations. The two Bakersfield men plan to lease the lots, instead of selling them.

Contractors Protest Interpretation of Code

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—Several temporary street grand stands which builders planned to rent on New Year's Day to Tournament of Roses spectators are expected to be condemned as a result of a strict interpretation of the new city building code.

According to the interpretation, stands not completed last night cannot be used on New Year's Day. Several builders were not aware that this was necessary, provided that they applied for inspection by that time. They are expected to protest the interpretation of the building department when the Board of City Directors holds a special meeting Friday morning.

Twenty-three contractors have asked that their stands be inspected by the building department, and this work was in progress today.

"Granting of any special permits in connection with the erection of stands is up to Building Superintendent Putnam," Franklin B. Cole, chairman of the Board of City Directors, said today. "We are not taking any chances on being responsible for any infraction of the law."

Police Officer Dismissed for Wild Escapade

ANAHEIM, Dec. 28.—R. W. Osmun, Anaheim motorcycle officer, who figured in a sensational speeding escapade Sunday afternoon on the State highway between this city and Santa Ana, was dismissed from the police department yesterday following an investigation of the affair by Chief J. S. Martin.

Osmun fired several shots while pursuing a reckless woman motorist, who finally escaped after a wild ride through dense traffic. According to Chief Martin, Osmun was out of his jurisdiction and had no authority to follow the woman, and that he used poor judgment in firing his pistol when the highway was thickly congested.

City Trustees investigated the affair and unanimously indorsed Chief Martin's action in dismissing the officer.

Patrolman Oscar Kelly has been transferred to the traffic squad to fill the vacancy and Ross Sidebottom has been appointed a patrolman to complete the personnel of the department. Sidebottom is a married man residing in the Staples Court on North Lemon street.

ELECT WOMAN

Spanish War Veterans Honor Well-Known Nurse

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 28. (AP)—Della Weeks Moore, a nurse with the Sixty-first Iowa Infantry in the war with Spain, widely known in patriotic societies, is the first woman in the United States to be elected to a position in a camp of Spanish War veterans. She was chosen last night as chaplain of St. Arthur Camp, that includes members from Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice, at its annual election. The last national encampment of Spanish War Veterans legalized Mrs. Moore's admission to this camp on an equal footing with men. Five camps in the bay district and vicinity will install officers at the Municipal Auditorium in Santa Monica, January 8, with State officers officiating.

DeVaughn of the robbery detail of Sheriff Trager's office is co-operating with local police in preparing extradition papers to be presented to the Governor of Texas for the return to California of Albert Venegas, who is thought to be the "brains" of the gang which held up the Fennant Cafe here the night of May 31, and who was captured in El Paso, Tex., a few days ago. The other three men, Louis Higuere, Carlos Mattines and Eddie Gonzales, are now serving time in San Quentin. Sergt. C. K. Simmons and Officer T. Bailey will probably be sent to return with the man.

Will fail to add an If You Please

Be as polite, when you ask, too?
Dogs wag their tails to be polite,
But Goops aren't really half so bright!

Oil Men Fail to Lay Plan in Mexican Row

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—American oil interests, claiming ownership of 85 per cent of the oil-producing property in Mexico, in a conference here today reached no agreement regarding the attitude to be taken toward the new Mexican oil law, which goes into effect January 1. While no official confirmation of a rumor that an agreement is near could be had, it was intimated that some announcement might be made tomorrow. Conferences have been held daily for the last two weeks.

Companies owning property valued at $500,000,000 to $750,000,000, organized as the Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico, have thus far refused to comply with the new Mexican oil law on the ground that it is confiscatory rather than a confirmation of their rights. They contend the law is another effort to put into effect the constitution of 1917, which held all subsoil deposits of petroleum in Mexico are "vested in the nation."

NEW GASOLINE WILL NOT BURN

French Engineer Shows "White Spirit"

Invention Will Add to Safety of Aviation

Problem of Vaporization Thought to be Solved

PARIS, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Great interest is being shown by aviation circles here in the noninflammable gasoline with which the French engineer, Raoul Ferrier, is carrying out experiments for airplane engines.

The qualities of the fuel were demonstrated today. Placing the flame of an ordinary pocket lighter filled with ordinary gasoline in direct contact with the gasoline mixed with the noninflammable substance, known as "white spirit," M. Ferrier clearly showed that it would not catch fire.

A paper read recently before the academy by the noted scientist, Paul Dumanois, treating the subject generally, but especially dealing with Ferrier's work in connection with "white spirit," attracted public attention by the question which vitally concerns the security of pilots and passengers, may well exercise a profound influence upon the development of commercial flying.

M. Ferrier, who is a naval engineer, first experimented five years ago at Brest for the purpose of obtaining a noninflammable gasoline for the use of the French navy. It was Paul Painleve's inspired concentration on the subject with a view to saving life among the flyers, so many of whom fell victim to the accidental igniting of reservoirs. M Painleve, who was then Minister of War, placed the armies' technical aviation services at M. Ferrier's disposal and he has been working with their aid ever since.

The difficulty was that "white spirit," which is an intermediary distillation of mineral oil between heavy lamp oil and the lightest gasoline, while noninflammable, did not possess the necessary volatility for distribution through the carburetor by vaporization. It is this problem of vaporization which M. Ferrier now has solved with a result so satisfactory that it allows greatest confidence for the future.

Royalist Plot of Greek Army Officers Aired

ATHENS, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Army chiefs confirm the rumors current in Athens for the last few days that a movement is afoot by royalist army officers who are plotting to overthrow the republican Greek government and return to a military dictatorship. The army chiefs who consider such a movement disastrous to the country have approached the chiefs of the government political parties, requesting them to act immediately against the plotters.

As a result of government action a sub-lieutenant was arrested while carrying a signed document that his regiment would agree to participate in the royalist plans. The press is indignant and demands that the government take immediate steps to force a respect for parliamentarism.

Many Die Under Huge Ice Waves Hurled by Sea

NIKOLAEVSK (Russia) Dec. 28. (AP) Heavy loss of life and great property destruction have been caused in several fishing villages of this district by mountainous waves from the Pacific Ocean which hurled tons of ice, some blocks ten feet thick, on the villages during a great snowstorm.

Many women and children were buried alive under great avalanches of ice and could not be dug out because their men folk were away on fishing expeditions.

Heavy snowstorms have severed communications and Nikolaevsk can be reached only by couriers on skis. A relief expedition is being sent from Khabarovsk.

The State Fishery Trust suffered heavily by the storm.

SAVING REPORTED BY STATE LAND BOARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The State Land Settlement Board which replaced the Delhi settlement, has show a saving of $179,156 over a period of four years, a report issued by C. M. Wooster, chairman of the board, shows. Land to the aggregate amount of $830,000 has been sold in behalf of the settlers on the State project, the report states, thereby placing men "more competent in purse and fitness in the place of those who had become discouraged by reason of exhausted means and inability to carry on with their obligations."

SLAYING OF BROTHER AND WIFE ADMITTED

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE (O.) Dec. 28. (AP)—Leo Halterman today pleaded guilty to a first-degree murder charge in connection with the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halterman, his brother and sister-in-law, at their farm home near here last week. Prosecutor Maddox announced that the grand jury would be called next Monday and said the case would be sent to trial as quickly as possible.

Halterman confessed he had shot his brother as the two were doing the early morning chores, and later had beaten Mrs. Halterman to death when she ran to the yard after hearing the shot.

Five Champs to Lose Crowns in 1927 is Prediction of Tex Rickard as Fight Year Closes

DEMPSEY BOUT SET FOR JULY

Promoter Hopes ex-Champ Will be in Shape

Walker, Latzo, Mandell and Rosenberg to Flop

Successor Seen for Kaplan's Deserted Throne

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Taking his annual glance into the fistic future book, Tex Rickard today predicted that five new boxing champions will be crowned in 1927.

The promoter, in a signed story published by the Evening World, named Mickey Walker, Pete Latzo, Sammy Mandell and Charley "Phil" Rosenberg as the title-holders he expects to see deposed, with a successor picked to fill the featherweight vacancy caused by the retirement of Kid Kaplan.

At the same time Rickard definitely committed himself to a heavyweight program in which Jack Dempsey will meet the winner of the promoter's elimination tournament to determine Gene Tunney's next opponent.

"Dempsey will return east the end of January, and by July his opponent should have been established," Rickard wrote. "By fighting the best of the challengers he will be able to prove whether he has any chance against his conqueror."

Rickard named Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney, both of Boston, as the outstanding heavyweight contenders, in addition to Dempsey. He qualified this, however, by adding there was a strong likelihood that either Jack Delaney or Paul Berlenbach would prove the best of the lot."

"Gene Tunney will take on the man who has proven himself the best of the challengers," added the promoter, "and I believe the outcome will demonstrate that the conqueror of Dempsey is a much greater exponent of the manly art than seems to be generally appreciated."

Predicting that the outdoor season will be even more of a "bloomer" than 1926, Rickard said he planned only two "big shots" next summer. One of these would pit Dempsey against a logical rival in July, the winner to meet Tunney in September. The promoter plans both bouts for the Yankee Stadium, which will have an increased seating capacity, probably for handling close to 100,000 fight fans.

Of the champions facing the most formidable opposition, Rickard believes Walker, new middleweight king, will have his troubles against either Maxey Rosenbloom, K.O. Phil Kaplan or Tiger Flowers, the former champion.

Pete Latzo "is outgrowing the welterweight class," Rickard feels, adding: "His first real defense of his title at 147 pounds is likely to be his last, but he will make a strong middleweight contender."

Rickard classifies Fidel La Barba, the flyweight title-holder, and Tod Morgan of Seattle, king of the junior lightweights, as "real champions." He predicts both will stay at the top. La Barba, he added, faces a real threat in Elky Clark, the British champion, on January 21, at the Garden.

ALHAMBRA FACES CARDS

Athletic Club Quintet Battles Stanford Court Team in Feature Clash Tonight

When the University of Stanford and the Alhambra Athletic Club quintets clash in an exhibition game at Alhambra tonight, the teams will be captained by cagers who learned the court pastime under the same coach and played on the same team during their high-school days.

Nelson David, an Alhambra product, is the leader of the Cardinals, playing one of the forward positions. This is his last year at Palo Alto. He graduated from Alhambra High School in 1923.

On the same Alhambra High School five and graduating from A.H.S. the same year was John Fox, now one of the mainstays of the Alhambra Athletic Club team and its captain.

Both David and Fox received their basketball training under Claude O. Downing, who was the cage mentor at the Alhambra High School for several years. Downing is now coaching the A.A.C. hoopsters.

The probable line-ups will be:

Stanford.		Alhambra.
David	F.	Wyatt
Bryant	F.	North
McCaughey	C.	Fix

Daro Anxious to Sign Pair of Mat Stars

Following a month's vacation, Promoter Lou Daro reopened his downtown wrestling sanctum yesterday for business. His first move was to dispatch contracts to Jim Londos, the Greek heavy, who is now in Boston and to Paul Jones, the Texas giant, who has been spending the holidays in Houston.

Lou would like to rematch Londos and the "cactus-fed" bone-crusher for his big opening show on January 12, next, at the Olympic Auditorium. They hooked up in a sensational exchange of holds two months ago. The fans have since evidenced a desire for a return engagement and Daro will give it to them if the thick-chested gentlemen are willing for a rematch.

Daro also wired terms for a bout to Matty Matsuda, the Japanese catch-as-catch-can star, who holds the welterweight championship. Matsuda is in El Paso, Tex., where he has been straightening up business affairs prior to a return campaign here.

MERCURY CLUB BEATS BEARS; AGGIES TROUNCE HOLLYWOOD

Displaying none of the stuff that made them champions of the Pacific Coast last year, Coach Nibs Price's University of California basketball quintet went down to inglorious defeat at the hands of the fast-stepping Los Angeles Athletic Club team last night, 29 to 17.

Evidently his "Nibs" was not much bothered over the outcome one way or the other as he was playing most of last year's freshman team, with the exception of Watson and Butts. The Bears were terrible in all departments of the game, and will have to improve some if they expect to beat Stanford, as the Card team that lost to Hollywood Monday night was a considerably better outfit.

The Mercury team played a fair game with Jeffrey and Olney along with Hendrix, holding the Bears in check. For the Bears, Corbin, a sub center, played a nice game, as did Butts, forward. The Mercury quintet carried the game all the way and was never in danger. Score at half-time was 15 to 8, in favor of the Club.

The line-ups:

L.A.A.C.—Chamberlain (F.) 2; Jeffery (F.) 11; Hendrix (C.) 3; Goeplin (C.) 0; Larson (G.) 2; Olney (G.) 3.

California—Watson (F.) 2; Butts (F.) 2; Patterson (C.) 2; J. Dougery (G.) 0; Mills (G.) 0; Wyatt (F.) 1; Dougery (F.) 1; Corbin (C.) 7; Dean (G.) 3; Bradley (G.) 0.

SCORE BY PERIODS

OREGON AGGIES WIN, 27-20

Coach Bob Hager's Oregon Aggie quintet had the honor of handing the Hollywood Athletic Club five its first defeat last night. The final score was 27 to 20.

The Aggies started out fast and had the club holding the small end of a 10-to-1 score, which looked bad for Hollywood. Some fast work on the part of Chuck Kearney and Bill Goertz put the Club back on its feet, but the Aggies had too good a start to overcome.

Harting played a stellar game for the winners, and accounted for thirteen of his team's points.

The line-ups:

H.A.C.—Kurrasy, 2; Beatty, 2; Howes, 1; McFadden, 1; Dorsey, 0; Fawcett, 2.

Oregon Aggies—Mathews, 2; Harting, 12; Ames, 4; Burr, 1; Grapp, 3; Patterson, 1; Savory, 3; Butts.

Five Bouts on Adams-Brown Olympic Bill

The five bouts that will precede the ten-round main event between Harry "Kid" Brown, Philadelphia lightweight, and Johnny Adams at the Olympic Auditorium next Tuesday night, were scheduled last night by Matchmaker Joe Levy.

Billy Harms, who Levy believes has a chance to rule Pacific Coast middleweights, will face Billy Atkinson, the tough young local 158-pounder. Harms, who is from San Francisco, stopped Ashley Smith in the second round of his first bout here a week ago.

The remainder of the program follows: Don Levy vs. Jimmy Hackley, six rounds, 132 pounds; Willie Brown vs. Dick De Hoog, four rounds, 128 pounds; Ted Lewis vs. Manuel Frayo, four rounds, 140 pounds.

POLICEMEN BILL TILT

Tentative arrangements have been made for a battle between the Los Angeles police department football team and the eleven representing the Glendale American Legion Post for next Sunday as a "conditioner" for the big game with the firemen's squad in the Coliseum on January 8.

ANNOUNCE TRAINING DATES

Marty Krug Orders Batterymen to Report for Work on February 20; Cubs Play Nine Games

Gladsome springtime is due to arrive February 20. At least Marty Krug, cherubic harbinger of baseball and things springtime-ic, burst forth yesterday with the tuneful announcement that the Angel pitchers and catchers had been ordered to report for work on that date. Oscar Reichow, secretary of the Los Angeles club, broadcast the Angel manager's statement.

The rest of the squad, infielders, and outfielders, will turn out one week later, February 27, to start preparing for the 1927 flag dash. The success of the 1926 gallop has inspired the worthy athletes to bigger and better things, and another noteworthy organization, despite the fact that absence of Arnold (Jigger) Statz, is anticipated by all hands.

William Wrigley's Chicago Cubs are scheduled for a nine-game local appearance, according to Reichow. Five of these tilts will find the Angels furnishing the opposition, while Hollywood will appear in the remaining four. Unlike last year, the Cubs will spend their entire western stay in our immediate vicinity. They are due to arrive on February 27, and, as usual, will gallop hither and thither about the confines of Catalina. Immediately following their nine local games they will start west by way of Texas. The Pirates will not play here next year.

The schedule for the Cubs, all games of which will be played in Wrigley Field, is as follows:

March 11—Hollywood.

Legion After Opponent for Danny Kramer

Manager Tom Gallery of the Hollywood American Legion Stadium is keeping the telegraph wires hot seeking an opponent for Danny Kramer, the hard-hitting featherweight who is fighting in the main event at the stadium Friday night, January 7, the opening show for 1927.

Kramer is one of the few knockout artists who is in the featherweight class. He has informed Manager Gallery that he will fight any junior lightweight if Gallery can't get a featherweight.

Jack Kearns and Tom Gallery have been in conference about Mickey Walker making his 1927 debut at the Legion stadium. Walker will be in Los Angeles within the next two weeks and his first start will undoubtedly be at Hollywood. Walker never has fought at the stadium. Kearns and Gallery are very good friends and the former manager of Jack Dempsey wants to help Gallery get away to a good start in 1927.

"Times" Daily Short Story

"Girl"

By O. HENRY

IN GILT letters on the ground glass of the door of room No. 982 were the words, "Robbins & Hartley, Brokers." The clerks had gone. It was past five and with the solid tramp of a drove of prize Percherons scrub women were invading the cloud-capped twenty-story office building. A puff of red-hot air flavored with lemon peelings, soft-coal smoke and train oil came in through the half-open windows.

Robbins, fifty, something of an overweight beau, and addicted to first nights and hotel palm rooms, pretended to be envious of his partner's commuter's joy.

"Going to be something doing in the humidity line tonight," he said. "You out-of-town chaps will be the people, with your katydids and moonlight and long drinks and things out on the front porch."

Hartley, twenty-nine, serious, thin, good looking, nervous, sighed and frowned a little.

"Yes," said he, "we always have cool nights in Floralhurst, especially in winter.

A man with an air of mystery came in the door and went up to Hartley.

"I've found where she lives," he announced in the portentious half-whisper that makes the detective at work a marked being to his fellowmen.

"Here is the address," said the detective, in a natural tone, being deprived of an audience to foil.

Hartley took the leaf torn out of the sleuth's dingy memorandum book. On it were pencilled the words, Vivienne Arlington, No. 341 East ——th street, care of Mrs. McComus."

"Moved there a week ago," said the detective. "Now if you want any shadowing done, Mr. Hartley, I can do you as fine a job in that line as anybody in the city. It will be only $7 a day and expenses. Can send in a daily typewritten report, covering—"

"You needn't go on," interrupted the broker. "It isn't a case of that kind. I merely wanted the address. How much shall I pay you?"

"One day's work," said the sleuth. "A tenner will cover it."

Hartley paid the man and dismissed him. Then he left the office and boarded a Broadway car. At the first large crosstown artery of travel he took an eastbound car that deposited him in a decaying avenue, whose ancient structures once sheltered the pride and glory of the town.

Walking a few squares he came to the building he sought.

Hartley pressed the "McComus" button. The door latch clicked spasmodically—now hospitably, now doubtfully, as though in anxiety whether it might be admitting friends or duns. Hartley entered and began to climb the stairs after the manner of those who seek their friends in city flat houses—which is the manner of a boy who climbs an apple tree, stopping when he comes upon what he wants.

On the fourth floor he saw Vivienne standing in an open door. She invited him inside, with a nod and a bright, genuine smile. She placed a chair for him near a window and poised herself gracefully upon the edge of one of those Jekyll-and-Hyde pieces of furniture that are masked and mysteriously hooded, unguessable bulks by day and inquisitorial racks of torture by night.

"I know you are the kindest of men, and the girl you get will be a lucky one."

Hartley cast a quick, critical, appreciative glance at her before speaking, and told himself that his taste in choosing had been flawless.

She was dressed in a white waist and dark skirt—that discreet masquerade of goose girl and duchess.

"Vivienne," said Hartley, looking at her pleadingly, "you did not answer my last letter. It was only by nearly a week's search that I found where you had moved to. Why have you kept me in suspense when you knew how anxiously I was waiting to see you and hear from you?"

The girl looked out the window dreamily.

"Mr. Hartley," she said, hesitatingly, "I hardly know what to say to you. I realize all the advantages of your offer, and sometimes I feel sure that I could be contented with you. But, again, I am doubtful. I was born a city girl, and I am afraid to bind myself to a quiet suburban life."

"My dear girl," said Hartley, ardently, "have I not told you that you shall have everything that your heart can desire that is in my power to give you? You shall come to the city for the theaters, for shopping and to visit your friends as often as you care to. You can trust me, can you not?"

"To the fullest," she said, turning her frank eyes upon him with a smile. "I know you are the kindest of men, and that the girl you get will be a lucky one. I learned all about you when I was at the Montgomerys."

A sudden jealous suspicion seized Hartley.

"Tell me, Vivienne," he asked, regarding her keenly, "is there another—is there some one else?"

A rosy flush crept slowly over her fair cheeks and neck.

"You shouldn't ask that, Mr. Hartley," she said, in some confusion. "But I will tell you. There is one other—but he has no right—I have promised him nothing."

"His name?" demanded Hartley, sternly.

"Townsend."

"Rafford Townsend," exclaimed Hartley, with a grim tightening of his jaw. "How did that man come to know you? After all I've done for him—"

"His auto has just stopped below," said Vivienne, bending over the window sill. "He's coming for his answer. Oh, I don't know what to do!"

The bell in the flat kitchen whirred. Vivienne hurried to press the latch button.

"Stay here," said Hartley. "I will meet him in the hall."

Townsend, looking like a Spanish grandee in his light tweeds, Panama hat and curling black mustache, came up the stairs three at a time. He stopped at sight of Hartley and looked foolish.

"Go back," said Hartley, firmly, pointing downstairs with his forefinger.

"Hullo!" said Townsend, feigning surprise. "What's up? What are you doing here, old man?"

"Go back," repeated Hartley, inflexibly. "The Law of the Jungle. Do you want the Pack to tear you to pieces? The kill is mine."

"I came here to see a plumber about the bathroom connections," said Townsend, bravely.

"All right," said Hartley. "You shall have that lying plaster to stick upon your traitorous soul. But, go back."

Townsend went downstairs, leaving a bitter word to be wafted up the draught of the staircase. Hartley went back to his wooing.

"Vivienne," said he, master fully, "I have got to have you. I will take no more refusals or dilly-dallying."

"When do you want me?" she asked.

"Now. As soon as you can get ready."

She stood calmly before him and looked him in the eye.

"Do you think for one moment," she said, "that I would enter your home while Heloise is there?"

Hartley cringed as if from an unexpected blow. He folded his arms and paced the carpet once or twice.

"She shall go," he declared grimly. Drops stood upon his brow. "Why should I let that woman make my life miserable? Never have I seen one day of freedom from trouble since I have known her. You are right, Vivienne. Heloise must be sent away before I can take you home. But she shall go. I have decided. I will turn her from my doors."

"When will you do this?" asked the girl.

Hartley clinched his teeth and bent his brows together.

"Tonight," he said, resolutely. "I will send her away tonight."

"Then," said Vivienne, "my answer is 'yes.' Come for me when you will."

She looked into his eyes with a sweet, sincere light in her own. Hartley could scarcely believe that her surrender was true, it was so swift and complete.

"Promise me," he said, feelingly, "on your word and honor."

"On my word and honor," repeated Vivienne, softly.

At the door he turned and gazed at her happily, but yet as one who scarcely trusts the foundations of his joy.

"Tomorrow," he said, with a forefinger of reminder uplifted.

"Tomorrow," she repeated with a smile of truth and candor.

In an hour and forty minutes Hartley stepped off the train at Floralhurst. A brisk walk of ten minutes brought him to the gate of a handsome two-story cottage set upon a wide and well-tended lawn. Halfway to the house he was met by a woman with jet-black braided hair and flowing white summer gown, who half-strangled him without apparent cause.

When they stepped into the hall she said:

"Mama's here. The auto is coming for her in half an hour. She came to dinner, but there's no dinner."

"I've something to tell you," said Hartley. "I thought to break it to you gently, but since your mother is here we may as well out with it."

He stooped and whispered something at her ear.

His wife screamed. Her mother came running into the hall. The dark-haired woman screamed again—the joyful scream of a well-beloved and petted woman.

"Oh, mama!" she cred, ecstatically, "what do you think? Vivienne is coming to cook for us! She is the one that stayed with the Montgomerys a whole year. And now, Billy, dear," she concluded, "you must go right down into the kitchen and discharge Heloise. She has been drunk again the whole day long."

Caddy Works Sends Cagers Against Fast Oregonians at Olympic Tonight

Having met defeat at every hand in their practice games to date, the local University of California basketball team will play the Oregon Aggies tonight in an effort to regain lost laurels.

Last year the Bruins defeated the Oregon team and this time it looks like the tables would be reversed. The Bob Hager coached quintet has a snappy outfit, while the Bruins have failed to show much to date. The loss of Ed Priggle, Bill Coerts and Horace Breese from last year's championship outfit seems a bit too much for the locals.

The game will be played in the Olympic Auditorium and will be the first basketball game of the season in the big arena. All of the Bruin games will be played there, according to Graduate Manager Steve Cunningham, as the Bruins lack a gym of their own, having space for spectators.

WHITTIER VARSITY TRIMS ALUMNI FIVE

Stemming a desperate rush just in time, the Whittier College varsity basketball team defeated an alumni squad, 29 to 20, at Whittier last night. The varsity was out in front, 19 to 14, at the half, but was on the short end of the scoring in the last period with the alumni rapidly making up ground. Bucksdorf starred for the varsity with "Chili" Bixler doing most of the work for the alumni.

BEARCATS WIN STATE LAURELS

Powerless Against Cross Northern Team

Fena Rips Locals' Line to Pieces

Lone Star of Dark Day for Covina

BY BOB RAY

GLENDALE, Dec. 28. (Exclusive) Glendale High's battling Bearcats, the 1926 State prep football champions. And that's official, because the battling Bearcats made it so on the local gridiron this afternoon, when they clawed "Chief" Newman's Covina Colts into submission and turned in an emphatic 20-to-0 victory.

Coach Clifford "Brick" Mitchell's San Mateo gridders proved to the satisfaction of the fans hanked on the gridiron that they had the football team and one of the powerful elevens that has been cut in C.I.F. grid circles in years.

The Colts fought the best they knew how, but their efforts were not able to stem the onrushing attack of the battling Bearcats, who looked smart, fast and like to play football. Covina was just up against competition that was too tough, that's all there was to it.

Glendale was off in front before the game was fourteen seconds old, when Covina had received the kick-off and Colts attempted to punt on the first play, big Andy Brown broke in and blocked the kick and then scooped up the ball and raced twenty yards to a touchdown. The visitors didn't do the Covina boys a bit of good, and they appeared nervous from then on. Capt. "Hal" Fena, San Mateo's 160-pound fullback, ripped over for the two scoring touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters, and kicked goal each to account for the four points scored.

BEKE STARS

"Big Don" Bieke, Covina's captain and star halfback, played a brilliant game for the Colts, turning in many runs of the yardage made by the Southern California champion. Jerry Cole, who started at halfback and dropped back in the backfield most of the time on offense, to punt and sometimes pack the ball performed in neat manner,

Sons of the Stanford Reds Go Through Their Paces in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena

WARNER CHANGES QUARTERS; LEWIS IS WARBLING SIGNALS

BY JOE PUNT

With only one man, "Tricky" Dick Hyland, clad in the brand new pajamonate silk panties "Pop" Warner ordered up for the New Year's Day game Stanford's Cardinals worked out early yesterday morning in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena. The order will be reversed today, Alabama taking the forenoon session and Stanford the post-luncheon period.

DICK HYLAND

Hyland, the speed merchant of the Stanford backfield, drew the light-weight pants' sentence because he disobeyed orders the day before and appeared in the customary pair of canvas trousers. Now that "Pop" has sentenced the boys to the feel of the things he is going to drill them in the heavier pants and then switch the day of the game.

HARD WORKOUTS

A large part of the session was given over to the photographers, but starting today there will be no idle moments from the time the Cards step on the field until it comes time to go to the showers.

At the present moment Alabama shows more pep and snap on the field than Stanford, and this is a condition that "Pop" intends to remedy before the end of the week. The boys will have to come back to that state of mind they enjoyed before the U.S.C. and Washington games or "Bama" will take them, and nobody knows it any better than "Pop" Warner.

Though there may be no significance in the move the sophomore quarterback, Alester "Spud" Lewis, was calling the plays for the varsity yesterday while Eli Post, the varsity signal shouter, was doing duty on the second team. With the exception of Post the varsity was the same as started in all the big games this year. Ed Walker and Ted Shipkey were at ends, Harris and Poulson at tackles, Swan and Robesky at guards, and McCreery at center with Bogus, Hoffman, Hyland and Lewis in the backfield.

LEWIS BEST

With respect to Lewis a lot of Stanford men believe he is a better quarterback than Post. The latter is a senior, a converted lineman from last year, and "Pop" Warner has given him a lot of consideration because Post stepped into the breach when "Pop" was minus anything that looked like a brainy signal caller and made good.

There is no doubt about Lewis's ability as a team director and its unified action when he is at the helm. I saw him take over the reins in the Washington game when the score was tied 10-10 and reel off the plays that brought Stanford nineteen points in the last quarter. That ought to be a pretty fair test of his ability.

"Pop" gave the boys almost as much calisthenic drill yesterday as he did signal practice and wound up the day by racing them several times across the field in three separate squads. By the time that was over everybody was panting and puffing and praying "Pop" would say "enough."

The only injured man on the squad, the lengthy Biff Hoffman, seems to have recuperated fully. His burn right toe was doing noble duty with tall spirals long after the rest of the boys had gone to the showers.

"Pop" Warner Gives the Boys a Red-Hot Drill

At the top we have the Stanford varsity in signal practice, starting full speed ahead with the snap of the ball. At the bottom is "Tricky" Dick Hyland, the backfield flash, plucking a forward pass out of the air.

SHERLOCK HOLMES ARRIVES; HOPES TO PLAY NEW YEARS

BY BRAVEN DYER

Sherlock Holmes, center and captain of the Alabama team, arrived last night from El Paso, Tex., where he was laid up with an attack of appendicitis. The "Bama" skipper said he was feeling fine and expected to play in the New Year's Day game. With his arrival the hopes of the Alabama rooters soared, and it was announced he would practice with the boys at 10 o'clock this morning.

COACH WADE

Holmes was accompanied by his wife. He was left behind by his mates in El Paso when he was stricken by a recurring attack of chronic appendicitis. The rest of the team arrived here Christmas morning.

adopted "Stop Stanford's reverses" as their war-cry at least, until the New Year is properly ushered in. It is no secret that Warner has spent hours and hours perfecting a defense for Alabama's tricky aerial attack. Lacking a line-bucker of "Pooley" Hubert's class the Crimson Tide will likely specialize on passes and end runs so "Pop" has given his boys day after day of defensive drill against an overhead barrage.

Coach Wallace Wade doesn't spend any time worrying about Warner's reverse plays. The Alabama mentor knows that they are good plays, as does every coach in the business. However, Wade believes he can stop Dick Hyland, Ted Shipkey, George Bogue and the other Stanford ball carriers when they start passing the ball around among themselves behind the line of scrimmage. With this end in view Wade is giving his linemen plenty of work.

LENGTHY BOOTS

Yesterday the secret practice consisted of a number of things. Punting, with Capt. Red Barnes and Raymond Pepper getting off the best boots, featured the early work. Barnes is consistent, having done some of the kicking last year. He boots the ball high, giving his ends plenty of time to get down under the ball. Pepper, who is a sub end, can out-distance Barnes now and then. If he gets into the game his booting will attract considerable attention.

Following punting practice Wade took his linemen and gave them a session of scrimmage. "Babe" Pearce, the 208-pound beauty, was at center for the regulars, with Bowdoin and Hagler as guards. Captain-elect Pickhard and "Cupid" Perry were the tackles with Ben Enis and Pepper at the end berths. Hoyt Winslett, regular wingman, being occupied at the other end of the field tossing passes for the backfield men to receive.

Linemen who go up against Stanford's reverse can't fool around and get out of their positions. The guy who does so is lost. "Pop's" plays may start one way, they generally do, but if an opposing lineman sucks to one side or the other, he's sure to be taken out of the play. Wade knows this and his athletes are charging straight back, covering their own territory and letting the next fellow look after his own particular area. The Alabama linemen charge viciously and they may be able to upset Stanford's reverses. If they can't, then it's good night, for once

FRENCH TENNIS MARVEL VICTOR

Champion Downs Local Girl in Straight Sets

Santa Monica Player Loses by 6-0, 6-1 Score

Vincent Richards Wins Over Snodgrass, 6-4, 6-4

BY PAUL LOWRY

Suzanne Lenglen, the French girl who does nothing according to Hoyle but withal is the most amazing female tennis player in history, gave 8000 fans a rare treat at the Olympic Auditorium last night.

Appearing in two matches as the leading member of "Cash and Carry" Pyle's professional tennis troupe, Suzanne was returned the winner in one. She defeated Mary Browne, the Santa Monica girl, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1, running Mary miles and miles after shots that the local lass didn't have a chance in the world of returning.

SUZANNE LENGLEN

Then as the evening wore to a close, Suzanne and Paul Feret, the passionate looking young Frenchman who wears a skin-tight sweater, the better, apparently, to display his Adonis-like figure, were defeated by the fellow Southern Californians, Harvey Snodgrass and Miss Browne, in a hard-fought three-set match, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. This was a big "local" victory, and it brought a tremendous cheer from the audience.

There was also a single match in which Snodgrass was licked by "Vinnie" Richards, the first ranking American this year, 6-4, 6-4, and a men's doubles set-to which went to Snodgrass and Walter Wesbrook, the southpaw, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

EVEN-STEPHEN

This made the tally for the evening two matches for the locals and two for the invaders, which sounds something like the results of a wrestling match, but that didn't make any difference to the big audience which came primarily to see the wonderful Suzanne.

And they got their money's worth because Suzanne was at the top of her game, and as good a player as Mary Browne is, she didn't have the ghost of a chance with the wonderful French girl.

LETTERS NOT TURNED OVER FOR PUBLIC PERUSAL, SAYS LEONARD IN FIRST AUTHENTIC STATEMENT

FRESNO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Admitting that he turned over to baseball authorities letters he had received from Ty Cobb and Smoky Joe Wood which revealed bets made by Cobb, Wood, Tris Speaker and himself, but denying that he received any money whatever for them, H. B. (Dutch) Leonard, issued a prepared statement to the Associated Press tonight.

Leonard in his statement said that he received money from the Detroit baseball club in payment of claims he made for damages sustained "through loss of salary covering all of the years 1927 and 1923 and part of 1924," but said that the money thus paid to him had nothing whatever to do with the letters made public recently by Judge Landis.

"I surrendered these letters to baseball authorities when those authorities convinced me that it was a duty which I owed to the Detroit team and to the baseball world in general to help verify and clear up certain rumors and informations which they had previously in their possession," the statement said.

Leonard, who had consistently refused to make a formal statement to the press since the recent expose which alleged that an American League baseball game played with Cleveland at Detroit in September,

"Baby Joe" Finishes Up San Francisco Boxer in Fifth Round of Vernon Coliseum Go

Baby Joe Gans, clever local lightweight, regained all the laurels he lost in his last fight here, by scoring a slashing technical knockout over Pete Daley, the San Francisco Italian, in five rounds at Vernon last night. Referee Abe Roth halted the fight when Daley was reeling helplessly around the ring at the close of the fifth, unable to defend himself against Gans.

The San Franciscan, who came here mercifully. He abandoned his customary counter-punching and took the offensive and it wasn't long before he got results. Baby Joe never won more decisively. Daley simply wasn't in the money although he got a big hand for his wonderful gameness.

Possibility of a damage action instituted by Speaker against those responsible for making public the scandal appeared as he and Cobb went over their side of the case with Boyd.

GENE DENIES SIGNING WITH FUGAZY FOR TITLE BATTLE

LEWISTON (Me.) Dec. 28. (AP)—Gene Tunney, en route to New York for a week's vacation at Moosehead Lake, late today denied a report from New York that he had accepted terms to defend the world's heavyweight championship against Jack Delaney in a match at the Polo Grounds next summer.

Tunney admitted talking with Hubert Fugazy, a boxing promoter, about meeting an opponent next summer, but said that no names were mentioned and that he would wait for figures from other promoters.

Golden and Hodges Score 64 to Cop Pro-Amateur Event at San Gabriel

FINE PLAY IN MIXED AFFAIR

Farrell Drops Hole in One to Feature

Diegel Signs to Represent Eastern Club

Fisher Paces Great Field at Flintridge

BY BILL WISE

John Golden, veteran New York professional, and Tom Hodges, El Caballero amateur, teamed to chalk up a best-ball aggregate of 64 and collect first honors in the feature pro-amateur tourney that drew a record field of nearly 200 contestants to the San Gabriel Club yesterday.

AL WATROUS.

Al Watrous, Grand Rapids mentor, and Sam Dalzell, San Gabriel's popular southpaw exponent finished with a 68 to tie with Harry Cooper, El Sereno, and Howard Hughes, Rancho amateur, for second honors in the mixed affair.

Joe Turpess, slender New York ace, runner-up to Bobby Jones in the last national open, and Harry Annandale Westbrook, with 67, were third. Johnny Farrel, handsome pro youngster from Quaker Ridge, N. Y., and Ed Merritt of Brentwood tangled with Earl Howell and George Campbell for third place. Johnny copped much of the individual glory by holing his tee shot to the 150-yard eleventh for a hole in one.

Pete Garcia, San Gabriel caddymaster, deserted by Grant Haines, club pro, and all officials, worked like a Trojan getting contestants away from the first tee. The record entry greatly exceeded the most optimistic prediction of San Gabriel members and local and visiting professionals, starting to congregate shortly before noon, swamped the starting tee. Garcia deserves great credit for handling the affair in a very businesslike manner—but Bill Mehlhorn, George Duncan, Ed Dudley, Jimmie Duncan, Arthur Clarkson, Chick Fraser and other Big Gun celebrities were unable to finish before dark.

Harry Cooper and Howard Hughes were forced to play the last two holes in comparative darkness—greatly handicapped by being unable to figure breaks on the last green, and deserve much credit for their fine mark of 68 that tied for second honors.

The pro-amateur affair was the most successful that has ever been held in Southern California. An enthusiastic gallery numbering several hundred fans mingled with contestants—and with the San Gabriel layout in great shape, scoring was very good. With the exception of George Von Elm and Leo Diegel, all tourney favorites in both the Long Beach and Los Angeles open championships, next week, were included in the field yesterday, and the flock of ranking amateurs was a sweet golfing tribute to Southern California.

The same field will next be seen in action in the $2500 Long Beach Friday. Low scores yesterday were as follows, (professionals named first:)

DIEGEL SIGNS WITH EASTERN GOLF CLUB

Jimmie Donaldson is Penimoore instructor and Diegel has signed as playing professional. The Penimoore club, in Westchester county, is next to Johnny Farrell and his exclusive Quaker Ridge layout. Diegel will accompany Schenck to Coronado tomorrow.

Diegel would have a great chance in the play but his relations with Schenck have been more than friendly, and while the motion-picture producer would be willing to have Leo play at Long Beach, Leo has decided to spend a few remaining days in California with Schenck, but will play in the local open championship.

FISHER PACES FIELD IN FLINTRIDGE PLAY

E. H. Fisher, of Oakmont, scored an 86 to cop final low gross in the qualifying play for the silver ball flight of the annual gold ball invitational at Flintridge yesterday.

More than three-score contestants medaled eighteen holes yesterday, bringing the qualifying field in the event that opened for low handicap amateurs, Sunday to nearly 200. Match play in both the gold ball flight of thirty-two and the silver ball bracket of sixty-four, will get under way this morning with one round in the title and two in the second flight. There will be two rounds in each flight, tomorrow and Friday. Players defeated in first-round matches today will be eligible to play in the special eighteen-hole consolation round Friday. One low gross and two low net trophies will be awarded in this latter play.

Despite the recent and continuing cold spell Flintridge greens, frozen every night, are in very fair condition, and not nearly so fast as might be expected. Fairways are in great shape, and Jim Reynolds, Bud Yoakum and Joem Adams are conducting a very fine competition.

86—E. H. Fisher.

HEYDLER CALLS HARGRAVE KING

National League President Says Cincinnati Star Leading Batter

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Because "Bubbles" Hargrave played in more than 100 games, the Cincinnati catcher is entitled to recognition as National League batting champion with an average of .353, thinks President John A. Heydler. Other observers have been inclined to rate Rube Bressler, his team mate, at the top. Bressler hit .357 for 86 contests.

LENGLEN WINS TENNIS MATCH

Champion Downs Local Girl in Straight Sets

Santa Monica Player Loses by 6-0, 6-1 Score

first set, pounding the ball down the sidelines and onto the backline with uncanny pace and direction. She always had Mary in the hole, smashing the ball from first one side to the other until Mary was ready to drop from exhaustion. It was Mary who made the errors, and Suzanne who stroked the ball where Mary wasn't.

MARY SCORES

Mary's only game was captured in the second set, when, after several prolonged rallies, she snagged enough points to get in the winning column. The set ended 6-1 on Mary's serve when Suzanne, from the base line elicited a backhand shot to Mary's right when the latter was running to the left.

In the mixed doubles match Suzanne astounded everyone in the auditorium by outvolleying the men players, and her footwork and court covering were astounding. However, the terrific serving of Snodgrass and the splendid work of the local pair at the net enabled Harvey and Mary to walk off with the verdict.

Richards was too steady and too clever at the net for Snodgrass in their singles match. When Richards started piling into the net it was all over, for his sharply angled volleys generally found Snodgrass out of position. In addition Snodgrass missed many an easy shot, the set-up that he should have made.

Snodgrass was much more of a success in the doubles matches. In the men's doubles he and Westbrook won out by taking all of their own serves and breaking through Richards's serve once in each set.

Because the fashion editor was missing we want to note that Suzanne appeared in a wistaria bandeau and sweater to match in the women's singles match, while she ran to yellow in the mixed doubles match.

Speedy Soccer Squads Clash Here Saturday

As the result of the 6-to-0 defeat administered in a game played at San Francisco last Sunday, the local squad is favored to win the rematch scheduled for a local field. Playing in their own back yard, the San Franciscans fondly believed that Los Angeles would be sent home on the short end of the score, and the drubbing which the locals handed the Bay City aggregation has caused a furore in soccer circles.

The intercity series is to be renewed this coming Saturday and Sunday with the venue switched to Loyola Field, home of the Los Angeles League.

Reports trickling through from the north indicate that the San Francisco team to make the journey south will be a vastly different eleven from that which offered opposition in Los Angeles last Sunday. Strenuous efforts, it is said, are being made to weld together a team that will give the locals a busy time.

Whether or not the personnel of the local team which performed on Sunday in the north will be materially changed for the coming games has not yet been decided but a decision is to be made today by the selection committee.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

WHO is the fastest man on the Stanford team after "Tricky" Dick Hyland is eliminated from consideration?

The question was asked of the distinguished Observationist, Mr. William Meilors Henry, and he replied, first, George Bogue, then Hoffman, and, when assured he was wrong, guessed Ted Shipkey.

My guess wouldn't be any better except for the fact that I saw the boys foot-racing over the green grass at the Rose Bowl yesterday and for the first time witnessed the rapid foot action of big Ed Walker at close quarters.

Not that I haven't seen Ed footrace before, but never in a series of fifty-yard sprints such as "Pop" Warner was handing the boys yesterday morning. Ed is anything but a gazelle in action. In fact, you might say he was a clumsy-looking brute, but Ed can get over the ground in surprising fashion.

He didn't happen to be paired in the same squad as "Tricky" Dick Hyland. It would have been interesting to see him race the backfield flash, but at any rate Walker, known as the "Louisiana Tiger," was leading such fleet lads as Don Hill to the finish line.

Apparently Ed is just one of those guys who is speedy in spite of himself. Nobody ever took Charley Paddock for the world's champion by looking at him, for that matter.

Now that Ed's speed has been so forcibly called to my attention I remember that in the Washington game when Guttormsen intercepted a forward pass from Hoffman and hoofed it fifty-seven yards over the goal line it was Walker who cut across the field and brought the Washington man down after a remarkable run. The great effort did not go unnoticed in spite of the fact that Guttormsen slipped out of his grasp and slid the other five yards on his stomach to score.

You hear a lot about Ted Shipkey's right to an all-American berth. This is as it should be because Ted was a great end, but probably if a vote of the Stanford coaching staff was taken big Ed Walker would drag down the majority of votes. He's an invaluable player.

Another man on the Cardinal team you hear little about is Selfman, great tackle. He's the man who beat U.S.C., and yet how many people realized it at the time? Howard Jones knew it and he put Selfman on his all-Coast team, and yet Selfman is rated on the Stanford campus as a second-string tackle. After relieving Harris he dumped U.S.C.'s applecart by gumming up the interference ahead of Kaer. He did it by knocking the Trojans' wing halfback into the mass instead of trying to knife through and get the ball.

Trapmint Wins Before Large Racing Crowd

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK Dec. 28. Trapmint, recently claimed by Bowman and Crofton from the Rossdale stables, made good for his owners in his first start today, winning the seventh and feature race on the program, at a mile and seventy yards, the grandstand was packed and the wagering was spirited. It was the biggest ladies' day of the meeting, the crowd equaling some of the biggest Sunday figures.

Trapmint was kept under restraint in the early running and dropped back on the back stretch, but came fast through the stretch and won by a length. Bookbinder, running a game race got the place and Cup Bearer, the favorite, the show. Boose Boyer Maulsen and Voshell followed the leaders.

First Dance, high-class colt brought out from New York by Johnny Coburn, won the fourth race, a six-furlong event for maiden 2-year-olds. Tonio, one of the black Toney colts from the barn of Col. Phil T. Chinn's Kentucky stud farm, got the place and Fire Captain the show.

Tormentor took the other 2-year-old event, the sixth race, with La Cometa and Paloio closest at the finish. Summary:

First race, claiming, 3 years and up, five furlongs, purse $600: Mais (W. Munden,) won; Dumbotis (Robertson,) second; Ethel Bowen (D. Nat,) third. Time, 1:02.

Second race, claiming, all ages, five furlongs, purse $600: James B. Brown (Craigmile,) won; Vanderburg (Pendergrass,) second; Assault (Phillips,) third. Time, 1:03.

Third race, claiming, 3 years and up, one mile and seventy yards, purse $600: Irish Brigadier (Mason,) won; Pusilous (Hiller,) second; Billet II (Dye,) third. Time, 1:49.

Seventh race, claiming, 3 years and up, one mile and seventy yards, purse $1000: Trapmint (Dalton,) won; Bookbinder (O'Connor,) second; Cup Bearer (Baker,) third. Time, 1:44 2-5.

Eighth race, claiming, 3 years and up one mile, purse $600: Pugoma (Peterson,) won; Scotland Forever (Gutierrez,) second; Duty Bay (W. Munden,) third. Time, 1:43 2-5.

WILSON, GRANGE ARRIVE

Pyle Greets Pro Football Teams Here for Games With Generals and Muller

Arriving in one of Mr. Pullman's best cars, Harold "Red" Grange and CHAMP PICKENS.

George Wilson pulled into town yesterday morning for a pair of pro game in January. Accompanying the party was Champ Pickens, one of Alabama's foremost citizens, who is here for the purpose of losing his voice at the Alabama-Stanford game Saturday. C. C. Pyle was on hand to greet his proteges.

Wilson's Wildcats will see action on January 8, when they tangle with the tough Hollywood Generals, who already have hung the scalp of Ernie Nevers's Eskimos to their belts. The game will be played at Wrigley Field.

The Orange outfit will not get into the fight until the following week, when Brick Muller's powerful eleven will be tackled on January 15.

The pro teams got in from the South, where they have been performing on a barnstorming tour for the natives.

LEONARD GIVES OUT STATEMENT

1918, had been fixed and bet upon, said:

"In making this statement I am not c lling anyone a 'blackmailer' or a 'Judas' or using any other like expressions. Those are terms used only by one who has no facts to sustain his position."

Leonard's statement in full follows:

"Since the unfortunate affair was made public by Judge Landis, I have been continuously urged to discuss it with representatives of the press, which I have so far refused to do.

"However, I feel at this time that because of certain misstatements in various versions of this affair, I should emphatically set right in the minds of the public several points at issue.

SETTLED IN FULL

"When I presented to Judge Landis, in Chicago, my claim against the Detroit Baseball Club for the proper settlement of my case, established by me through loss of salary contract, a period of all of the years 1918, 1919 and part of 1920, and after a full hearing of this claim by these authorities it was determined that my claim was just and valid, and such claim was by them settled in full.

"The terms of this settlement were put in writing and a duplicate copy of this is in my possession, setting forth the exact terms of the claim and the amount that was due and paid to me, and other details.

"It was on account of this claim that I received money from the Detroit Baseball Club and on this account only.

"I never received any money directly or indirectly for any letters or for any information that I might have in my possession, refused Judge Landis and others to go East and give any testimony involving any ball players in any irregularities.

"The letters which have appeared in print were letters which, among others, I received.

"I was told and believed that by so doing I was leading baseball in clearing up certain existing conditions which were detrimental to the good of baseball, and that I could do so without exacting publicity, in fact, without the conditions and circumstances becoming known.

"The delivery of these letters had nothing whatsoever to do with the settlement of my claims for salary due.

"The agreement for this settlement was made some months prior to the receipt of these letters, and, as I said before, the delivery of these letters was without any money consideration, either directly or indirectly.

"In making this statement I'm not calling anybody a 'blackmailer' or 'Judas' or using any other like expression. Those are terms used only by one who has no facts to sustain his position, and is somebody to resort to epithets of like character.

"The public wants, if they want anything at all, facts.

SILENT FOR TIME

"I have given these facts as absolutely as possible, after refraining for some time from going into print at all, as I feared, by so doing, I would be injuring the standing of baseball.

"I feel now that the entire occurrence is a closed incident. The newspapers have made various alleged statements of mine, and I have been misquoted in statements I have made to others.

"The foregoing is the only authorized statement I have made, with reference to this affair, and, as I have said before, it will be the last, as I do not at this time deem it for the best interest of the baseball world, in general, to go into this or any other controversies at any length or detail."

Globe Pucks Meet Oilers in Big Game

The long-looked-for Globe Ice Cream-Richfield Oil Company ice-hockey game will be a reality tomorrow night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace, when these two powerful teams meet for first place in the California professional ice-hockey league.

Bill Cottrell, Richfield manager, sent his charges through two hard hours of practice last night to get them in shape. The feature of the Oilers is the team work they display. Abbey Nwall, Cresswell and Manary, make up the defense; Chum Irvine, Gaston Scott, Jack Lawrence, Carl Jacobs and Larkin are the forwards.

Globe's forward wall leads the league in points and in the last three games played they have amassed a total of 20 goals; Leo Cook has 10, Dave Smith from Vancouver, 6, and Louis Coupes, from Winnipeg, 4. Broadfoot, the best goal tender in the league, Lloyd Cook and Jerry Mooney are the defense.

STRONG AND PARRISH IN LAST GO OF YEAR

When Everett Strong and Paul Parrish clash tomorrow night at Culver City they will be fighting the last ten-round main event of the year. Hollywood will be dark Friday night. Strong and Parrish are stiff punchers. Strong stopped Lefty Cooper recently in Oakland. Parrish is the only boxer that ever stopped Sailor Billy Vincent. Joe Cardoza and Bobby Bridges, two middleweights, appear in the semi-wind-up. Three four-rounders complete the card.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE ONOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

THE best news we've seen in some little time is the announcement that the forthcoming Stanford-Alabama fracas will pull the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association out of the well-known hole in which it has been reposing for several years. In all probability this will be even better news to those whose money was in the hole with the association. Still more exciting is the announcement that the association now proposes to go ahead with its original plans for the stadium and at an expense of numerous additional thousands of dollars will increase the seating capacity by some 30,000 seats, thereby bringing the capacity up to something like 82,000. More power to 'em if they do.

Pasadena has built up, during a period of more than a decade, an annual affair which has now become an established precedent of football. Every year since Brown University and Washington State College tangled in 1915 at old Tournament Park two of the leading teams of the country have met in a game which has gradually convinced the East that the West can play football. For the first several years the game was played at low admission figures, but when the California Bears first played in 1920 they earned the distinction of turning the game into a money-making proposition by insisting on raising the guarantee — and, therefore, the prices.

Since that time the game has gone through many vicissitudes. The Pacific Coast Conference, one of whose number had forced the increased prices on the association, accused the association of trying to make a lot of money out of the affair. Later the University of Washington used a dumb naval officer as a tool to take the entire control of the game out of the hands of the Pasadena officials. Pasadena consistently gave the competing teams everything they desired and finally, after the conference had complete control of the game, they turned it back to Pasadena.

New Year's Day games at Pasadena are an established climax to the football season. Elsewhere they are just one more football game. The Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association has built the game up to a gigantic thing and the game has brought Southern California some of the best advertising the game has ever had. Ninety per cent of the bungling that has taken place from time to time has been done by busybodies who butted in and tried to tell Pasadena how to run the game. For one, we hope they can complete their bowl and that we will be able to see games there every New Year's Day for the next 100 years or so.

WADE TOLLING WITH FORWARDS

ENIS GOOD

Much of Alabama's success in stopping the reverse plays depends upon Enis and Winslett, wingmen. The former is heavy, tipping the beam at 182 pounds. He showed his mettle in the Washington game last year, filling the gap nicely even though it was his first start as an end. He was so good that Wade has kept him there ever since. It is strange that Ennis played three years before ever getting on regularly. This is his last season and his first as regular. Stanford should have a tough time with him.

Winslett has attracted more national attention than any player developed below the Mason-Dixon line this year. Most of his fame has been won as a passer, but his defensive work has been almost faultless. He's quick as a cat. Although weighing only 170 pounds, he has lots of drive. A man who has built up the reputation that Winslett owns ought to show a lot in such a game as Saturday will be.

The ends can't bear all the burden, however. They must get considerable help from their tackles. In Alabama's case it looks as if Pickhard and Perry are capable of assisting their team-mates to no small extent. The former is the tallest man on the eleven. He stands better than six feet three inches high and weighs more than 200 pounds. When properly aroused Freddie is plenty tough. Perry is playing his last year and handles himself like the veteran that he is. Although lacking Pickhard's great height, Perry weighs 200 pounds and has lots of drive. These two men should figure almost as prominently as Winslett and Enis in the stopping or nonstopping of Stanford's reverses.

PETE DALEY IS BEATEN BY GANS

Referee Johnny Schiff, who happened to be officiating, thought otherwise and raised Mike Hector's hand at the end of a fast six-round semi-wind-up. George was punching harder and oftener and seemed to have the better of the going, but he didn't get the decision. It was a close fight, and very fast, and the edge between them wasn't very great, but George had it.

Benny Chaves, an importation from the Mexican border, and Al Neff, went six rounds to a draw in the special. The fans didn't like that decision either, some thinking Chaves had it, while the other side of the house strung with Neff. Neff knocked Chaves down for no count in the first round, but the Mexican had the better of the going in the majority of the sessions.

In the preliminaries, Pedro De la Cruz won from Bobby Herman in four and Tony Soltero got the nod over Joe Leal. Both were good fights.

TROJAN CAGERS WIN

U.S.C. defeated the Citizens' Print Shop basketball team in a game at the latter's gym last night by a score of 36 to 7. Bruner starred for the winners.

SAN MATEO IN TITLE VICTORY

Bearcats Claw Covina for State Prep Title

Score in First Minute on Blocked Kick

Capt. Fena and "Ken" Taylor did most of the heavy ground gaining for San Mateo, with Sherman Miller, a lanky halfback who picks his way carefully when he is rocking the ball, occasionally getting off for a lengthy jaunt. On the line Bogue was the outstanding Bearcat performer, with De Benedetti and Fortier, San Mateo's husky ends, also doing enough good work to merit more than a little mention.

The Bearcats continued to have their line and backs in motion on most of their plays, just as they did against Lodi, but they were penalized a total of 75 yards by Referee Bob Evans and Head Linesman Jimmy Needles today. Evans remarked after the game that he should have penalized San Mateo more than he did for being in motion, but he didn't want to spoil the game. Maybe Mr. Evans's somewhat lenient officiating made it a nice affair for the fans, but it certainly spoiled the thing for "Chief" Newman and the body of Covina rooters on hand for the game. Newman said after the battle that he didn't see why San Mateo had to resort to the illegal play when they had a good enough team to beat Covina without being in motion before the ball was snapped.

LOSE LONE CHANCE

Covina had but one real chance to score and that came in the third quarter. After Rieke, Richter and Cole had carried the ball more than half the length of the field San Mateo took the ball on downs, and with it went the Colts' best chance to count. Cole made a lot of yards during this march from punt formation. Richter would get the ball from center and hand it to Jerry as Cole would come tearing up from punt formation. The Bearcats would get ahold of Jerry but he had gathered so much momentum that they couldn't stop him until after he'd gain from 4 to 6 yards.

Just to prove how much better than Covina the San Mateo eleven looked today, the statistics show that the Bearcats made sixteen first downs to six for the Colts. San Mateo also made one touchdown in the fourth quarter that was not allowed because the Bearcats were penalized for being in motion on the play that brought the score.

San Mateo won the toss and chose to kick if with the Colts looking into the sun. Hardeman's kick-off was received by Rieke, who slipped and was downed on Covina's 24-yard line. Cole dropped back to punt on the first play and Brown blocked the kick. Bogue picked up the ball and ambled twenty yards unmolested for the fastest touchdown ever made in a State championship game. Fena's attempt to convert was blocked.

San Mateo again kicked off and Covina was forced to punt after three plays, the ball being downed on the Bearcats' 43-yard line. Hurd, Fena and Taylor brought the ball back to Covina's 26-yard stripe in short order, but here the Colts stiffened and took the ball on downs when Fena's pass to De Benedetti was batted down by Rieke. Rieke broke off left tackle for thirty-three yards to San Mateo's 25-yard line. Rieke and Richter made another first down on the 20-yard marker, but the Colts found the going tougher here and, on fourth down, Chamberlain and Rieke dropped back as if to place kick. However, the Bearcats were not fooled and Bogue brought Rieke down when Don tried to run around the incharging San Mateo lineman.

MARCH DOWN FIELD

Early in the second period San Mateo got the ball on its own 28-yard line and the Bearcats marched down the field for their second touchdown Miller and Taylor did most of the gaining on reverses, but after a first down had been made on the 9-yard line, Fena took the ball on three successive plays and went over for the score. Fena also kicked goal.

San Mateo's third touchdown came in the fourth quarter and resulted mainly because Miller intercepted one of Shaver's passes and ran it back twenty yards to Covina's 28-yard line. Fena, Miller and Taylor made two first downs in a row, the second one putting the ball on Covina's four-yard line. The San Mateo captain then packed the ball over right guard and didn't stop until he had scored another touchdown. Fena also kicked goal.

The line-up:

Third Stewart Generation in Union Family

With the election yesterday of W. L. Stewart, Jr., to the board of directors of the Union Oil Company of California the third generation of Stewarts comes officially into the Union Oil family. The company was founded by the late Lyman Stewart, and his son, W. L. Stewart, Sr. is the present head of the company.

W. L. Stewart, Jr., fills the vacancy on the board occasioned by the death last June of C. W. Ralph, director of sales, and he is the youngest member of the directorate. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and his association with the Union Oil Company has been largely with the manufacturing department. When the manufacturing committee was formed last June he was elected to serve as secretary of the committee.

W. L. Stewart, Sr., first became a member of the board in 1904, four years after the company took its present name. His father, Lyman Stewart, founded the business of the Union Oil Company in 1883, beginning operation in California through the partnership of Hardison & Stewart. When Lyman Stewart advanced to the chairmanship of the board, W. L. Stewart, Sr., was elevated to the presidency.

Johns-Manville Capital Change Is Authorized

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Recapitalization of Johns-Manville, Inc., in which J. P. Morgan & Co. recently obtained an interest, was approved by stockholders today.

The plan provides for the sale of the present company's assets to the Johns-Manville Corporation, which is to be formed under the laws of New York State, with authorized capital of 100,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock $100 par and 750,000 shares of no-par-value common stock.

It is proposed to give each holder of one share of the old company's stock, three-tenths of a share of 7 per cent preferred and three shares of no-par common in the new corporation.

November Net of Railroads Shows Increase

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Net operating income of approximately $115,000,000 is estimated for all Class I railroads in November, against actual net of $106,924,390 in November, 1925, and $146,099,938 for October, this year, based on aggregate net of the first fifty-five carriers of $82,-538,922.

Such a result would represent the month's proportion of an annual return of 5.78 per cent on the rate-making valuation of $21,275,000,000 at the end of 1925.

MONEY TREND EASIER

Moody Expects Interest Rates to Drop After Early January

Moody's weekly review of financial conditions in its current issue says in part:

The monetary outlook continues very favorable. Bank loans are becoming smaller as compared with deposits, and this is a better indication than the movements of call-money rates. We look for quite a sagging tendency of interest rates after the first week in January.

The rise in bond prices since the middle of September is partly seasonal, but this year the advance has been extra large. Doubtless it reflects the unusual volume of new capital seeking investment.

Trade returns are becoming more mixed. Copper is working into a less strong statistical position, and the automobile industry is showing more severe competition. However, if trade reacts a goodly portion of the working capital thus released will seek investment in securities.

SKEPTICS FIND BEAR OMENS

Believe Cheerful Comment Anticipates Selling Wave in Stock Market; Other Signs Seen

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Speculators skeptically inclined can find plenty of omens in the news carried over the wires in the last few weeks. Examined critically, and in the light of historical precedents in the stock market, there is sufficient justification for the bearish talk of the skeptics to give them a hearing, even though the nation's business leaders are occupying the front pages with cheerful forecasts for 1927.

The sour-visaged skeptics, found in every brokerage office, are mean enough to hint that the cheerfulness is assumed for a selfish purpose. Pointing back to stock market history, they say that it is time to look out when the big business men willingly come forward with optimistic statements. Invariably, they contend, these statements presage liquidating movements in the stock market, under cover of the new buying stimulated by the cheerful comment.

STEEL ACTION SIGNAL

When the United States Steel Corporation declared its 40 per cent stock dividend these same skeptics turned another page in the history of the stock market and found more material of bearish tincture. There is an axiom that says: "Sell stocks when they begin to declare stock and cash extras." Just recently, Woolworth ordered a 50 per cent stock dividend as the climax to a long list during the last several months, and then the Steel Corporation fulfilled a rumor of twenty years' standing.

The Steel stock dividend, as the bear traders look at it, is enough by itself to signal the peak of the bull market, and the beginning of the decline. Notoriously conservative, the management of the Steel Corporation has waited until the last possible minute before it capitalized surplus, and now there is nothing more to anticipate, at least for some years.

This, at any rate, is what the bears believe and they prefer to overlook the fact that the maintenance of the 7 per cent rate on the increased capitalization, which is expected to materialize as a fixed dividend policy, will indicate the confidence of the management in its ability to earn dividend requirements from normal business.

FORD APPLAUDED

Henry Ford received a hand in the brokerage offices the other day when he granted an interview that contained a few bearish remarks. The part referring to 1926 as an abnormal year and 1927 as a normal year was seized upon as significant. If 1926 earnings were abnormal, then the prospects for normal earnings in 1927 certainly do not justify the existing level of stock-market prices, Mr. Ford's new friends say.

In some of his published statements, however, Henry Ford has not always turned out as a good prophet. The day following his interview, an imposing list of business men, including Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank; Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey; Charles M. Schwab, chairman, Bethlehem Steel, and others spoke confidently of the 1927 prospects, and predicted the continuance of the 1926 level of business activities.

Except for these omens, the heartily inclined speculators have nothing tangible on which to predicate their contentions of an impending bear market. Most of the evidence is on the other side, although here and there rumors crop up suggesting that certain companies are not earning dividend requirements, and will have to order reductions. If these rumors materialize in any number, then the evidence will be convincing.

Metropolitan Approves Loans on Real Estate

Loans totaling $116,100, sufficient to provide housing accommodations for thirty-five families in Los Angeles and its suburbs, were authorized at the last meeting of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company real estate committee. The loans were placed through the Mortgage Guarantee Company of Los Angeles.

Loans on bond and mortgages authorized in the country at large at the same meeting amounted to $6,356,830. Of this amount, $6,857,-420 were city loans and $1,399,100 were farm loans. In the former were included housing loans, to accommodate 1373 families. The principal housing loans were in New Jersey, $136,800; Pennsylvania, $643,300; District of Columbia, $82,700; Virginia, $204,000; North Carolina, $194,-000; Tennessee, $279,800; Ohio, $605,-150; Iowa, $92,400; Michigan, $864,-940; Illinois, $791,430; Missouri, $128,900; Washington, $158,700, and, California, $250,750. Loans on seventeen business buildings amounted to $1,311,000.

The farm loans were scattered in twenty-two States, the principal amounts being in Illinois, $173,800; Indiana, $179,900; Iowa, $339,300; Minnesota, $186,900, and South Dakota, $115,900.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.

LONDON, Dec. 28. (By wireless)—New Year optimism characterized all markets today. Even British funds were firm in spite of the announcement that a conversion loan is coming on Thursday, dealing with £250,-000,000 debts that mature in 1927. The issue will be in 4 per cent consols, but the price has not yet been announced. It is expected to yield a little under 4 3-4 per cent. Many critics dislike the government's system of issuing bonds at a discount, thereby actually increasing the nominal amount of debt.

Industrials were good, also the speculative markets, particularly oils, which were supported from the Continent. French francs were steady.

Although applications for the Bulgarian loan were large, the scrip sold at a premium of only a fraction. Hudson Bay shares experienced a sudden sharp advance at the opening.

Markets were quiet at the closing and prices were under the best for the day, though oils were benefited by the strength displayed in the American market on Friday and Monday. Government stocks closed slightly easier on the new issue, the market arguing that a loan is a precurser of a fall in the bank rate on Thursday, which report, however, I disbelieve.

FAILURES IN TRADE DATA REPORTED

Cases Handled by Local Bureau Fewer Than 1925; Liabilities Greater

Business of the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade for the fiscal year ended September 30, last, showed a slight decrease in the number of cases opened as compared with the preceding year, but the amount of liabilities represented by claims was substantially higher, according to the annual report issued yesterday by F. C. DeLano, secretary.

During the year covered in this report, 1374 new cases were opened, as compared with 1679 opened in the preceding fiscal year. Liabilities represented by 22,750 claims amounted to $4,926,593.11 in the past year, as against liabilities aggregating $4,089,-211.23 in the previous year. The board of trade issued $4,533 individual dividend checks during the year in question aggregating $1,547,806.21. Assignments totaling 430 were made by failure of debtors and claims for 207 voluntary and involuntary cases in bankruptcy.

The Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade handles about 90 per cent of all commercial failures in Southern California. It is the adjustment bureau of the National Association of Credit Men, and handles all of the claims of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association, the membership of which consists of about 1000 wholesale merchants, manufacturers and banks in the city of Los Angeles.

At the annual election of directors held recently, the board was named for the 1926-27 year to include: H. Flatau, M. A. Newmark & Co.; A. J. Goldwater, Stewart-Dawes Shoe Company; W. W. Grether, Grether & Grether; F. B. McComas, McComas Dry Goods Company; E. H. McGinnis, Union Hardware & Metal Co.; D. F. Norton, Klein-Norton Company; J. M. Rust, Union Oil Company of California; J. D. Simpson, Klein-Simpson Fruit Company, and A. F. Stepan, Western Wholesale Drug Company.

The board of directors organized by electing W. W. Grether as president, J. D. Simpson, first vice-president; A. F. Stepan, second vice-president; F. C. DeLano, secretary, treasurer and manager; S. H. Peters and L. Dreiele, assistant secretaries; W. T. Craig, attorney; and J. P. Kelsher, J. E. Dalton and Merrill L. Granger, assistant attorneys.

Union Officials Plan Trip East; Rumor is Denied

Along Spring street yesterday the Atlantic Refining-Union Oil rumor assumed formidable proportions when it was reported that several Union Oil officials would leave around the first of the year for New York. It was immediately assumed that the reported negotiations had reached the point where the presence of the officers in New York was required to close the deal.

At the offices of the company, however, it was explained that E. W. Clark, executive vice-president, was planning such a trip, but there was no connection with the stock-market rumors of negotiations for the sale of the company. President Stewart, it was added, may go, but if he does his visit will not be of a business nature.

AMERICAN ICE TO PAY ANOTHER EXTRA

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Directors of the American Ice Company today declared a year-end extra dividend of $2 a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly payments of $2 on the common and $1.50 on the preferred shares, all are payable January 25 to stock of record January 7. An extra dividend of the same amount was paid a year ago.

TWO LINKS WELDED TO BANK CHAIN

Institutions at Lomita and Bell are Absorbed by California

Acquisition of the Community Bank of Bell and the Bank of Lomita by the California Bank was announced yesterday by A. M. Chaffey, president of the latter institution. These two new banks will be operated as branches of the California Bank and will bring the total number of offices to forty-six.

The Community Bank of Bell was organized in 1923 by F. M. White, secretary of the Laguna Land and Water Company, and other business men prominently identified with that district. The bank has deposits of $250,000, and has shown a consistent growth over its three years of service in the Bell community.

This bank will be known as the Bell office of the California Bank, and W. J. Brandt, for nine years an official of the Merchants' Bank of Minona, Minn., has been appointed manager. He will be assisted by Miles Hutchinson, who has been connected with the Community Bank of Bell for several years. Otto Jaeger, formerly an officer in charge of the Community Bank of Bell, has been assigned responsible duties with the California Bank at the head office in Los Angeles.

The Bank of Lomita, which will be known as the Lomita office of the California Bank, was organized in 1920. Its deposits now aggregate $335,000. L. J. Hunter, who has been in charge of the bank for a long period, has been appointed manager in charge of the office.

Santa Fe Net Earnings for November Up

Net operating income of the Santa Fe Railroad for the month of November amounted to $8,418,791, as compared with $8,148,516 in the corresponding month of last year, an increase of $267,275, according to the company's monthly report issued yesterday. Gross operating revenues in November amounted to $35,409,470, an increase of $2,583,736 over the total of $22,855,744 in the same month of 1925.

For the eleven months ended November 30, last, net railway operating income aggregated $61,110,533, as against $48,543,987 in the same period of 1925, an increase of $12,566,546. Net for the eleven months was approximately 26 per cent of the total gross operating revenues of $235,-849,034, which showed a gain of $19,-290,907 from the total of $216,559,-127 in the period of 1925.

Operating expenses in November were $14,606,793, an increase of $2,583,736 from the November, 1925, total of $12,797,812. In the eleven months operating expenses aggregated $153,783,306, a gain of but $2,908,981 over the 1925 total of $149,945,325.

The tax accruals for the eleven months were $19,291,750, a gain of $3,218,819 over the preceding period, and the company now is operating 12,113 miles of track.

Change in Head of Western Rail Line is Rumored

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 28. (AP)—The Portland Telegram today reported a well-defined rumor in railroad circles that Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, will resign early in the new year and take the presidency of the Western Pacific, held by C. M. Levy, who will retire for age.

"Since Arthur Curtiss James of New York, the new financial force in transcontinental railways, has become powerful indicating policies of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, it is said he has selected Budd to carry out the Western Pacific expansion program," said the Telegram.

"One phase of this will be, according to some railway authorities, to extend the Western Pacific, in which James is heavily interested, from a point in Northern California to Klamath Falls, to meet the Oregon Trunk Line, which will be carried from Bend to the metropolis of the Klamath basin."

The Oregon Trunk is owned jointly by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific.

Values Far Apart in 1926

Since hog prices at Chicago crossed corn in the spring of 1925, the spread between the two commodities has been marked. Hogs moved sharply higher in the spring and summer this year, reaching new postwar high to the lowest levels since the fall of 1922.

STOCK MARKETS COMPARED

Price Average at Close of Year Higher Than for Same Period in 1925, but Narrower Now

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—In some respects the final week of the year is a good time to examine the position of the stock market and to note what lies back of its movements which, at that season, are more often toward higher than lower levels. Just as was the case a year ago stocks now command high prices and sentiment is cheerful.

Pronounced similarities and differences in the market may be found by anyone who takes the trouble to run back through the records and to make a comparison of the market now and for this week a year ago. At once two conclusions will be apparent: the market is higher than it was then and is narrower.

A year ago Steel common was selling at 135, whereas yesterday at 160 1-4 it came within a small fraction of its record peak. General Motors a year ago today sold at 113. It now is nearer 160. In similar fashion Atchison shares have moved from 140 to 170; New York Central from 134 to 143; Pennsylvania Railroad from 56 to 57, and Baldwin Locomotive from 139 to 164. Issues of the quality group will close the year 1926, presumably at levels substantially higher than at the end of 1925. These have carried the averages for industrial stocks up over 6 and the averages of railroad stocks up over 11 points from a year ago.

But the market is not nearly so broad as it was then. A series of 2,000,000-share sessions in the week between Christmas and New Years a year ago and the appearance on the tape of more individual issues than ever before gave unmistakable evidence that the public was taking stocks. At this time a year ago, the market was riding for the fall that came in March, but the fact was not then widely recognized, since the wider participation of small investors in the stock market made it appear that a new era and a permanently higher level of prices had come. That recession from the levels than prevailing might come, everybody expected, but that it would be so precipitous, nobody dreamed.

Strength in the stock market at present is centered in issues of quality that professional operators have selected in not a few instances for the show of underlying strength that they always seem to reveal. For the most part the traders have faith in these issues on the basis of their intrinsic merits, the sound position of industry and the prospect for continued ease in money. What they seek is not the accumulation of larger blocks of stocks, however, but a wider participation in the market on the part of small investors. The recent display of favorable 1927 forecasts and the very strength of the market itself have influenced sentiment for the good, but as yet full degree of distribution has not been attained.

Arizona Budget Set for Year by Phone Company

PHOENIX, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—About $1,000,000 will be spent in Arizona during 1927 by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company. One-third of this sum will be used in Phoenix in the building of a large addition to the central exchange building and the installing of machine-switching equipment.

During the building operations, commencing in January, Arizona headquarters will be moved to a leased building. The company also has purchased a large warehouse in the railroad district of Phoenix.

Tucson will be given $18,000 worth of new equipment, a new connecting line will be built between Holbrook, Ariz., and Gallup, N. M., and a new circuit established between Lordsburg, N. M., and Globe.

STOCKS HIT BY SHARP SETBACK

Heavy Selling Orders Bring Price Downturn

Number of Bearish Factors Cause of Break

Close Reveals Long List of Losses for Day

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—A sharp downward readjustment of prices took place in today's stock market, selling orders apparently were for both the long and short accounts and spread over a rather broad list, final quotations disclosing a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to nearly 7 points.

Speculative disappointment over the failure of the Allied Chemical directors to make a more liberal dividend distribution, and the declaration of only the regular dividend on American Can, was believed to be the chief influence behind the reaction. Bearish sentiment also was credited, however, by the increase in brokers' loans, and by wild rumors concerning a possible break in our relations with Mexico as a result of the new land laws which go into effect in that country on the first of the year.

CHEMICALS HIT

Allied Chemical, which touched the record high price of 148 7-8 a week ago Monday, and closed last night at 141 1-4, was hammered down to 134 1-4, closing slightly above that level. The increase in the annual dividend rate from $4 to $6 was not very cheering to those who had looked for a big split-up, with the maintenance of the $4 dividend on the new stock. American Can, which was bid up recently on talk of a $1 extra, sold off 2 points when only the regular dividend was authorized. Weakness of American Smelting and the Pan-American issues, which have large property interests in Mexico, was directly traceable to the Mexican rumors.

The recent stock dividend on Steel common undoubtedly had stimulated

Traders Grope in Dark Seeking Cause for Market Slump

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—As usual, the rank and file was casting about for something to explain the rather drastic reaction which marked the major part of the day, continuing the downturn of the previous session. Some were disposed to attribute the selling largely to the sharp upturn in brokers' collateral borrowings in the last fortnight, but that was at the best a poor course of reasoning. Such borrowings are still far under the January peak, notwithstanding that the average price is materially higher, and are only about $300,000,000 above the low point of May 19. The real reason for the selling undoubtedly lies within the market itself—in a word, the overdoing of the bull side and that inability to attract any sizable public following.

Bears Testing Market

Some observers are disposed to look for a more two-sided market for a while. The view in such quarters is that the bear crowd, which has been badly whipsawed at frequent intervals and which has been virtually dormant for several weeks, is likely soon to be trying its hand again. Against this, however, there is the more or less apparent fact that the market is in strong hands. But inasmuch as the public shows little inclination to come into the proceedings on these levels, there are more than a few who believe that constructive forces might welcome something of a setback in the hope of stimulating outside interest.

The Can Disappointment

Trading had scarcely gotten under way this morning when the speculative fraternity was forced to swallow the first disappointment of the day. It came in the form of the announcement that nothing more than the usual quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share had been declared by directors of the American Can Company. Although there had been much conjecture pro and con on the outlook for an extra dividend at this time, the street had been more or less expectant, and naturally was forced to regard the lack of special action as disappointing. Doubtless the financial community had raised its hopes too high as in other instances. However, it was recalled, that the company had paid an extra of $3 a share on the old $100 stock prior to the capital revision in the spring.

A Second Upset

Allied Chemicals action in increasing the regular common dividend rate to $6 from the $4 basis, heretofore prevailing, provided the second upset to speculative calculations before mid-day. Possibly had the increase not been voted disappointment would have been little more pronounced. Its shares had been run up briskly over the last few weeks, particularly since the Steel Corporation's action, and yesterday touched new peak levels. But the stock broke sharply this afternoon under heavy offerings for both long and short account, induced by the belief that it was selling too high for a $6 issue.

Western Pacific Selling

Rather persistent selling noted in the Western Pacific issues of late has been a topic of no little interest in speculative circles. Naturally, it has given rise to more than a little concern over the outlook for the present preferred dividend rate, but feeling today was that payments were not in immediate danger. Some inclined to the belief that the new interests had doubtless finished accumulating their line of stock, thus removing much of the past demand. Gossip today was that the new control planned to spend considerable money for improvements and betterments and that, while in all likelihood the February dividend would be paid, there was a possibility that the rate might be reduced some time next year unless operating results improved materially.

Tractions Turn Weak

Left out in the cold, so to speak, in the matter of bus franchises, the local tractions, with the exception of Third avenue, whose subsidiary won the award for bus operation in the Bronx, were deserted market-wise, also. Granting of the franchise for operation in Manhattan, Queens and Brooklyn to the Equitable Coach Company appeared to take the edge off sentiment toward Brooklyn Manhattan Transit and Interborough, which had been under strong accumulation for months. Both stocks came down sharply in the course of the day to the lowest levels in some weeks.

Recent High Court Rulings Should Brighten Outlook of American Railroads.

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—"The present value of lands plus the present cost of constructing the plant, less depreciation, if any, is a fair measure of the value of the physical elements of the property."

Thus the Supreme Court of the United States in its recent valuation decisions, settles for all time the basis upon which the worth of public-utility properties for rate-making purposes shall be determined.

Even though this ruling was rendered in the cases of a gas and a water company, there is no reason why it should not apply in all public-utility enterprises, including the railroads. If so, the railroads have nothing to fear from a downward revision in rates for some time to come, unless, of course, their earnings show a much larger increase than is now indicated.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has for years been at work, under the authority of the Transportation Act, attempting to find a fair valuation of the railroad properties in this country. In most instances so far the valuations found have been as of 1917, while in others they have been as of 1918.

Many railroad executives have taken the stand that the valuations placed on their railroad properties were too low and have indicated they might ask the courts to settle the dispute. It would seem that the Supreme Court decision if applied to the carriers might well result in materially higher valuations being placed on their properties, particularly in view of the big jump which has taken place in railroad real-estate holdings.

If larger valuations are allowed they would mean much to the transportation companies, both in the matter of rates and in the so-called recapture of earnings. Under the recapture clause the railroads are obliged to turn over to the government one-half of all earnings over 6 per cent on their valuations.

After fixing the method by hich its valuation should be determined, the Supreme Court ruled in the case of the Indianapolis Water Company that a return of 7 per cent on such valuation was a fair one. The Consolidated Gas Company of New York was allowed an 8 per cent return.

Under the Transportation Act a 5 3-4 per cent rate was fixed as a fair return on the railroad properties, or considerably under that allowed by the Supreme Court on gas and water properties.

If it ever comes to a showdown it is possible that the courts may not uphold the Transportation Act in the light of its two latest public-utility decisions.

To carry the thought to the point where the investor becomes particularly interested, should the railroads be allowed a higher rate of return on their investments, and should the recapture rate be raised, the chances of the carriers to enjoy to the fullest extent the prosperity which now seems to be headed their way are materially improved.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—The cotton market had a strong opening today, due to the higher Liverpool cables for both spots and futures on the resumption of business there from the holidays since Friday morning, and also to more rains. The downpour extended from the eastern half of Tennessee to the Atlantic Coast, with many sections getting one to one and one-half inches. This was important, following the snow over Northern Texas and the sleet in other sections of the belt, and the freezing conditions of the last week.

It emphasizes the improbability that the future ginning reports of the census bureau will show enough cotton ginned to make up the government's big crop estimate of 18,818,000 bales without linters.

More covering of shorts and local trade buying advanced the market 6 to 10 points from yesterday's closing advance of 16 to 22 from Friday's final quotations. This brought January contracts here up to near 12 3-4 cents, March 12.90 cents; May, 13.08 cents; July, 13.28 cents and October, 13.40 cents.

After such a good rise as 95 a bale from the recent low levels there was much profit taking after this advance. It continued through the noon hour along with some fresh southern selling.

The pressure sent prices off 18 to 20 points from the top in the early afternoon for some months, but there was still weakness in the market's setback, which was likely to natural reaction from the good advance of the last few days. March receded to 12.72; May, 12.90; July, 13.09; and October, 13.28 cents.

Liverpool spot was up six English points to 6 7-8d there for middling, while futures showed an extreme advance early of 6 to 10 points. Closing cables were quiet and somewhat reactionary for futures from profit taking with last prices showing a net advance of 2 to 5 points on the day.

EXEMPT FROM PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. W. H. Ford, President of the Company, summarizes in his letter to us the following information:

BUSINESS

The Associated Gravel Co., a California Corporation, was recently incorporated for the purpose of acquiring and operating all the plants, properties and assets of the Niles Sand, Gravel & Rock Co., River Rock Gravel Co., Riverbank Sand Co., and the Coyote Gravel Co. The Company's business is the manufacture and sale of crushed rock, crushed gravel, screened gravel and sand, which are basic commodities used in the construction and maintenance of railroads, highways, streets, buildings, bridges, tunnels, dams, and in general, all construction involving the use of concrete. The business is an essential one in every respect, and due to the increased use of concrete in practically all forms of construction, it is anticipated that the volume of business and profits will continue to show a marked growth, as it has in past years. The demand for crushed and screened gravel in the making of concrete has increased very rapidly, as it has been demonstrated that a superior quality can be produced with these materials which are ready for mixing with cement when delivered on the job, in accordance with specifications. Materials produced are sold through dealers in practically every important community in Central California. In addition thereto, the Consolidated companies sell large quantities of materials direct to the consumer and maintain sales offices in San Francisco and Stockton. The importance of the Consolidated companies in this community is evidenced by the fact that they have supplied materials used in the building of the following structures: Standard Oil, Hunter-Dulin, Matson, Pacific Gas & Electric, Southern Pacific, Civic Auditorium, Public Library and Twin Peaks Tunnel.

PROPERTIES

The Company will own and operate two modern sand and gravel plants, situated near Niles, Alameda County, and Tracy, San Joaquin County, together with a modern sand plant near Riverbank on the Stanislaus River. All these plants have unexcelled shipping facilities and due to their strategic locations they have been able to serve not only the metropolitan area in and around San Francisco and the East Bay District, but also the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, at the lowest possible cost. Furthermore, they enjoy a very favorable position from the standpoint of competition, inasmuch as most of the available deposits in Central California, which can be economically operated, have already been appropriated. Properties owned by the Coyote Gravel Co. consist of very extensive deposits of high quality gravel and sand, situated near Coyote in the heart of the Santa Clara Valley. The Company contemplates erecting a modern plant on this property and when completed, it should enjoy a very good market for its products throughout the entire valley and the rapidly growing Monterey Peninsula.

The operating plants have been extensively developed for the economical production of materials, and a large part of the past earnings have been invested in plant extensions and improvements. As a result of these improvements, the operations are largely mechanical, every advantage being taken of labor-saving machinery wherever possible.

SECURITY

This issue of bonds will be a direct obligation of the Associated Gravel Company and will be secured by a First Mortgage or Deed of Trust on all the real property, leaseholds, and improvements to be acquired by the Company and which have been conservatively appraised by the Hammon Engineering Company as having a sound value of $822,756.85. Upon completion of the Coyote Gravel Co.'s plant which will also be pledged as security for this issue, and will cost at least $150,000, the total property valuation will amount to approximately $970,000.

EARNINGS

Net earnings of the Consolidated Companies, after depreciation, depletion and other charges, but before Federal taxes, for three years ended December 31, 1925, as certified to by Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., have averaged $149,238, which is equivalent to more than 5 times the maximum annual interest charges on this bond issue. Estimated earnings for the year 1926 based on operations for the first 9 months compare very favorably with earnings for the past 3 years. Through the operation of the new Coyote plant, upon its completion, it is expected that net earnings will be increased by at least $50,000 per annum.

SINKING FUND

Under the Trust Indenture, the Company agrees to pay to the Trustee for Sinking Fund purposes annually beginning July 15, 1927, 15% of net earnings for the first year; 20% the second year; 25% the third year; 40% the fourth year; 50% for all succeeding years while any of said bonds are outstanding. Based on average earnings for the past three years, but without giving consideration to estimated earnings from the new plant, the Sinking Fund should retire all outstanding bonds in approximately eight years. Furthermore, a fixed minimum sinking fund has been provided for, which will retire 50% of all bonds by maturity. Bonds retired through the operation of the Sinking Fund may be purchased in the open market or called by lot.

INSURANCE

The Trust Indenture provides that the Company will, at all times, during the existence of its bonded indebtedness, agree to insure all buildings, improvements, machinery, tools and equipment against loss or damage by fire to an amount equal to their full insurable value.

The Associated Oil Company's McGonigle No. 1 on the east end of the north dip of the Ventura avenue field, which was completed last Sunday by the Associated Oil Company in what was regarded as strictly wildcat territory, was producing at the rate of about 2800 barrels a day yesterday, an increase of about 100 barrels over its initial rate of output. The well is flowing barefooted, without an oil string, from a depth of 6000 feet, and an addition to the oil is producing about 2,500,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

McGonigle No. 1 is half a mile from the nearest production, the closest producer being the Associated's Lloyd No. 101, located almost due south, which itself is the eastern outpost of the field. An interesting feature of the McGonigle is that it is located only 600 feet west of a wildcat well which the Shell Company drilled to 4443 feet in 1916.

Completion of the McGonigle adds several hundred acres to the proven area of the field and indicates that geological theories as to the nonproductiveness of the north dip of the structure are wrong, at least, as far as the east end of the structure is concerned.

Simultaneously with the completion of the McGonigle, the Associated completed its Hartman No. 5 in semiproven territory, with an output of 1600 barrels a day, which it is holding consistently, with a production of about 2,500,000 cubic feet of gas. This well is also on the north dip of the avenue structure, but on the west end, being located north of the General Petroleum Corporation, and Bolsa Chica properties.

The Associated Oil Company has two other wells which are expected to go on production within the next week. They are the Lloyd No. 32 and Lloyd No. 38, both in the older part of the field.

Make Bailing Test

The Shell Company is making a bailing test of its Vedder No. 3 in the Poso Creek field, according to officials of the company. The crew began bailing yesterday, and the well is expected to go on production today or tomorrow. It was drilled to 1878 feet, the oil string being set at 1834 feet, at which point it is being brought in. The well is the shallowest of the Shell projects in this field so far, and is believed to be higher on the structure than previous wells.

Three New Companies

Three new companies yesterday entered the city field at Huntington Beach, according to field reports, and will drill four new wells, three of them in the area just thrown open for development.

The Crude Oil Company is building two derricks in the western part of the field, one on Ocean avenue between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, and one on Sixteenth street, between Walnut and Ocean avenue. A. A. Byrnes has spotted a location on the east side of Seventeenth street between Orange and Olive avenues, three blocks from the ocean. Miller and Thompson are building rig on Seventeenth street in the older part of the field, five blocks from the ocean.

Gets Small Lease

The Holly Oil Company has signed up the Murray Horne ranch at Yorba Linda, totaling about ten acres, it was reported yesterday. The lease is said to carry a rental of $10 per acre.

After City Land

H. R. Earp and Paul F. McKenzie, Long Beach real estate men, have applied to the Long Beach City Council for a lease on city-owned property adjoining Recreation park in the east end of the city, according to reports from Long Beach. The application affects about eighty acres of probable producing territory. It is understood that the Council is considering the application, although the idea of drilling so close to city park property is not favored in principle.

The territory affected by the application does not include Recreation Park itself which is held by the city from Seiover & McGrath, with a proviso that if petroleum development is permitted on the property, it is to revert to the former owners.

Three New Wells

Three new wells were completed in the Huntington Beach field yesterday, two of them in the center of the present city development and the third the northwestern outpost of the present center of development.

In the city field the Standard Oil Company completed its Crawford No. 3-1 at a depth of 4983 feet, getting 423 barrels a day of 22.3 deg. gravity oil, and its Vickers-Huntington Beach No. 1 at 4400 feet, with a daily production of 322 barrels of 22.3 deg. gravity oil. Both of these wells are in the thick of the derricks in the west end of the city, and their production is not so high as in other completions in the same district in the past.

A better well was the Pacific Electric No. 2, the first of the Bluff wells to be completed by the Standard. This well is located between the railway tracks and the ocean, opposite the Standard's Barley Patch lease, and is the most westerly of the line of wells which the Standard is drilling on the Bluffs property. Its initial production is 716 barrels a day from a depth of 4418 feet.

Spuds New Well

The Mariand Oil Company yesterday spudded in its Bixby No. 8 well in the Seal Beach district, according to officials of the company. This is the fifth active drilling project the Mariand has started since it finished its last producer in that field.

Bixby No. 6 is expected to be the Mariand's next completion at Seal Beach. This well is drilling ahead at about 4300 feet and is expected to be ready to set casing some time within the next week.

New Permits to Drill Issued by State Twelve

Permits have just been granted by the State Mining Bureau for the drilling of twelve new oil wells in California fields. Three are to be drilled at Huntington Beach, two at Seal Beach, one at Ventura, one at Santa Fe Springs, one in Cat Canyon, one on the north line of Los Angeles county and three in the San Joaquin Valley fields. FOR the investment of January funds we recommend any one or all of the four investment suggestions above.

They range from the ultra conservative (Insured First Mortgage Certificates) to first mortgage bonds and first mortgages with a higher yield—to the Common Stock of the National Mortgage Company of California, especially suited to the investor who can afford to buy now for future profit.

INSURED FIRST MORTGAGE CERTIFICATES, maturing in one to five years, to yield 5¼% to 6% carry with them the guarantee of the National Mortgage Insurance Company—guaranteeing the payment of interest and principal. These Certificates are a legal investment for California Savings Banks, Insurance Companies, Trust Companies and trust funds.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS AND FIRST MORTGAGES, maturing in three to fifteen years, to yield 6½% to 8%, are secured by high grade improved income producing California properties, carefully selected by the officers of the National Mortgage Company who have had years of experience in the Real Estate Mortgage business.

In the conviction that its potential earning power justifies the present price of NATIONAL MORTGAGE COMMON, and that the likelihood of materially increased earnings will be reflected in advances of its market value, we recommend the purchase of this stock.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Reactionary price tendencies became more pronounced in today's curb market, which witnessed heavy liquidation for both accounts in sympathy with the break on the "big board." While a few issues sagged to new low levels for the year, there were no signs of acute weakness in any group. Some of the selling undoubtedly was inspired by a desire to register losses under the income tax law, as those transactions must be completed this week in order to be included in 1926 income tax returns.

Revival of rumors regarding a possible break with Mexico over the land laws which go into effect there on January 1, and a new high record in the daily average of crude oil production last week, had a depressing effect on the oil shares. Standard Oil of Ohio broke 6 points and Prairie, C. & Syndicate, Gulf, Tandem and a few others yielded a point or two.

Some of the high-priced specialties broke sharply on odd-lot transactions, particularly American Piano and Ford of Canada, each of which closed 8 points lower. Artificial silk shares were heavy, American Rayon Products and Snia Viscosa sagging to new 1926 low levels. Freshman Radio dropped over a point, but most of the other radio, coal, baking and motor shares moved within rather narrow limits. Trading in the new Union and United Tobacco stock quieted down considerably, pending further details of the terms of exchange for the stock of other companies, but the price held steady around 88.

Public utilities yielded rather readily to pressure, American Gas and Electric, American Superpower B, Electric Bond and Share and Electric Investors all losing a point or two.

The closing prices in continued when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Futures Off Sharply on Bearish Market

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Liquidation by local longs was on in all grains, with December wheat breaking to from Monday's finish, or a low of 1.35¾, while May was off 2c to 1.38¾, and the finish was within a fraction of the bottom, with net losses of 2¾@4c, with December 1.36¼@1.36⅝, May 1.39⅝@1.39¾ and July 1.36@1.36¼, the latter selling at a new low on the crop.

Corn showed a heavy undertone and closed at the bottom, with losses of 1¾@1¾c, with December 71⅛@71¼, May 79⅞ and July 82¾@83. Oats were off 1¾@1¾c, with December 40 and May 47⅝@48, while rye was 1¾@1¾c lower, with December 94¾ and May 99⅝.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the break in wheat, but a weak technical position was disclosed when the market started downward, and with stop-loss orders announced, and selling by locals, who were protecting bids, the break was easily attained. Many of the local operators went out of their lines on the way down.

December wheat, which has been showing the most strength of late, developed independent weakness, and at one time sold about 5c under the May, closing at 1¾c under, against ¼c at the finish on Monday. Foreign markets were weak, with Liverpool off ⅛@¼d at the time it closed, and it is due 2d lower, based on the action of Chicago. Winnipeg was easy from the start and lost 1¼@2c for the day, with late sales reported favorable weather for the movement. The market was gradually crumbled with selling freely at Winnipeg and it lost 2¼@3c.

There was relatively little foreign demand for hard winters reported, while private cables said Argentine and Australian new wheat was pressing for sale abroad. Cables continue to show a disposition to raise estimates on the Argentine exportable surplus. Export sales in all positions at the seaboard were estimated at 500,000 to 550,000 bushels.

General selling developed in corn, weakness in wheat having considerable influence, and there was considerable pressure from local operators. There has been buying on the breaks of late. There was aggressive buying of May at 81 and again at 80 by commission houses on resting orders. Country offerings remain small, and the eastern demand slow. December went to 8¼c under May at the last, while January finished at 67⅞, or 11¾c under the May.

Longs were on the selling side of oats, and with other grains weak, a decline was easily attained. Shorts and holders of bids were the best buyers. The finish was at the bottom. The best buyers of rye on Monday were on the selling side today, but

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Bond prices resumed their upward movement today, although trading continued at a slow pace and buying activity was limited to a selected list of investment issues. Firm money rates again acted as a restraining influence.

United States government obligations displayed the greatest vitality, several issues advancing to new high levels for the year on an unexpected revival of buying interest. Treasury 4 1-4s crossed 110 to a record high on a gain of more than a half-point and the Liberty seco. 4 1-4s, which changed hands in large volume, again sold above 101.

A brisk demand for Rheinelbe Union 7s, with warrants, carrying the bonds up 2 1-4 points to a new peak at 118 1-2, was the feature of trading in the foreign division. The same issue without warrants sold fractionally higher at 99 1-4. Italian public-utility credit 7s were heavily bought in anticipation of new Italian utility financing, and French obligations were firm around the year's best prices.

Fluctuations of the local traction bonds were the center of interest in the domestic list. Third Avenue Railway adjustment 5s opened slightly higher following the publication of reports that the company would participate through a subsidiary in the new bus franchises, but New York Railways income 6s broke more than 2 points as this company was excluded. Most of the other transit issues closed fractionally lower.

New York, Ontario and Western general 4s were strengthened by the payment of a special dividend on the road's stock, but other railroad liens were sluggish.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order stated. To expedite transmission, sales in smaller units are included with the next higher unit.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

GARLAND LINE REPORT AFOOT

Return to Intercoastal Run Held Pending

Basis of Rumor Declared to be Well Founded

Move Held Prompted by Drop in Coal Traffic

Return of the Garland Line to the intercoastal trade is reported in advices to local shipping men from their New York representatives, who claim first-hand information from William Campion, vice-president and general manager of the line.

These reports are that the fleet, comprising six freight steamers will be heading back for the Pacific Coast shortly after the first of the year.

The vessels were pulled off this run a couple of months ago by the attractive rates carrying coal across the Atlantic, but with English miners returning, the bottom dropped out of the emergency coal charters, scores of vessels being turned back by charterers, and it is said two or three Garland ships were among them.

Their return would be a propitious one for the line, as it finds intercoastal trade heavy, rates firm and apparently destined to remain so six months longer at least. Whether the line will join the intercoastal conference is regarded as problematical, as the service heretofore has plied as an independent.

The firmness of the intercoastal situation is reflected by the American Hawaiian Line, all of whose twenty-one ships are active, and need for more is said to be real. Speculation has been rife whether that line will buy or build more ships, but nothing definite has been revealed, although few lines are more able financially to expand than American Hawaiian.

LATIN-AMERICAN TO ADD FASTER VESSELS

Westfal-Larsen not only will stay in the South American trade, but will add faster ships, according to B. G. Sherwood, traffic manager for General Steamship Corporation, Pacific Coast agents for the Norwegian line. Sherwood said he didn't know where reports could be coming from that withdrawal was contemplated, as besides is picking up to such a point a second ship, the Hardanger, is put forward to help carry January business south. The second vessel will probably be the new motorship Brandanger, sailing January 3, direct for Buenos Aires, via the Straits of Magellan.

Samuel Untermeyer, New York attorney, and W. G. Stahlman, president of the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, are among the passengers due tomorrow morning on the Red Star liner Belgenland, which sailed from New York on her third annual special cruise around the world.

Others among the 600 aboard are W. Woodward Baldwin of the New York Times, Dr. C. A. K. Reed, committee president of the Pan-American Medical Congress, and Mrs. W. K. Fallowfield of Windfall, Ind., who won a trip around the world for herself and husband for an essay in the better baby contest conducted.

Also George M. Bisany, Gotham collector of wild animals and birds for zoological gardens, with cut-out monkeys and gazelles in the Far East for return on the liner.

Forty passengers residing in Southern California will join the cruise here, the liner departing the same afternoon. Her cruise will cover 30,000 miles and consume 132 days.

His leap overboard to save a life was the initiation of Ralph Chester Durfee, naturalist, into Pacific waters, preparatory to entering the Catalina swim January 15. Harsequot has just arrived from New York and docks at the American-Hawaiian freighter Minnesotan, when a pipe line exploded pitching several workmen into the water. Hanemon dived thirty feet off the stern of the vessel and pulled one badly burned victim out. He is 17 years of age, but he boasts a mark of nineteen minutes for swimming the Hudson River.

Forty-five hundred bales of cotton went out yesterday for Europe on the British motorship Dinteldyk, which had to leave several hundred bales on the dock for lack of space. She also loaded 1600 tons of borax and refills out of bent and some general cargo. The Kindersijk, of the same line, is due tomorrow to pick up what's left.

Evans & Hoyt are agents for the freighters in the Gulf-Pacific Line will call at San Diego westbound hereafter. They have been putting in Saturdays heretofore.

American-Hawaiian's newly organized fire-fighting brigade, comprising the entire dock personnel, acquitted itself nobly yesterday when a pipe line passing under the dock exploded. Although not organized long enough to rehearse, everyone proceeded immediately to his post; three hose lines manned, reeled into carried to safety and the Pennsylvanian shifted out of the danger zone, according to R. A. Stewart, terminal superintendent.

Los Angeles is receiving twice the amount of cargo carried for all the rest of the Pacific Coast by the Isthmian freighter Pomona, now in port from the east coast. Of the 9,332 tons aboard, more than 4,000 tons are being discharged here, comprising chiefly steel and pipe from Baltimore and Norfolk, and general cargo for New York. The vessel will be in port all week discharging. She is commanded by Capt. J. McPherson, making his first trip on her bridge, via Capt. Hilliard, resigned.

International driver's licenses, otherwise known as trip-tiks, are now being issued to travelers desirous of taking their a ton to Europe, by the General Steamship Corporation, it was announced yesterday by B. SAUSALITO, Dec. 28. (AP)—M. S. Eddy, veteran engineer on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, took a train out of Sausalito today, prepared for a long run up through the north coast country. He had gone but a few miles when death loosened his grip on the throttle. He slumped to the floor and his fireman brought the train to a stop. It is supposed that a heart attack ended the veteran's career.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (P)—The Matson Navigation Company, operating the Matson Line, announced today that, because of the Pacific service heretofore maintained by the Kawaaski-North Pacific Steamship Line, it will take over the regular sailings of this Japanese Line, of which is comprised of two steamers, the Tatsuta Maru and the Hakone Maru.

For the sake of economy, the Matson and Oriental Lines in future will operate jointly, it was announced. The Oriental Line will be discontinued February 1, and the Matson Line will thereafter be the only one operating between the Pacific Coast and Japan.

The Norwegian steamer Talune, which arrived in the dock at San Pablo, was released by the Standard Oil Company of California, after a cargo of petroleum products had been discharged. The vessel will load a cargo of fuel oil for Honolulu.

The Diamond Grain Company has chartered the steamer Yorkmar to load grain at Portland for Europe, and the vessel will arrive in Portland tomorrow for that purpose. The Yorkmar is making a round trip to San Francisco, having arrived here from Portland, bringing a cargo of lumber. She will take the place of the steamer Yarrowdale, which was chartered by the Diamond Grain Company, but which has been withdrawn from the charter, and will be used in the coastwise lumber trade between British Columbia and California ports, while the Arcadia is on dry dock at San Francisco.

The Norwegian steamer Yarrowdale, which arrived at Portland today to load grain for Europe, is the property of the Diamond Grain Company. The vessel was built in 1919 at Westerwicks Sandfiord Mekanisk Verksted, Norway, and is of 5,000 tons dead weight capacity.

Survivor of Sea Tragedy Exonerated as He Tells of Horrible Necessity in Hun

Kelly Cleared Completely by Coroner's Jury

Fisherman Tells of Pact Made as Death Neared

He Carries it Out and Thus Sustains His Life

"We exonerate Eli P. Kelly of all blame for the death of James McKinley," wrote a Coroner's Jury at the County Morgue yesterday in the final official chapter to one of the sea's grimmest stories—the tragedy of two old men cast adrift in the open sea; of how one died and the other lived.

The jury came to its verdict after it had listened to the grim facts of the case from Eli Kelly, the one who lived.

Guided in his recital by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Egan, the 69-year-old Redondo Beach fisherman, although still weak from his experiences, told in a clear voice all that his memory recorded of what was a maze of days of horror.

He told of how he and his friend McKinley, started on the fishing trip and of the storm that blew them out to sea, disabling their small motor and tearing their sails to shreds. Then day after day of struggle against the pangs of thirst and hunger, a struggle to which McKinley, also near-70 years of age, was unequal, and weakening, became maddened and verged on insanity.

Kelly's story reached its climax when he described how the two reached an agreement that, in the event one should die, the other might assuage his hunger from the body of the dead. McKinley died and Kelly said he lived only because of the grim agreement was kept.

Others who testified at the inquest included George Micheles, fisherman, and Constable L. Moricich, who told of finding Kelly lying on the Catalina Island beach beside a half-eaten piece of cactus plant. County Autopsy Surgeon Webb testified his examination showed that McKinley had died of exposure, starvation and pneumonia.

Copy of Ashley Will Reveals Property Here

Disposition of a California estate estimated as worth $110,000 is involved in the filing for probate yesterday of a copy of the will of James B. Ashley, former head of the Union Stock Yards of Chicago, and reputed to have been a multimillionaire, who died in Monrovia on October 17. The copy was filed by Attorneys Dunn and Thurgeon of Monrovia, following the filing of the original document in Chicago.

Ashley's California holdings included notes, stocks and other securities valued at $71,000, and $39,000 worth of real estate.

This will, after certain bequests to relatives and friends, asks that one-half the residue be given to various charities in Dutchess county, New York, and one-half to other charities in Illinois.

RESIDENTS ASK LIGHTS

Property owners yesterday petitioned the City Council to install marbelite ornamental lighting posts on Superba avenue from Lincoln Boulevard to Penmar avenue.

ACTOR SETS SAIL FOR SOUTH

Story Sought for Next Screen Feature

John Barrymore Going to Sea

JOHN BARRYMORE yesterday shoved off on a cruise that will take him thousands of miles before he returns to Los Angeles. Sailing from the local harbor aboard his private craft, Mariner, he announced he will not set foot on land again until he has selected story material for his next screen feature.

In addition to provisions for an extended cruise along the South American coast, the Mariner carried hundreds of books, historical and classical works. Barrymore was accompanied only by his crew and his secretary.

The Barrymore yacht is a sturdy and seaworthy craft and holds the Southern California-Honolulu sailing record. The annual cruise last year arranged by the California Yacht Club failed to develop a yacht to lower the Mariner's record of eleven days and fourteen hours made in 1923 between Santa Barbara and Honolulu. The Mariner won third place in the last cruise.

HAYNES TRIO DEATH QUIZ CONCLUDED

District Attorney Finds Nothing Contradictory of Verdict at Inquest

The District Attorney's office will make no further investigation into the deaths of Mrs. Lorraine Haynes and her two children, Lorna, 8 years of age, and Robert Leon, 11 months, who were found dead in bed in the family home, 6910 Menlo avenue, on the 20th inst., Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, head o. homicide prosecution, announced last night.

An investigation by the District Attorney was requested by Mrs. L. Wilson, a sister of Mrs. Haynes, who also asked that cremation of the bodies be halted. Investigator King and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Egan reported they found no evidence other than that originally produced at the inquest, which held the mother responsible for the death of the two children and her self-destruction. The children were strangled with Christmas stockings.

The bodies were discovered by the husband and father, Merle G. Haynes. He was questioned at the time by police, who also filed a report that the mother was responsible for the children's and her own death.

TWO MORE DIE IN EXPLOSION

remains are at Reardon's funeral parlors, was single and about 28 years of age. He had been working in the Ventura field only a few months. It is reported that his body is to be sent to Merrouge, La., his former home, for burial, probably after funeral services for the five are conducted here. Officers and employees of the General Petroleum Corporation, it is understood, are to participate in the services here for the five men.

McLenden was 29, and had been employed for some time at the absorption plan. He leaves a widow, who came to Ventura yesterday to make arrangements for having his body removed to Long Beach for burial.

Kimes, who was about 40, was a fireman on the boilers opposite the absorption plant. He was single, and it was not known at noon today whether funeral services are to be conducted here or at Hanford, the home of his brother.

Dimock was 23, and leaves his widow and two small children. He was an employee in the absorption plant at the time of the tragedy. Funeral services for him will be conducted at Lompoc.

Le Jeune, who was about 29, leaves his widow and parents, the latter living in Van, Mo. His body will be held here until his parents arrive from Missouri to return there with it for burial.

With only a mass of cold wreckage left on the site of the absorption plant, work was begun by the corporation this morning to rebuild the plant, which originally cost more than $1,000,000. Dave Carruthers, general superintendent of the corporation here, said this morning that no estimation of the property damage had been made as yet and would not be announced until the insurance appraisers had completed their work. It was generally understood among officials of the company here, however, that the property loss can be estimated in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Supt. Carruthers said no solution as to the cause of the blast had been arrived at. He also said that the General Petroleum Corporation headquarters here had made a careful check of all its men working on various jobs in the field and that every man had been accounted for. They scouted any idea that any man could have been burned to death in the plant without the company having found out anything about it.

FILIPINOS IN ORATORICAL ENDEAVORS

Prizes Awarded for Best Addresses in Contest at Los Angeles Church

"Heroism of Filipino Teachers" was the theme of an oration which won for Anselmo Edralin first prize at the second annual oratorical contest for Filipinos, under auspices of the Filipino Christian Fellowship last night at the First Congregational Church.

The award was made by a committee of judges comprised of William H. Hensey, department of public speaking, Hollywood High School, Kenneth S. Beam, executive secretary of the Council on International Relations, and William R. Barber, instructor of public speaking, Southwestern University.

Primo Quevedo received second prize, and Mariano Quitulio, with the oration, "The Battle of Manila Bay and Its Significance," won third honors. Quevedo's subject was "International Peace Court."

Mrs. Nellie R. Lord made the presentations. Amado E. Dino, chairman of the oratorical contest committee, presided, and Felipe Innocencio, president of the Filipino Christian Fellowship, acted as temporary chairman.

Five contestants were entered in the finals, having survived the first elimination series on the 13th inst., when four orators were dropped from the field.

they suffered their worst burns, they said. Wilson said that the men had just completed shifting the loaded gasoline line and the junction of the quadruple main, and that it was residue from the empty line which exploded from the acetylene torch.

J. M. Martin, pipe-line superintendent of the General Petroleum Corporation, began an investigation of the explosion.

SWINDLE ENDS DOMINO GAME

Player Declares He Was Beaten Out of $3500

Opponent Jailed on Fraud and Larceny Charge

Investor Could Find No Trace of Steel Company

An acquaintance begun at the Y. M. C. A. through a common interest in the game of dominos resulted in Mead G. Laughlin, residing at the Bible Institute, parting with $3500, according to a complaint issued against Paul G. Cecil, 916 Georgia street, by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fisher yesterday. Cecil, who is in the County Jail, is charged with one count of larceny by trick and device and one count of obtaining money under false pretenses, covering the same set of asserted facts.

Laughlin is said to have made an affidavit saying he was induced to invest the money in a concern called the International Salvage Steel Company, Hoboken and Liverpool, capitalized at $700,000,000. He said he was told a group of men had a contract with the United States government for the purchase of ships, the steel of which would be salvaged. The concern possessed a secret process for salvaging scrapped steel, it was set forth.

Cecil told him, Laughlin said, that one Charles J. Johnson was both the president of the company and a prominent member of the Shipping Board, and as such had access to important officials. Laughlin said he was told the returns would be large.

Laughlin asserted he turned the money over to Cecil several weeks ago, and has been unable to find any trace of it or of the $700,000,000 corporation.

COLD WEATHER WILL CONTINUE

and other plants have not been injured, it was stated. Mountains bordering the valley on the west are still covered with snow and motorists traveling between here and the Coast report deep drifts along the highway in many places.

Ice-bound in zero weather, Tehachapi, east of Bakersfield in the Sierras, is experiencing the discomforts and pleasures of a severe eastern winter. Fifty per cent of the town's plumbing has been crippled by bursting water pipes, it is estimated.

The entire Tehachapi Valley is frozen, while the streets of Tehachapi are covered with hard-packed snow and the arterial highway is coated with dirty ice. Thermometers of the mountain town cracked Sunday, when the temperature dropped to zero and a sparkling clear day yesterday could do no more than raise the average temperature to 6 deg. above.

A survey yesterday shows that the recent cold days have not been harmful to the citrus orchards in the western end of San Fernando Valley. On some of the colder nights smudge pots were used as an aid to the crops. There are about 1838 acres of orange and lemon orchards in the west part of the valley. This season these produced 183,600 boxes of fruit. Under favorable conditions, the yeid for 1927 will be much heavier, due to new groves just coming into bearing.

PORTERVILLE SHIVERS; NO DAMAGE REPORTED

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 28.—For the second time this season temperature dropped to 27 deg. above zero this morning and was accompanied by frost like snow. While some sections of the county report even lower temperature, it is not believed any special damage has been done. Valencia growers generally have been using smudge pots, where such protection is available, during the cold spell for a few hours each morning. Christmas morning saw a record of 27 deg., lowest until then for the season. It climbed to 36 the day after and stood at 30 yesterday. Usually temperature of around 26 and 25 is necessary several mornings before any special loss is felt.

SLIGHT RISES IN MERCURY EXPECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (Exclusive)—Slight rises in temperature are looked for tomorrow by the United States Weather Bureau along the Pacific Coast. Rain clouds have appeared in the North Pacific. These are moderating the cold which has prevailed since Christmas and may bring a precipitation tomorrow to Washington, Oregon and the extreme northern part of California.

The barometer stands unusually high west of the Rockies, but is falling rapidly on the north coast, according to Forecaster T. R. Reed of the Weather Bureau. Temperatures are below normal in the plateau region and heavy frosts are reported in the California interior valleys.

"A disturbance of marked intensity," says Reed, "is developing off the Washington coast and moving inland, under the influence of which rains will occur west of the Cascade Mountains and on the Northern California coast with snow in the east part of Oregon and in Northern Idaho. Generally fair weather will prevail in other parts of the far western States with continued cold weather in Nevada and heavy frosts in central and Southern California. Southwest storm warnings are displayed at all seaports in Oregon and Washington.

FILM PRESS AGENT BECOMES BENEDICT

MAXWELL SHANE OF WARNERS TAKES BRIDE AND HIES AWAY ON AUTO TRIP

Maxwell Shane, press agent for a local motion-picture studio, occasionally puts pieces in the paper about studio events. But he neglected to publicize one event that took place last week.

Perhaps he was busy or excited or perhaps he hoped to suppress the item. Or perhaps next week an item will be mailed to The Times. It will probably read like this:

"Maxwell Shane, press agent for Warner Brothers studio yesterday was quietly married to Miss Evelyn Finkenstein. Immediately after the ceremony, which was performed at the Hollywood Women's Club, the couple left on a motor tour of Northern California. Upon returning to the city about January 2, Mr. Shane will resume his duties."

BIRTHDAY OF WILSON OBSERVED

Five Hundred Participate in Memorial Service to War-time President

Tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson was paid by men and women of Los Angeles last night at the Woodrow Wilson birthday party, sponsored by the Women's Democratic League of Southern California and the Men's Democratic Luncheon Club. The affair was given at the home of Mrs. Stephen L. Wiley, 936 South Magnolia avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo were special guests of honor.

Short talks eulogizing the former President for his ideals and achievements were made by Zach Lamar Cobb, Boris V. Markovin and Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, after which a musical program was given, under the direction of Miss Louise Massey, formerly of the Boston Conservatory faculty. Miss Jeanette Overton Campbell, president of the league, also read an original poem, "A tribute—the Birthday of Woodrow Wilson."

The Wiley home was appropriately decorated for the occasion and more than 500 persons attended.

VEGETARIAN HIKER HERE FROM EAST

Walked 3400 Miles in 180 Days and Marvels at Southland Paradise

Sustained on a leisurely transcontinental hike by a strict vegetarian diet, especially prepared for him, Anton Koepke, 54 years of age, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from New York to deliver the season's greetings to Dan O'Leary, 87-year-old champion walker of the world.

Mr. Koepke, who is a naturopath of Dover, N. J., left New York on June 3, last, and made the 3400 miles in 180 days, of which time he walked probably 120 days.

Without attempting to establish a record the pedestrian leisurely set out across the continent to prove walking one of the most healthful exercises. At the start of the hike Mr. Koepke planned to subsist on raw wheat and water, but was forced to abandon that diet a short way out of New York because of the strenuousness of the trip.

Arriving in Southern California from the snow-drifted Middle West the hiker marveled at the midwinter sunshine, oranges and flowers here, and declared it was "like walking through a dream."

His first move on arriving was to look up Mr. O'Leary, the veteran champion, extend him the greeting of numerous hiking clubs and receive congratulations at the completion of the transcontinental hike.

During his journey, Mr. Koepke declared, he refused numerous proffers of "lifts" from westbound automobiles. He will remain in Southern California over the holidays.

NURSE HELD AS SUSPECT IN FORGERY

Indian Woman's Arrest Follows Investigation in Contested Will Case

Annie Dupes, 65-year-old Indian nurse, was placed in the County Jail under $2500 bond late yesterday on a suspicion-of-forgery charge involving a will disposing of $250,000 in which she and another woman were the chief beneficiaries.

Authorities indicated that the Indian woman's arrest, which came as a climax to a prolonged investigation and a bitter court fight, would be followed by other arrests shortly. In all, it was reported, a half-dozen or more persons are believed by the District Attorney's office to be involved in the purported forgery.

Back in April, 1926, the questioned will made by John W. Smith, a taxtitle buyer, came up for scrutiny in the Superior Court. It disposed of accumulated property valued at near $250,000 and Mrs. Dupes and Jessie Truitt were made the chief heirs. Mrs. Dupes, in addition, was named executrix. Both women were formerly employed by Smith and he frequently took title to realty he purchased in their names.

Contestants asserted that they were the children of the decedent and that his name was in reality John M. Phillips. The document was questioned and a battle of handwriting experts developed. The court, after a four-weeks hearing, finally held, however, that the will was valid.

Court Upholds Conviction of Ex-Policeman

The conviction of Thomas P. Frazer, former traffic officer of National City, on charges of bribery was sustained yesterday in an optnion by Justice Thompson of the Second District Court of Appeal, Division Two.

According to the opinion, Frazer arrested C. C. Young, chauffeur of Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, September 17, 1925, on charges of reckless driving and drunkenness and accepted a $100 check from Mrs. Jacobs in return for the release of the prisoner on $100 bail also provided by the employer in the form of a check. The check was deposited by Frazer to open a personal account in a San Diego bank, according to the testimony, the opinion states.

In appealing from the conviction, attorneys for the defendant argued that the release of the chauffeur was a judicial function outside the jurisdiction of a police officer and therefore he could not be convicted of bribery. The Appellate Court held that Frazer was indirectly invested with authority to release prisoners on bail.

JOYRIDERS TAKE HUNDRED CARS

Thieves Exemplify Christmas Spirit by Borrowing Many Autos

Christmas spirit, according to Inspector Finlinson of the police bureau of public safety, was exemplified the 25th and 26th inst., by the stealing of 110 automobiles from the streets of Los Angeles. The inspector told the radio audience of KHJ joyriders, who abandoned the cars after taking a ride, were responsible for most of the thefts.

"Such people do not care what inconvenience is suffered by the owner," he continued. "They figure the police will find and return the car. The law says it is a felony to take a car without the owner's consent. It is our laxness in administering punishment that lowers respect for laws."

Frederick Warde, for years a member of the Mission Play, will be the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon of the City Club at noon today. His topic will be "Beauties Forgotten."

BEACH CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

A meeting of the members of the Edgewater Beach Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Edgewater Auditorium to discuss the advisability of members taking over its management. Ingle Carpenter, chairman of the investigation committee of the Edgewater Club, which now is in the hands of the receivers, called the meeting.

ORDERS ON ART CONFUSE BOARD

citizens who come to learn why their $10 assessments have grown to $46.82.

The Art Commission's letter to the board opened the way to participation by the citizens who are paying for the City Hall as "well as $25,000,000 a year to maintain the city government and $30,000,000 a year in public improvement assessments to have something to say about their municipal building. True, what some of the citizens who have watched the city government in action might want to say about the city government might not pass the censors and therefore could not be engraved in marble at the new building.

The commission suggested an inscription over the mantle in the Mayor's office, to contain thirty or forty letters. Over the door of the Council chamber there is space for an inscription of twenty-five letters. The words "pugilistic arena" would therefore fit this Council entrance space, but would doubtless be rejected by the Board of Public Works out of deference to the Councilmen.

Over the north entrance to the City Hall there is space for an inscription sixty-three feet long, to contain seventy to eighty letters, and equal space for a south entrance inscription. Thus the contest is open, and citizens after examining their tax bills and assessment bills, may spend an enjoyable hour writing or suggestions for the words to be carved in those spaces on the walls of the new City Hall.

Over the west entrance of the new City Hall, Art Commissioner Benton suggested a bas relief panel sixty feet long, nine feet high, showing a procession of twenty-five figures of the founders of America from Columbus to the present. It is feared that the Mayor and Council will make every effort to obtain places in this procession for themselves and their friends, including Kent K. Parrot.

Mussolini Interested in Views on Italy

Interviewing a Dictator

Premier Mussolini with Miss Helen Bullock standing behind him and a member of the party.

INTERVIEWS with Mussolini, it develops, are not necessarily confined to statesmen, newspaper men and Will Rogers. Even college girls with no official mission may be admitted into the august presence for a friendly chat. That was the experience enjoyed by Miss Helen Bullock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bullock of 627 South Plymouth Boulevard, who returned about a week ago from a six months' trip in Europe.

The chaperon of the party of which Miss Bullock was a member not only spoke Italian fluently, but also had known Italy's dictator on a previous visit—hence the open sesame to the situation. Mussolini regretted that he could not accept an invitation to dinner with the young ladies, but he said he would receive them in his office in the Chigi Palace.

"So," Miss Bullock said, "very much thrilled and somewhat awed, we spent about a half hour with him while he asked questions of our chaperon. Did we think that Italy was improved since the last time we had been there? Had we been out to the new school of music in Tivoli? What did we think of it? And many more, all of which had only to do with Italy. He seems to think of nothing but what pertains to Italy and he said that he was by no means through with his work there yet. He was very much pleased, too, when several of the girls said they intended to attend the music school in Tivoli, for he is very proud of it."

Miss Bullock also said the meeting was simple and unpretentious, with no display of pomp or ceremony, and in spite of not speaking the English language, the Premier was most cordial to them and keenly interested in their impressions and reactions to Italy.

Designer for United Artist Theater Here

C. H. Crane, one of America's leading theater designers, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, bringing with him finished plans for the United Artists' new $3,000,000 motion-picture house to be built in South Broadway, between Ninth and Tenth streets.

Work of construction will be started as soon as the formal approval of Joseph M. Schenck and other members of the board of United Artists has been secured.

Crane will submit the plans today to Lou Anger, recently named by Schenck to head the construction activities of the chain of theaters to be built by United Artists.

The new structure is to be a height limit building and in addition to housing the theater will include offices. The architecture will be Spanish-Gothic. It is the first of the string of United Artists Theaters.

SHOVELS BITE INTO SITE OF SEARS-ROEBUCK EDIFICE

PUFFING and groaning from their task of biting thousands of pounds of earth from the foundation site of the great building to be erected by Sears, Roebuck Company at Boyle avenue and Ninth street, three steam shovels were set to work yesterday on the eight and one-half-acre tract on which the structure will rise. Three more giant steam shovels will be started this morning.

Another large building of the Sears-Roebuck Pacific Coast branch will be started soon on Slauson, between Menlo and Vermont avenues. The two units when completed will represent an investment of about $4,500,000. Both buildings will be completed by next August, according to officials of the Schofield Engineering Company which has been awarded the contract. Southern California materials will be used in construction.

More than 1600 persons will be employed by Sears-Roebuck Company in the operation of its Los Angeles branch.

PAIR HELD FOR THEFT

Stealing of Auto and Burglary of Home Charged to Youths

Arrested in possession of an automobile asserted to have been stolen in Oakland on October 14, last, Eldred Markely, 27 years of age, and Leslie Marquart, 20, both of 1808 South Main street, yesterday were found to possess several pawn tickets, according to the report of Detective Lieutenants Baldridge, Champion and Wilde.

Investigation, according to the officers, revealed the tickets were for a radio and several other articles stolen from the home of Mrs. J. N. Ratteree, 3714 Effie street. The two men were booked on suspicion of burglary.

Girl Maintains Liquor in House Just Collateral

Miss Betty Carroll, 24 years of age, was arraigned yesterday before Municipal Judge Turney charged with possession of a quantity of liquor. The girl was arrested on North Hobart Boulevard, at a house which police say is the home of Harry (Mileaway) Thomas, by a police liquor squad headed by Capt. O'Brien. A five-gallon can of alcohol was seized. The arrest was made Monday night.

According to the report of the arresting officers, the girl admitted ownership of the liquor, saying that it had been given her by a man as security for money he owed her.

Thomas was not at the house at the time of the arrest and no charge was placed against him by the officers. Thomas's ability to always furnish an alibi that he was some other place at the time of a police raid gave rise to his nickname of "Mileaway."

Miss Carroll asked time to arrange for a lawyer and to enter a plea to the charges of possession. Judge Turney granted the two days allowed by law and set the case for tomorrow morning for plea.

The girl is at liberty on $750 bail.

BLONDES ARE SLIGHTED
Anyhow, the judge decides that a man who marries two brunettes is no gentleman.

VERY OLD STUFF
If Tyrus Cobb bet on a ball game seven years ago the statute of limitations would shut off argument by this time.

STILL THE GAME GOES ON
The wardens say that game is increasing and that the shooting should be good. Whether they are speaking of craps or ducks is neither here nor there.

NOT GUILTY
The juries this year may be open-minded, but they are not open to conviction. Measured by the not-guilty verdicts that are being reported it would seem that the wrong cases are being tried.

CASHED THE ADVENTURE
A Scotch golfer has recovered damages as a result of being injured by a ball driven by another player. In this case the national predilection for thrift seems to have won against the accepted theories of sportsmanship.

A HE-TOWN
When El Paso entertained the Texas school teachers recently the Commercial Club urged the citizens to "remain on the streets until 9:30 or 10 o'clock" so the pedagogues would think it a he-town. "Ma" has certainly tamed Texas.

RADIO IN RUSSIA
The soviet government in Russia is putting radio sets in all libraries and reading-rooms, but the trouble is that nothing can be broadcast unless it bears the Bolshevik birthmark. The government is still only by and for Moscow dictators.

WRONG NUMBER
The telephone girls say that they do not give a wrong number as often as the subscriber does, and if this thing ever comes to a count it will be found that the girls are right. Considering the voices that they have to go up against they are mighty accurate.

NATIONAL SAFETY
Not a single passenger was killed on the Union Pacific system last year out of the millions carried. That is a reason why the road has been awarded the Harriman medal for conspicuous service in the cause of public safety. As the situation stands today riding on an average American railroad train is the safest avenue in which a human being may be found. It beats staying in bed at home.

WOMEN DO THE WORK
When the specialists want to put over any campaign in the fields of sanitation, health of social welfare they try to get the women behind it. They provide the great house-cleaning group and they are ready to work in the city, State or nation along these reformatory lines. When there is any shining up to be done there is a wide willingness that the women be permitted to do the work. That is where the best efforts of the woman in politics also may be exercised.

PERILS OF PLENTY
Col. Lowden finds that the greatest hardships of the American farmer come with a bumper crop rather than a lean one. When the fields are rich with the harvest and the barns are bursting with grain the market is all shot to pieces and the world doesn't seem to care for the products of the soil. That is why it is found necessary to spread the results of a corpulent year over a thin one. The farmer must pread his book-keeping over several seasons instead of balancing the ledger with one.

IN THE SMOKER
The Illinois Central Railroad has just added a very classy line of smoking cars to its rolling stock and the women seemed to be the very first to appreciate hem. A Chicago University professor who commutes on the line says that he found thirty-seven women occupying seats in a smoker on a recent morning trip. The ladies were not all smoking, but the professor says that it is characteristic of the sex to wish to ride where they can make some man stand up. A lot of the women took to the cars because they were shinier and looked snappy.

THE MIDNIGHT SWIM
More than 500 members of one of the famous beach clubs have agreed to mark the coming of the new year by taking a midnight plunge into the hospitable waters of the vast Pacific. There's a mild chance for the development of cold feet on the part of some of the volunteers before the hour dawns. The ocean is quite companionable under the ardent rays of the sun, but in the cool gray night its embraces are not so amiable. Midnight bathing in this section is both possible and permissible, but has never been particularly popular as a midwinter pastime.

BUSINESS AS USUAL
Sounding a note of "conservative optimism" thirteen of the nation's outstanding industrial chieftains and financiers have issued a forecast on the well-being of business in 1927. After listening to the pulse of commerce they announce that there is no reason why the new year should not be another link in the chain of prosperity which began in 1924.

They point to the absence of inflated prices, high inventories and over-expanded credit, the usual forerunners of business depression, as evidence of the soundness of business conditions. The conservativeness in the predictions of continued prosperity seems born of the feeling that both 1925 and 1926 set such high marks that it would be folly to maintain that the peak could be sustained.

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, cites America's wealth of resources, peace in the ranks of labor, improvement of banking facilities and cash balances as basis for belief that "there is no reason why prosperity during 1927 should be seriously interrupted."

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, centers his faith in continued good times in the "ability of business concerns to finance themselves with comparatively little recourse to bank credit." He discounts the fear expressed over the huge volume of securities owned by banks by explaining that the expansion of these holdings has been due to gold imports increasing fund supplies faster than they could be absorbed in the ordinary channels, and denies that the banking position thus far has been impaired. He predicts that the savings of the country will absorb this large floating supply and the banks will turn to commercial paper.

W. C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, reviews the achievements of the oil industry in increasing gasoline production 29 per cent through the employment of new refining methods and declares that fact alone is proof of the adequacy of petroleum supplies to meet the increased needs of the future.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, declares that "our material prosperity is so remarkable that business men are coming from all parts of the world to study our methods and our very prosperity makes foreign manufacturers cast envious eyes at our markets." He urges protection of these markets to an extent never before considered necessary through the closest co-operation of industries, farmers, bankers, Wall-street men and ranchers. "We have the greatest country in the world and with intelligent effort, a feeling of humility and with faith in one another nothing is beyond the power of achievement," he concludes.

Adolph Zukor, president of Famous Players-Lasky, sees a firm basis for continued prosperity in the changed mental attitude of business concerns and individuals. He recalls the fast pace during the war and immediately after and points to the more intelligent spending that characterizes commercial dealings today.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation, announces that 1926 has exceeded any previous year in volume of automobile production and sales, that domestic demand has broken all records and that the export business has been the largest in history. He points to the growing volume of replacement business and the steadily increasing overseas demand as an offset to any reduction of new users for the coming year and declares there is no reason for believing that 1927 will not be a very satisfactory year in the automobile business.

William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Company, and Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central Lines, agree that the railroad situation as a whole is more satisfactory than it has been in a long time. Prosperity has brought better service and both believe that 1927 will bring an increased feeling of reciprocal satisfaction over the situation on the part of the public, shippers and the railroad companies, and increased earnings for the railroad companies will result.

Alvin W. Krech, chairman of the board of trustees of the Equitable Trust Company, says, "Saner methods are being applied to installment buying and selling and the business weather man may confidently predict smooth seas for 1927."

The greatest factors in assuring prosperity are steady employment and stable prices and these we have with us. The business sky at the dawn of 1927 finds not a cloud on the horizon.

TICKET SPECULATING
Now it is reported that, in spite of precautions, many tickets for the New Year's Day football game at the Pasadena Rose Bowl have fallen into the hands of speculators and that the disappointed thousands who failed to be among the very early applicants are being offered $5 seats at $25 and better ones at even more extortionate prices. If these reports are true, somebody has blundered in a way likely to have a bad effect upon the Crown City.

The principal difficulty, of course, is that more than twice as many persons wish to see this particular game as the bowl will accommodate. Had such a state of affairs been foreseen when the Rose Bowl was built a few years ago it might readily have been constructed twice its present size. This would, of course, have been possible only at a great additional expenditure of money, and the Tournament of Roses Association preferred to err on the side of conservatism.

No doubt those in charge of the ticket sale took precautions to place the tickets, so far as is humanly possible, in the hands only of bona fide purchasers. But the ticket speculator is wily, and if he has outguessed the Rose Bowl committee they are not the first to suffer in the same way.

Rumor is probably mistaken in declaring that "thousands" of tickets for the Rose Bowl spectacle are in the scalpers' hands. A few dozen or a few hundred is more likely nearer the truth. Thousands of tickets in the hands of speculators, of course, could hardly come there except by the collusion of the management, and this is unthinkable. If any evidence of such a state of affairs came to light, this probably would be the last popular New Year's Day game. No one is better aware of this than the Tournament of Roses officials, who are too jealous of the reputation of their city to allow such a thing.

Most people are unaware that the Federal government is actively interested in the matter of ticket speculation, since there is a war tax on speculators' profits, and there may be heavy penalties if the scalpers are caught.

JEKYLL MEETS HYDE
Across a Christmas table the two elements of society have met and traded experiences. The Mr. Hyde of that dark world bounded by the shadow of the law and the Dr. Jekyll of a more genteel sphere have sat side by side, looked dispassionately at crime as a sociological phenomenon and arrived at some conclusions. In Chicago real "tough birds" beyond the pale hobnobbed with perfect freedom and informality at a special dinner with men esteemed as desirable citizens. The occasion was arranged for a full and frank discussion of law evasion and law breaking by experts on both sides—men who had broken all laws and men bent on preserving the law. Words were not minced on either side.

While they may have guarded some of the more intimate secrets of their craft, members of the shifty-eyed contingent from the nether side nevertheless spoke out with amazing candor on their attitude toward society and the barriers erected against outcasts. They voiced with the authority of intimate experience views on penal institutions, their conduct and effect. Many expressed a desire to go straight if the opportunity were afforded and old animosities of police and other guardians of the law were forgotten. Some hints were dropped more or less defiantly that perhaps the line of demarcation between the two elements represented at the dinner was not so definite as the gentler gentlemen supposed. Circumstances alter cases was the plain intimation of several hard-faced persons whose most pleasant pursuit probably is that of altering cases—twenty-four bottles to each.

What the sociologists learned probably was nothing that they did not already know. They saw men who, either from choice or necessity, had flaunted the dictates of organized society and had been punished therefor or else had outwitted retribution. They saw repentance, arrogance, defiance, wistfulness, discontent—the whole gamut of emotions and lack of emotions. The chief benefit of the experience was the opportunity afforded for an intimate view of actual living criminal specimens. If the occasion was arranged merely as a unique gathering there was no excuse for pandering to a morbid curiosity. If, on the other hand, the experts who have heard the free testimony of those "in on the know" apply the lessons learned from a careful study and comparison of the views expressed real good may be done. The criminal must be understood to be combatted successfully. Possibly some of the less vicious characters at the gathering sensed that by a true exposition of their feelings they might benefit themselves without hurting any of their confreres. A regenerated criminal can be of great assistance in the war on conditions which produced him and his ilk.

Modern methods point unerringly to the fact that the battle with the underworld must be fought with the weapons of the underworld. Guile must be met with guile, violence with violence, criminal acts with certain punishment. The more that is known of the underworld, its systems and its characters' feelings the better able will preventive and corrective organizations be to function fully and efficiently.

If the Jekyll-Hyde dinner has done anything to throw new light on the complex problems of crime-fighting it will have been worth vastly more than the price of the turkey with which Dr. Jekyll entertained his blackjack-carrying other self.

THE TURKISH VEIL
The women of Turkey wanted to get rid of the veil that law and custom required them to wear in public. Now that the veil has been absolutely forbidden them, many of the matrons want them back. Some dames find themselves more beautiful and popular with them than without. The Americans would certainly be gallant enough to permit the ladies to decide for themselves. The new government of Turkey might be this considerate.

DARING YOUTH
Significant and uplifting, in various ways, was the California State Congress of Religious Education which recently closed its annual conference in Los Angeles. Not futile argument, but frank discussion of modern problems marked the various sessions at which addresses were given by representative educators and ministers of California and other States.

Especially significant was the sentiment voiced by various speakers to the effect that youth today is often misunderstood and misinterpreted, that this is one of the most interesting, intellectual and moral generations in history and that it behooves the adult world to awaken to the needs of modern youth and seek ways to supply them.

Scores of speakers pointed to the fact that parents are often to blame for the trend of irresponsible thought and conduct sometimes manifested by young men and women who, because of their strength, courage and intellectual capacity, must seek a way of expression. However, it was shown that, generally, the youth of today is not less moral and clean, but stronger, more wholesome and better equipped than the youth of past generations.

Exceptionally interesting were the addresses given by Dr. Herbert Martin of Drake University and Prof. William N. Lewis of the George Washington University, who praised the youth of today for its intellectual daring, its fearless questioning of old theories and even accepted facts in the realms of science and religion.

"Youth is weary of quarrels of semi-scientists and narrow theologians on non-essential issues," declared Dr. Lewis. "Personally, I do not care whether my daughter believes the maternal ancestor of man was a rib or an amoeba, but I do want her to realize that the philosophy of the Galilean is the greatest influence in the march of progress."

If such conferences as the one just conducted do not bring to us a perfect understanding of our young people they at least are helping to awaken us to the fact that for many years we have somewhat misunderstood them, and this knowledge will tend to inspire us with a desire to know them better and help them more.

TOPICS AND TROPICS
By James J. Montague

When through the towering tropic trees
The sun's last rays are slanting,
It must be nice to sit at ease
And hear the python panting.
It must be fine, when far and near,
The tropic rain is pouring,
To lie inside a tent and hear
The great gorilla roaring.

One stales with idleness at home,
Whereas the daring rangers
Who never hesitate to roam
Amid the awful dangers
Of lions, panthers, snakes and worse,
Which populate the tropics,
Can always charmingly converse
On interesting topics.

Afar from cities, mills and marts—
The life that you and I know—
They've dodged the pygmy's poisoned darts
And faced the raging rhino.
They've shooed the deadly tsetse fly,
They've taken dreadful chances
With husky hippopotami
And furtive fer-de-lances.

We have not known the serpent's hug
Nor felt the lion biting,
Our conversation is but smug
And tame and unexciting,
Yet still somehow we do not chafe
For perils to go questing,
We think it's wiser to be safe,
Although uninteresting.

JUST RUMINATIN'
By The Foothill Philosopher

Wine is a mocker, but bootleg liquor is a murderer.

Jealousy is the sincerest and most dangerous form of praise.

A real home is not what some men and women make it.

Truth, to most of us, is that which we would like to see established and which we usually hypnotize ourselves into believing already exists.

Love may be the fulfilling of the law, but pardoned and paroled prisoners seem to constitute the outcome of most of the laws passed for the protection of society.

There is nothing wrong about self-love, but many of us employ erroneous methods in the attempt to obtain for ourselves the best that life has to offer. Sympathy and service are self-expansion. Narrow selfishness, which seeks to profit at the expense of others, is suicidal.

Modern philosophers, psychologists, economists and spiritual teachers are beginning to realize the fallacies in their complex systems of thought and conduct and are discovering that the profound principles which, if applied, make for human happiness and progress, are inherent in the simple sentences voiced by the great Galilean nearly 2000 years ago.

MONEY THAT LOOKED LIKE TOYS
It is pretty definitely settled that the Chinese were the first to make use of the token idea in metal coins for the convenient interchange of commodities. When first working with metal money they tried to shape the metal to indicate what one could buy with it. For example, some of the early coin money was shaped like a human body. It was given this shape to indicate that it would buy clothing. Another shape was that of a modern razor—not a safety—which indicated that the coin would buy a weapon. A third shape was that of a spade.

The Chinese did not have coin shapes of sufficient variety to indicate everything in which they traded. They had a few shapes only, and the theory is that these would cover all the different articles one might wish to buy. For example, the body-shaped money would cover everything pertaining to clothing and shelter; the razor-shaped would cover all weapons, implements and tools which men use; and so on. The brass "cash" (round coin with a square hole in the middle,) which has been used for 4000 years or more, is still the common money in the interior of China.

DARK TRAYS BOOM CAFETERIA
A writer tells of a friend who took his meals at a certain cafeteria. He discovered that he invariably would leave the counters and go to his seat with insufficient food on his tray to satisfy his appetite. Always he had to go back for more, says Printer's Ink.

Instead of being satisfied merely to wonder about his apparent increase in appetite after he was seated and had eaten, he began to do some studying. After eliminating this or that reason, he finally came to the conclusion that the small size of the trays and their light color made them look as if they were more nearly filled than they were.

He proposed to the proprietor of the cafeteria that larger and darker trays be used. Eventually the owner of the cafeteria followed his suggestion and found that the average size of the checks was immediately increased.

CLIMATE AND COLDS
While every one has his own belief or superstition about common colds, recent investigations have shown that these beliefs are without scientific basis, says Hygeia Magazine. Overexercise, cold baths, loss of sleep, drafts, kinds of underwear worn, kinds of shoes worn in wet weather, mouth breathing, sweating after exercise, coal stoves, steam heat, lack of heat, ventilation and climate did not seem to influence in any way the number of colds caught by the subjects.

Let Us Stop the Interest"
PASADENA, Dec. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Referring to Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon's plan for a refund of taxes, as a means of disposing of our surplus, I would like to say a few words: John J. Ingalls once said that it was easier to handle a surplus than a deficit, and yet I do not think J. J. ever thought of as easy a way as Mr. Coolidge has found, and to people who do not need it. Some one has figured that if this plan goes through that 90 per cent of the people will receive about 30 cents each as a refund. No one who pays an income tax needs help, I know. One year I raised a big crop, sold at a good price and had to pay income tax. I didn't need any help that year nor any year since. The late Ben Butler of Massachusetts, while visiting in England was once the guest of a member of the nobility and during the visit they had wine served which the Englishman proudly announced had been bottled for fifty years and remarked that the original cost of the wine, with compound interest added, made it worth £2 per bottle. Mr. Butler filled his glass and drank heartily, saying as he finished, "For God's sake, let us stop the interest!" Three hundred million dollars would stop quite a lot of interest.

Assessment Sharks
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I want to thank you for your editorial in today's Times on "Assessment Sharks." My husband and I were so badly bitten by these same "sharks" recently that it has given me a feeling of great uneasiness and lack of security about the property we own in this city. We came here a year ago last summer, had owned property in the East and Middle West, but never experienced anything approaching confiscation till we had invested in Los Angeles.

On November 13, as my husband was about to leave the city on a business trip, we received a legal paper notifying us of the suit brought to collect a bill of $33.85 for drainage work by the city. This was our first notification of the assessment and it announced that the costs of collection brought the bill up to $49.18. As Mr. Berger had to leave that day there was nothing to do but pay all the amount asked before he left, which he did. After he left I went to the City Hall and made inquiry in several departments. Everywhere I received assurance of sympathy in my sense of having been robbed, but was assured that there was no redress. It is certainly enough to make one feel like withdrawing investments in real estate here and placing the money where greater protection is offered by the authorities. In fact, we have been considering calling a mortgage we have on property in New Jersey and investing the money out here. But I told my husband today that it seemed to me better to leave it where it is. There is no incentive to invest where such dishonest practice is legal.

I hope most sincerely that the fight for justice that you are aiding will win.
EMMA V. BERGER.

Thanks for Santa
SIERRA MADRE, Dec. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] On behalf of the children of Sierra Madre and the grown-ups as well we take this means of thanking the Los Angeles Times for the pleasant visit of Santa Claus to our foothill city.

Events of this kind tend to create a pleasant feeling toward your paper and you can rest assured your enterprise is appreciated by everyone here.
W. R. HUMPHRIES,
President Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce.

A Speedy Briton
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One day, during the past summer, while on a visit to a town in the North Riding, York, Eng., I attended a session in the local court to hear the trial of a motorist who had been arrested for speeding over the Great North Road. He had left the Marble Arch in London at 5 a.m. and until the moment of his arrest had made an average speed of forty-five miles an hour. In his plea the man stated that he had slowed down to the legal speed of twenty miles an hour while passing through villages.

"Then that means that you must have covered portions of the distance at better than sixty miles an hour," observed the magistrate. The driver admitted as much, but said that he had thus proved that high speed was as safe as low and added that the general opinion of authorities in America was to the same effect.

"You have proved nothing," declared the magistrate. "The mere fact that you have this time avoided killing yourself or anybody else is but a caprice of fate; and as for citing American conditions and opinions, you have picked up a poor prop, indeed. The motor slaughter in the States is now counted by tens of thousands every year, with no effort worthy of consideration being made to stop it. You are fined £50 and remanded into custody until it is paid."
MRS. JEANETTE SKILLION.

Electrically Heated Floors
Electrically heated floors are common in a number of new buildings in Switzerland. Heating wires are imbedded under the tiles and are laid on top of several inches of pebbles which reflect the heat upward against the flooring.

You can tell an American's ... by the laws he breaks.

There's one Progressive ... not easy to handle. He doesn't eat breakfast.

The "sticks" is that region where a thief is just a thief instead of a master criminal.

Old-timers were queer. They thought rich men would go to jail instead of the Senate.

Education must seem less wonderful to a boy whose ... dad can't help him in the ... grade.

It is true love if it endures after hearing her describe $1,942 different things as "perfectly precious."

Social position is relative. It depends on living in a town where people are less important than yourself.

Ah, well; those who are born for the young ones hid in the barn to smoke and to read Dan Dick.

Most of the big jobs are held by men who couldn't even name a naughty magazines.

Americanism: Muttering at the other fool driver so those in the back seat won't think it your fault.

Perhaps the first man to say there is honor among thieves was a cop who got his fair share.

What this country needs, along with a good 5-cent cigar, is a healthy appetite.

The happiest land is one in which the people aren't sore enough to justify the existence of "great leaders."

Egad! Smoking in the subway being irritated because so many others are smoking and adding to the air too thick.

A free country is one in which people cuss something vague and don't want to assassinate anybody in particular.

What the Democrats need is a man who has something inspiring to offer than a desire for the nomination.

If knighthood were yet in flower certain young men would doubtless their shoes before dancing.

Mr. Rockefeller's doctor is dead, which indicates merely that you should let your doctor do the worrying.

Correct this sentence: "I didn't make up a bit for the party," said she, "and the boys all thought I looked better that way."

The automobile brake is mightier than the horn.

The only sure things are those that have already happened.

A good many husbands are caught by face powder and heal by baking powder.

REST HAVEN

My home is a haven of rest, where no one betrays any speed; the welcome is warm to the guest who'll sit in a easy chair and sleep for three hours at a time; but one with a vigorous air soon feels that his visit's a crime. I labored and wrought in the day when youth was my portion and boon, but all my weapons away, along life's brief afternoon. I'd serve up the kopeck and groat, I'd hoard the broad silver piece; "Toil work be forever remote," I said to my aunt and my niece. "I sinched up the old treasure chest, I bent to the long, beastly grind; and now for an unbroken rest the balance of life is designed." And some who are older by far come here to my door every day; they'd bear me away in a car to tell of a scheme that will pay. They follow the old, weary quest, the path way of profit and care; they know not the blessing of rest, of sleeping for hours in a chair. They've heard of a small store of rubies somewhere in an ultimate place; they'd hunt them, as dogs hunt a fox, and wish I would join in the chase. "You're old and you're shriveled, gadsooks," I say, as they argue and plead; "go purchase a carload of books and all in your gardens and read. What boots it to gather more gold? You've more than you ever will spend; have chairs, where such objects are sold, sit down, then, and wait for the end. Sit down and be glad of the chance to feel that your labors are o'er; sit down while the shadows advance and let the young men have the floor." My home is a haven of rest, and rest's the predominant mood; exertion's a wearisome jest that's looked on as vulgar and rude. The butler's asleep in the hall, the cook is asleep in her chair; we're resting and ever us all there flutters no opinion of care.

Boy playing the accompaniment. "The Mocking Bird," "Old Black Joe," and "Turkey in the Straw" all met with popular applause for they are the type of numbers which go over well on the harmonica via radio.

Other talent during the children's hour broadcast included Frances Lowell, little 5-year-old screen juvenile, who gave several readings and the regular studio visit of Charles Leslie Hill, the "Honey Boy" of KHJ.

Promptly at 7:30 the evening scripture reading was delivered by Don Turner, Christian missionary from South America, which was followed at 7:40 by the weekly talk on dogs by H. M. Robertson of Lamanda Park.

The musical hour beginning at 8 o'clock brought to the studio a snappy program by Ben Vereecken's saxophone band, Mr. Vereecken, former arranger for Sousa, Pryor and Clarke, presented a particularly well-chosen program for his artists, outstanding numbers of which were Rossini's "Overture from William Tell," Vereecken's own composition, "Sur la Mer Valse."

Maud Kier, 'cellist, was another entertainer on the 8 o'clock program with several classic numbers. Saint-Saens's "The Swan," Squire's "Berceuse" and "Chanson Triste," by Tschaikowsky were some of the selections chosen for her part of the program.

Harry James Beardsley, baritone, made another visit to KHJ with several solos for the vocal part of the entertainment.

At 9 o'clock the Woman's Press Club of Southern California came on the air with a brief introductory talk by its president, Mrs. Nellie Graham Sinclair, followed by a musical program arranged by Myra Cain Grant.

Rose Victoria Johnson, soprano, who has entertained from many local stations, offered four selections, including "Lullaby," by Scott, and Grieg's "Solvey's Song."

Frederick Hermann, basso cantante, accompanied by Eugene Lamb, sang a group of three selections. "Regret" was composed by Helen Lukens Gaut, a member of the Press Club, and "I Entered Your Garden" was a selection for which Mr. Hermann composed the music.

A group of piano solos by Frances Brockett Kellogg completed the program, which is presented once a month by the Women's Press Club of Southern California from KHJ.

An hour of dance music from 10 to 11 o'clock by the Los Angeles Railway Orchestra brought The Times broadcast for the day to an end.

Last-minute broadcast changes at KHJ yesterday resulted in the postponement of the weekly bridge game at 2:30 p.m. This will be given today.

20th Century Limited on the comfortable water level route

WHILE the 20th Century Limited is generally considered the fastest long-distance train in the world, its schedule is planned for maximum comfort rather than maximum speed.

Its high public favor, we believe, is due to the fact that the Century offers a degree of comfort and dependability, night after night, and year after year, without a parallel in railroad operation.

The New York Central's unique water level route from Chicago to New York makes for ease of operation, which insures restful overnight travel.

Planning a most delightful world's tour Mrs. Frederick W. Flint, Jr., and her three attractive daughters, Miss Muriel Beardsley Flint, Miss Anna Katherine Flint and Miss Geraldine Flint of 20 Chester Place are leaving next Monday, for a trip to New York, returning home by way of Jamaica and the Panama Canal.

After a few hours here they will sail from Port Los Angeles for Honolulu, and then on to Samoa and the South Sea Islands and on to New Zealand, and then to Tasmania into Australia, New Guinea, Java, Singapore and Ceylon. From there they are going into African ports and will take a two weeks inland trip in Eastern Africa to Victoria Falls and points not usually visited by travelers, then on to Capetown by way of Johannesburg and Kimberley and over to South America, then back to Martinique and back to New York and then home to Los Angeles.

They are planning to be gone for at least six months.

Sunday afternoon Mr. Flint is entertaining informally for a number of their intimate friends with a "Bon Voyage" party at their Chester Place home.

Christmas Program

Perhaps one of the most beautiful programs given in the Women's Athletic Clubhouse was that presented Sunday evening when the choir of the First Congregational Church, under the personal direction of John Smallman sang for the members and their friends. It was in the nature of a Christmas gift to the membership.

Many family dinner parties were given preceding the program among the hosts including Mr. and Mrs. Hansen Moore, who had in their party Col. and Mrs. Clarke Ctull Smith, Miss Orian Elizabeth Smith, Miss Julia Frances Smith, Miss Lucy Clarke Smith, Mrs. Robert London, Miss Lucy Smith and Robert London Moore.

Another party was given by Mrs. Oscar A. Trippet, who had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Allan J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Trippet, Jr., Miss Emily Herbert, Miss Jean Wilson, Miss Antoinette Sabel, Robert Green, Hoyt Fisher and Maj. Cunningham, while Miss Jane Humphreys also had a group of relatives and friends with her.

For Sub Deb

One of the brilliant sub-deb affairs of the season was the dinner-dance given at the Elks' Club the 18th inst., by Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Rightman of 645 Gramercy Place in honor of their attractive sub-deb daughter, Miss Evelyn Rightmire. The table was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns and covers arranged for fifty guests, among whom were widely known students of Los Angeles High School, University of Southern California and University of California, Southern Branch.

Mu Phi Epsilon Sorority of the college of music, University of Southern California, held its regular monthly meeting recently at the home of Miss Pearl A. Macloskey on Victoria Drive. Alumnae members and visitors who were present were entertained with a program given by the pledges of the sorority, including Miss Donna Krueger, Miss Corinne Vincent, Miss Dorothy Everson and Miss Jane Appleyard.

The following night Mu Phi Epsilon Sorority entertained with an informal Christmas dance at the home of Miss Vivian Page. The house was gayly decorated with streamers of green and red and tall Christmas candles. A lighted Christmas tree banked with realistic snow, and an open fire in the fireplace provided a rosy glow, while the music was provided by a Trojan orchestra. By way of special entertainment an amusing skit was presented by five pledges of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Sigma Alpha Iota, college of music sorority at the University of Southern California, was entertained at the home of Miss Lucille Bessolo in Eagle Rock Monday evening, the 20th inst., in honor of the hostess' birthday. The Christmas motif was used in decorating the dinner table, the centerpiece being of evergreen and poinsettias. Large wreaths hung in each window with tiny bells suspended in the center. After dinner bridge was played with Mrs. Quinlin, national secretary of Sigma Alpha Iota, as guest of honor.

In Atlantic City recently a Circuit Court suit was tried by an entirely female jury, the first time in the history of the State that a jury entirely of women had heard a case.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

THE SMOKING HABIT

Last year I attended a most unusual banquet. It was an enormous affair conducted by friends, patients and colleagues of Dr. Eliza Mosher, a wonderful old-young medical woman, who celebrated her fiftieth year in the practice of medicine. Just think of it—fifty years of practicing medicine! And all this time the doctor has been one of the foremost women doctors in America.

In the recent Medical Women's Journal is an interview granted by Dr. Mosher (who is the beloved senior editor of the magazine,) given on her fifty-first medical birthday. Notice I say medical birthday. "Birthdays?" she said, "I guess not. I'm too busy practicing medicine for that. The last birthday I admitted was my thirtieth. And anyone who feels as young as I do, would be foolish to acknowledge more."

The doctor is a great believer in the modern woman and her dressing. "Statistics show that the college girls within the last fifteen years have gained one inch in height and have increased in size proportionately. This clearly argues for the retention of modern fashions. The benefit of loose clothing cannot be overestimated . . . Corsets are on the scrap heap."

Dr. Mosher has some very decided ideas on women's smoking. You know what my ideas are! That smoking is far worse for women (except during pregnancy and nursing) than it is for men, and that smoking both for men and women is without doubt injurious except in extreme moderation. Here are Dr. Mosher's views, and I certainly indorse them:

"The reasons are many why our college girls should not smoke. In the first place, the danger of fire would be increased exactly in proportion to the number of smokers . . . The habit of smoking catches in girls, as well as in boys, a craving hard to resist, and they almost invariably become inveterate cigarette smokers. It has been proven by careful statistics in one of our men's colleges that the habitual smokers held as a whole a lower place in scholarship than those who did not smoke.

"The writer would like to remind the two Wellesley girls who left college because they were not permitted to smoke that but a small number of our grandmothers ever smoked, and those who did were not attempting to do college work, moreover. Doubtless they were too busy with household duties to take much time to indulge in smoking. It is a question also whether the pipe of tobacco was as serious a menace to the nervous system as the cigarette of today.

"There is another and even more potent reason why girls should not smoke. It is the hope of the world that our girls will marry, make happy homes and bear healthy children, especially those whose privilege it is to receive a college education. The habit of smoking, when taken into the home, adds a serious risk to child life. The fabrics of the children's clothes are inflammable in the extreme, and children's lungs are easily irritated by smoke of any kind. It is almost unthinkable that a mother could smoke while nursing her baby, and yet an inveterate smoker might easily utilize the enforced leisure while nursing for a comforting smoke. We shudder as we think of the baby's face lying beneath a burning cigarette, to say nothing of the irritation of the delicate air tubes and cells of the lungs of the baby.

"That smoking is an undesirable fashion for girls and women considered from every standpoint can scarcely be denied, but from that of danger from fire, the loss of mental poise which it tends to produce in girls and women, and its effects upon infants and young children, it becomes a real menace to the community, to the home, and it is to be feared upon the generations to come."

(We have an article on the Tobacco habit, which gives a remedy for it. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.)

Tomorrow: Diet for Tumors

My dear followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will act on it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

CAFE NOTES

A big turkey dinner on New Year's Day is scheduled for guests of the Mt. Wilson Hotel and bungalows on Mt. Wilson.

In addition to the regular New Year's Eve festivities on Friday evening, patrons of the hotel will be taken to the Mt. Wilson Observatory, where they will be permitted to view the heavens through the mammoth telescope.

Dancing to the accompaniment of an orchestra is promised for Saturday evening.

Considerable snow at this time on Mt. Wilson will undoubtedly permit of varied winter sports over the New Year holidays.

W. E. Cory, manager of Mt Wilson Hotel and bungalows, advised yesterday that the automobile road to Mt. Wilson is now open and in very good condition.

A record crowd was fed in the hotel dining-room on Christmas Day, and hundreds of automobiles made the journey to that peak on Christmas. Mr. Cory is anticipating another record-breaking crowd over the coming week-end.

CELEBRATION PLANNED

A special New Year's Day dinner will be served in the cafe of Stillwell's Camp at Big Bear Lake next Saturday.

Dancing to the accompaniment of a six-piece orchestra is promised by the Stillwell management for guests of their camp on New Year's Eve.

A recent abundant fall of snow has made winter sports at that resort available to all. According to word received from Stillwell's Camp yesterday, the road via Victorville is now open to automobiles. They suggest that chains be used in traveling that highway.

Many machines made the trip to Bear Lake upon the recent clearing of the desert road of snow.

NEW YEAR'S DINNER-DANCE

Arrowhead Springs Hotel is to be the scene of an attractive dinner-dance New Year's Eve. Manager Nickerson has prepared several novelty entertainment features for those who wish to dance the old year out and the new year in, and many reservations have already been received for the affair. This is the first dinner-dance given at Arrowhead Springs since Mr. Nickerson took charge of the springs after long service as manager of two of the leading winter-resort hotels in Pasadena.

INDIAN HIGH JINKS

Indian yells are expected to resound on New Year's Eve at the Cliff Dwellers, a new cafe recently opened by Cortland Fox at 3291 Beverly Boulevard. With the cafe architecturally and artistically constructed after the motif of the early-day art of the redmen, Indian high jinks will be entirely in order, according to the management. Squab and chicken dinners, specialties of the restaurant, will be cooked with exceptional care on New Year's Eve and the first day of the year, in view of the importance of the occasion, Fox stated.

OLD PATRONS KNOWN

"The regular cafeteria family—that is to say, Boos Brothers' Cafeteria family—is a large one," recently declared Henry Boos, president of the company. "It is comprised of hundreds, probably thousands, who have patronized our dining-rooms almost every day for years. These regular members of the family may eat one, two or three meals daily in our self-service dining-rooms. But regardless of the number of times a day they enter the door, they are recognized as being among the regulars."

AT CARTHAY TEA ROOM

The Carthay Tea Room, located opposite the Carthay Circle Theater, which is just south of the corner of Wilshire Boulevard and Fairfax avenue, will celebrate on New Year's Eve by remaining open all night. Guests who are planning to attend either the 7 o'clock or the 10 o'clock show at the Circle Theater that evening will find the tea room a convenient place to retire to after the show.

HONORS FOR FILM STAR

Julia Faye, film star, will be honored by Eddie Brandstatter this evening with a Julia Faye night at the Hollywood Montmartre Cafe.

The regular Wednesday prize dancing contest will be a feature of the evening's program as well as several impromptu vaudeville acts, which will be introduced by Proff Moore, genial master of ceremonies.

NEW YEAR'S FETE PLANNED

A New Year's Day dinner such as has never been served before in Switzer-land Resort in the Upper Arroyo Seco will be a feature in that resort next Saturday.

L. B. Austin, proprietor of Switzer-Land, has arranged a special entertainment in addition to dancing for his guests on New Year's Eve and Saturday afternoon and evening.

TURKEY DINNER PLANNED

St. Ann's Inn, in Santa Ana, will serve a special turkey dinner on New Year's Day, serving continuously from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

R. L. Bixby, manager of the inn, has completed arrangements for the dinner and guests are assured of the utmost in comfort and service.

REAL HAWAIIAN MUSIC

Real Hawaiian music will greet guests of the Dragon Inn, 735 West Sixth street, on New Year's Eve. Special entertainment will be provided and the management is looking forward to a jolly crowd.

ENTERTAINMENT PROMISED

The Chinese Gardens Cafe, 6313 Hollywood Boulevard, has made special preparations to take care of New Year's guests. The holidays are always appropriately welcomed at this cafe and this year's event promises to be no exception.

MODERATE-PRICED DINNER

A moderately priced dinner will be served in Jahnke's Coffee Shop, 118 West Ninth street, on New Year's Day. Jahnke's has long been noted for the excellence of its cuisine and a splendid repast is assured.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

SARTORIALLY SPEAKING

Let's be a bit frivolous today. The new fashions are getting interesting. I am afraid legs are going out. Oh, well, it will be easier on the stocking bill.

I have just been to two very stylish parties at which lovely picture actresses were as common as blackberries. In fact, the only ordinary females were the wives of bankers and producers and persons like me. So you will see for yourself I had some marvelous opportunities to note what is being worn just now.

And the most dashing and radiant beauties were nearly all wearing long full skirts reaching right down to their ankles! Their bodices were plain, tight-fitting, with very long basques, and the skirts were gathered on to this basque with liberal fullness. The old bertha collar has been revived and it droops to form something of a sleeve reaching halfway to the elbow.

And on these beauties, anyway, this costume looks perfectly adorable with bobbed hair. There wasn't a sign of returning coiffures or the monstrous wigs we read about. In the few rare cases where wigs were worn they were cute white-blond wigs of short wavy hair.

Among the most lovely of the long full-gowned damsels were Dolores Del Rio, whose rich red gown was all filmy tulle in layers. The effect was that of an angle-length ballet skirt. Bebe Daniels looked utterly lovely in a pale maize taffeta, very long at the back, slightly shorter in front, and opening to reveal some handsome lace drapery underneath. Dorothy Farnum, who write the scenarios for "Bardelys the Magnificent," "The Temptress" and several other highly successful pictures, was in rich soft black velvet, which, with her lovely jewels, her string of gorgeous pearls and her fair bobbed blonde head, looked utterly enchanting.

But the other extreme is also de riguer. Norma Talmadge was wearing a short, very skimpy jeweled georgette gown. So was Irene Rich. Mildred (Mrs. Harold Lloyd,) who danced with her husband more than anyone else, is a tiny bit of a girl and wore a very tiny bit of exquisite white beaded gown, fitting closely to her figure and stopping at the knee. Norma Shearer has one of each style, so that I saw her both ways on two successive nights—and I wouldn't care which one I looked like!

Although every female everywhere seems to have broken out into a Spanish shawl, and these delectable things can cost anywhere from $500 to $5.95 in the bargain basement, there is no sign of their waning glory. Mine was the only cheap one at those two grand parties, however, and one does have to learn how to manage the things. Perhaps the cheap ones don't cluster so successfully as the expensive ones, but I certainly can't seem to grab mine in just the entrancing, provocative way that those accomplished beauties grab theirs. There seems to be so much dependent upon the right grab! But they do look extra adorable over the long full skirts.

Shoes . . . oh, dear; I never saw so many dazzling, piquant shoes in my life before. Jewel-studded heels flashed around the floor during the dancing or glimmered under table cloths during the meal—and they did . . . oh, yes, they did seem more effective when they peeped out from beneath those long full skirts. I love the feel of the short skirts, I hope they will remain for practical outdoor purposes, but the longs were the belles of the balls at those parties.

MACLOON TO BE PILOT OF MUSIC BOX

Local Producer Will Take Control of New Hollywood Theater Under Long Lease

Control of the Hollywood Music Box Theater is to be taken over on February 1 by Louis O. MacLoon, local theatrical producer, it was announced yesterday by William S. Holman, general manager of the Hollywood Music Box, Inc. Macloon will take over the theater under a long-term lease.

Holman, in announcing the deal, stated that it was prompted by the company's desire to retire from the producing field. The company also felt, he said, that Macloon was better fitted to carry on the production end of the business than an organization of some sixty individual stockholders.

In the meantime, he said, the present revue at the theater will be continued until the time Macloon assumed control, when the company will be taken to San Francisco for an extended run.

Holman added that musical revues will be continued at the theater under Macloon's direction. There will be no change in the policy of the Playhouse Theater, which Macloon has operated for the last three years.

GIRL'S MOTHER FOUND

Locating of Parent Saves Body From Potter's Field

Through the efforts of Pierce Brothers, morticians, Edith Amick was saved from the potters field.

Several weeks ago she was found wandering in the hills of Hollywood in a demented condition and was sent to Norwalk Hospital. She died the 18th inst., and the body was removed to Pierce Brothers, 720 West Washington street.

An effort was made to locate relatives for several days. Fred E. Pierce, a member of the National Selected Morticians, sent out communications to members of that organization and he heard from Portland, Me., that the girl's mother was living there. The remains will be sent to that city today for burial.

It was difficult to locate relatives, owing to the fact that while in the demented condition the girl gave the name of Ellen McCann.

POISON FIND REPORTED IN YULE DEATH

Autopsy on Body of Man Who Died Following Fight May Lead to Inquest

Evidence of cyanide poison found in the stomach of Victor Huff, West Washington-street automobile dealer who died last Sunday more than twenty hours after a fist fight with a guest in his home, may lead to an inquest, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. G. D. Maner, assistant county autopsy surgeon, who reported finding indications of either cyanide or acute alcoholism, turned over the organs to County Chemist Abernathy for analysis. On the results of the analysis the question of an inquest into Huff's death will depend.

Huff, who had been drinking steadily for a week, according to his wife, became involved in a fist fight with a guest in the Huff home at 1 Strand, Redondo Beach, last Friday night. After being struck twice, according to witnesses, the guest retaliated by knocking Huff down.

Later Huff became ill and after lying in his home until Sunday morning he was taken to the Torrance Memorial Hospital, where he died. The man with whom he fought could not be held after Huff's wife and others told police the guest had sought only to defend himself.

Amazing New Results

Union-ETHYL

400 end-point GASOLINE

Do you know them? Millions are now finding out about them. Don't let others tell you. Learn of these new superiorities yourself.

Eight Distinct Advantages

1. 99% of all the "knocks"—inaudible as well as audible—are eliminated.
2. Carbon now multiplies instead of decreases power.
3. Vibration is notably reduced.
4. Motor starts quicker without using the choke even on the coldest winter mornings.
5. Pick-up in traffic is surprisingly accelerated.
6. Hill climbing is a new experience in cars that have balked heretofore.
7. Higher speeds have a remarkable new smoothness.
8. Greatly reduced tendency toward overheating on steep grades or in hot temperatures.

Union-Ethyl costs only 3 cents per gallon more than ordinary fuels.

Enjoy the thrill of this new super-fuel. Union Service Stations and first-class Independent Dealers everywhere have it ready for you.

Other Facts You Should Know

"Ethyl Gas" was developed by "General Motors" after seven years of research.

Used by the U. S. Navy in dirigibles and seaplanes—by all winning drivers of every race sponsored by the American Automobile Association in the last four years.

And now by scores of thousands of motorists the country over, who want only the best.

UNION ETHYL ETHYL GASOLINE

LICENSED BY THE ETHYL GASOLINE CORPORATION

"Union Non-Detonating Gasoline" With Multiplied Effect

Union Gasoline has always been (as advertised for years) a "non-detonating" fuel.

"Ethyl" also is a "non-detonating" agent highly concentrated and with a multiplied effect.

So the two in combination—"Union" and "Ethyl" gas—make the most remarkable improvement in motor fuel since motor cars were first invented.

In its manufacture Union-Ethyl Gasoline is limited to 400 end-point by distillation test, thus producing a fuel that instantly vaporizes completely in the carburetor and yields quicker starting and acceleration.

No other so-called "knockless" compound can produce Ethyl results.

The fuel you buy, therefore, must be genuine Union-Ethyl if you want all that we offer here.

Get it to-day and try it. Learn what Union-Ethyl is.

VETERAN DEPUTY RETIRES

Has Served Thirty-eight Years

L. R. Paxton

L. R. PAXTON, thirty-eight years a county employee, thirty-seven years of that time a deputy county clerk, dean of County Clerk Lampton's staff, will leave the county service Friday to retire to his ranch on Telegraph Road near Santa Fe Springs.

For the last twenty-four years Mr. Paxton has been on duty in the office of the County Supervisors, in charge of election and miscellaneous records. He is one of the most widely known of the county's thousands of employees.

Mr. Paxton came to Los Angeles in 1889, and went to work immediately in the office of the County Recorder. The following year he was sworn in as a deputy county clerk. After serving on various assignments as deputy clerk, he was appointed to the supervisors' office in 1903, where he has served continuously ever since. He has witnessed the growth of the county's business from that of a small rural community, requiring the services of a few score employees, to that of a great metropolitan district.

INSURANCE FIRM LAUNCHED

Business Men Back Fire Protection Company Which Will Open Home Offices Here Soon

Headed by William E. Chamberlain, former vice-president of A. Hamburger & Sons, Inc., and with a cash capital and surplus of $500,000, the Acme Fire Insurance Company of Los Angeles will begin operations February 1, it was announced yesterday. The new organization, which is backed by local business men and bankers, will be the only fire insurance company with headquarters in Los Angeles.

Other officers of the company are John R. Richards, vice-president, who is a member of the Los Angeles Board of Water and Power; Clifude I. Parker, vice-president, a director of the International branch of the Bank of Italy; Albert b. Theberge, vice-president, for twenty-seven years manager at Los Angeles for the Metropolitan Life; Leo V. Youngworth, vice-president and treasurer, a member of the law firm of Youngworth, McClean & Hartzman, and Egbert Van Alen, secretary, who is president of the Wren & Van Alen Insurance Agency.

The directors include Harry D. Vandeveer, Jacob Baum, L. Q. Branson, I. H. Malin, Sim Crabill, L. F. Caswell, H. J. Mallen and E. H. Hartman.

Earl R. Holland, agency superintendent for the Benjamin Goodwin general agency of San Francisco, will be general manager of the new company here. He has been in insurance work in this territory for twenty years.

In the past, due to a ruling of the Board of Fire Underwriters, all board companies maintained their offices in San Francisco and all premiums collected in the Western States, Alaska and Hawaii were remitted to that city. With the Acme company established here, it is hoped that other insurance companies soon will establish home offices in Los Angeles.

The headquarters of the new company will be in the Merchants' National Bank Building.

HOME LOSES FIVE TONS IN FOODSTUFFS

Stewardess and Husband Held in Connection With $3000 Embezzlement

Mrs. Rosie Culjak, 1350 Bonnie Beach street, Belvedere, a stewardess at the McKinley Home for Boys at Van Nuys, and her husband, Martin Culjak, were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Morrissey and Wheeler in connection with the asserted disappearance of $3000 in groceries and supplies from the home over a period of eight months, the Sheriff's office reported.

The deputies said they found five tons of groceries at the Culjak home. Mrs. Culjak is accused of taking the supplies and having them transported by Suljak in an automobile.

Culjak was taken on suspicion of receiving stolen property, and Mrs. Culjak on suspicion of embezzlement.

Publicity Men Off for Eastern Motor Exhibit

Los Angeles will be represented at the New York Automobile Show, opening January 8, by a group of advertising and newspaper men who departed yesterday over the Southern Pacific. In the group is Edward N. Nathan, head of the advertising agency of his name, who will wire daily stories covering the new offerings introduced at the eastern salon.

EDWARD N. NATHAN

"The Pacific Coast has become so important to the large eastern advertising agencies that they are either taking advantage of the facilities afforded by coast agencies, such as I represent, or are establishing branches here.

"The standing of the Pacific Coast agencies among those in the United States is very high—so high that the Nathan agency and a few others have been accorded recognition by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association," said Mr. Nathan.

Among those in the party going East are Nelson Lally, Fred Wagner and Fred Ross.

ACCIDENT TO MISS GREEN TOLD POLICE

Driver of Car Confesses Dozing While at Wheel; Hope for Recovery Held

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

MELVA GREEN

According to a Santa Monica police report, J. W. Hampton, 606 East Washington street, Los Angeles, has admitted falling asleep while driving the car, which went over a twenty-five-foot embankment and landed on the beach below. Other members of the party were Merrill Jones, 1303 Oneta Court, South Pasadena, and Miss Anna Sbarbaro, who lived with Miss Green.

After the accident they hailed Paul Horne, son of former Police Chief George Horne, who was passing in a car. He rushed the injured girl to Martin's Hospital here. Her mother has been at her bedside and has insisted that police investigate the accident fully and fix responsibility. Sawtelle police also are investigating the case.

KNIGHTS PLAN DANCE

An entertaining affair for New Year's Eve is being planned by the Knights of Columbus at their auditorium, 612 South Flower street. It will be a dinner-dance and frolic. The affair is under the auspices of Council No. 621.

Children Will Enjoy Second Holiday Treat

Some time soon after January 1, next, the three children of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Carmack will have the pleasure of celebrating Christmas for the second time within two weeks with a Christmas tree, toys and all other holiday joys.

The reason for the double festivities is that Mr. Carmack has prepared gifts and a tree in Big Springs, Tex., where the children will arrive in a few days. The mother has already given the children a Christmas party here.

Mr. Carmack left for Texas recently to prepare a new home for his family. Word was received yesterday that the home and tree are ready, and Mrs. Carmack, who has been a State employee for three years, resigned her position and is preparing to leave with the children.

WORK ON FORD BRANCH NEARS

Dredging of Marine Slip at Site Begins Today

Plans Arrive in Long Beach Within Short Time

Question of Piling Still Must be Worked Out

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 28.—With actual dredging work on the giant marine slip to be cut into the Ford plant property in Long Beach Harbor getting under way tomorrow and announcement that completed plans for the $2,500,000 plant are expected to arrive here within a few days, indications are for early commencement on actual plant construction work.

The plans are in the hands of Albert Kahn, Ford Motor Company architect at Detroit, and are to be forwarded here soon, it was announced by J. W. Kapex, Los Angeles branch manager for the company.

Edward Grace, company engineer, now in Southern California, is expected to go over the property on Cerritos Channel here within the next few days and study the plans with Long Beach Harbor Department engineers and E. R. Brown, Ford engineer in charge of all outside construction. A question of whether concrete piling or heavy wooden piling, treated with creosote, is best adapted for the foundations of the plant, which are to be laid in filled land, is to be decided.

As soon as company engineers determine when they safely may begin construction of the foundation, application will be made to the City Building Department here for a permit to proceed, it was said today. Awards of contracts for the work will follow. The Stone and Webster Company, contracting builders, who have been building for several large Ford building jobs, may be awarded the contract, it was rumored today. The Merritt, Chapman & Co., marine contractors, also may be awarded a contract, it was said.

The cutting of the Ford slip at the east end of the Ford property in the harbor will get under way in the morning, it was announced today. The dredge Seattle will be employed. The job will require the removal of 317,200 cubic feet of material and will cost approximately $50,000. It will take forty-five days for completion, engineers said.

WILL WALK RIGHT TOWARD YOU

Bessie Love is First Stereoscopic Heroine in Films; He's Up in the Air Now, is Lively Wallace Beery; Marceline Day in M.-G.-M. Red Fire Drama

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

When you see the heroine of "The Flag Maker" walking right down toward you in that new process picture of J. Stuart Blackton's, you are going to behold one of your favorite actresses.

BESSIE LOVE

To Bessie Love indeed goes one of the important feminine roles in pictures for 1927. The star has been secured by George K. Spoor and Commodore J. Stuart Blackton to play the prominent woman's role in "The American," which is from Jewel Spencer's popular story, "The Flag Maker."

This production, as you have been told so many times in this column that you probably know it by heart by this time, will be the first natural vision, — i.e., stereoscopic — screen drama ever made, according to the promises of its sponsors, Messrs. Spoor and Blackton.

Miss Love is to co-star with Charles Ray in the production. With Ward Crane as the heavy, Bessie Love and Charles Ray in the star roles, the Commodore is selecting additional prominent players that will add to the interest of the making of the picture, which is to be produced at the Fine Arts Studios.

Another tremendously interesting member of th cast, to the old-timers, at any rate, is Banks Winter, who wrote "White Wings," the most popular song in America thirty years ago, a song which, indeed, with its lilting melody and charm, swept the world. This will be the first time that Winter has appeared in pictures, though he recently celebrated his fiftieth anniversary behind the footlights when he appeared as a special attraction in songs at the Orpheum.

Banks Winter is the nephew of Gen. John B. Gordon of the Confederate Army, a cousin of Henry Clay. He sang before the late King Edward, the father of King George of England, and before other members of the royalty and nobility, as they used to love to say thirty years ago before kings practically went out of style as added attractions to a show.

Conrad A. Lapertl and Maj. Spoor will handle the new-fangled cameras and they have been holding rehearsals thereof every day for a week now. Commodore Blackton will direct the picture from the adaptation and continuity prepared by Marion Blackton. Wilfred North, veteran director, will assist Blackton in all details of the production. James Stuart Blackton, Jr., who has just returned from a year spent with the Spoor Company in Chicago, is to act as production manager, while Stanley Orr and Ben Kirkwood will be his assistants.

Wallace Beery's New One

Wallace Beery has fought in the army, swabbed decks in the navy, dodged submarines and now he is going to complete the list of extra-hazardous army pursuits by donning a flyer's costume and soaring aloft in all devotion of his art.

Wallace Beery

B. P. Schulberg, West Coast executive, announced yesterday that Beery will shortly make a high-speed aviation comedy, to be called "Taking the Air."

Production of this new picture is virtually by popular demand. Ever since Beery scored so smashingly in "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now," in which he took care of the United States land and sea forces, Paramount has received continual suggestions that Beery show us what comedy he can get out of an airplane.

Larry Semon, noted comedian, director and writer, has been assigned by B. P. Schulberg to write the story. This will be Semon's first important work since he was signed to a long-term contract by the company.

Beery has just completed work in "Casey at the Bat." Next week he is to start work on "Looie the Fourteenth," which James Cruze will direct, and this will be followed by "Taking the Air" and "Fireman, Save My Child." Next fall he will start work on "The Greatest Show on Earth," in which he will portray the role of P. T. Barnum.

Marceline Day in It

And while we are on the subject of army and war pictures, it is with a fine glow of patriotism we have to announce that Harry Rapf is busy down at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios signing up the cast for "The Red, White and Blue." This, as you earnest students of the cinema drama will perhaps remember, is a picture to be based on a story of the Citizen's National Defense Training Camp movement. Byron Morgan wrote it.

MARCELINE DAY

Marceline Day is the first member of the cast to be announced. She will play the feminine lead in the picture. Miss Day has just come back from United Artists studios, where she played a leading feminine role in Jack Barrymore's current starring vehicle.

Sam Wood is to direct "The Red, White and Blue" as his first vehicle for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The picture is to go into production next week, so you are likely to hear all about the leading man any day now.

Says It Isn't So

Donning his best army manner, Maj. Rupert Hughes yesterday morning rang up this department in a great hurry to state that it is not true that he is going to supervise production at Universal City.

"Universal hasn't invited me to so supervise," said the Major, and then added hastily to forestall any such invitation in case the idea had been put into their heads, "I couldn't accept if they did invite me, because I am busy writing book."

Also, he said as if to clinch the matter, "my life insurance company has called me up this morning to say that if I go back into the movies they will have to increase my life insurance. So, just to get rid of that worry, if for nothing else, please say for me in your column that I am not going to work at any studio just now."

But just to show that the Major has no hard feeling toward the movies, but is really in a mellow mood toward them, he is to preside at the huge dinner to be given by Universal and Carl Laemmle at the Ambassador on January 15.

Kenneth Harlan In It

Free-lancing around these days, the dashing Kenneth Harlan is going to tarry at the Fox studio during the next few weeks, according to announcement just received.

Kenneth Harlan

Harlan has been signed to play the leading male role opposite Olive Borden in "The Secret Studio," which Harry Beaumont will direct.

The actor has many fine roles to his credit of late, notably in First National's "Twinkletoes," directed by Charles Brabin.

Rocketts Pick Director

Now that those enterprising Rockett Boys are all set to go in the making of "Jail Birds," their first First National picture to be produced here in many a day, they are taking no chances about its being a good one.

And, of course, the very first step in the right direction is the securing of a first-class director. Which you will admit they have done when I tell you that they have signed Joseph Hensberry for the job.

Have No Katie Yet

With hundreds of picturesque players in costumes ranging from the garb of peasants and villagers to the b illiant full uniform of the Royal Guard, Ernst Lubitsch has started production of his elaborate new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Old Heidelberg," with Ramon Novarro in the principal role.

The story, a vivid romance of the life of a German prince in the famous old University of Heidelberg, is being given a spectacular production. Most of Lubitsch's preliminary scenes are designed to show the atmosphere and spirit in which the story is laid. The arrival of a ruler, play l by Gustav von Seiffertia, with full court etiquette military guard, and the pomp of Germany before the war, is contrasted in a striking manner with the lives of the simple villagers gathered to welcome their adored prince.

So far the picture has been worrying along without any Katie, but she is likely to make her appearance any day now, and probably she will turn out to be Norma Shearer in disguise.

NONSHIVER CLOTHES

Santa Claus Gets Climates Mixed at Palm Springs

That the belief in Santa Claus is not solely confined to children is attested by the Yuletide spirit that prevailed at Palm Springs where the members of the Duke Worne organization spent the festive day working on "Fighting for Fame."

Hazel Deane, who is being co-featured with Ben Alexander in this picture, insisted that inasmuch as the releasing schedule compelled her presence away from her Beverly Hills home on Christmas Day, Director-Producer Worne should at least provide a small fir tree in keeping with the spirit.

Result—Miss Deane received a bob-sleigh, one pair of ice skates, a suit of red flannels, a pair of heavy woolen socks, two one-fingered black mittens with cord attached and a pair of galoshes.

GOES TO SEATTLE

Edwin O. Hitchcock, Wampas member and former Los Angeles press agent, has been appointed managing director of the new United Artists Theater, Seattle, Wash. The appointment was made by Harry C. Arthur, Jr., president of the Pacific Northwest Theaters Inc.

OLD MARDI GRAS CLOTHES HER JOY

Leatrice Joy

Just an old, dust-covered trunk—wasn't worth much—hidden away in a dark corner of the attic, filled with costumes of forgotten Mardi Gras seasons in an old southern home in New Orleans, is responsible for Leatrice Joy becoming a screen star.

That attic, containing the relics of yesteryear, provided a stage, prop and dressing room for the potential star of Shadowland, while the costumes the dust-covered trunk contained, awakened a persevering ambition in the soul of the actress.

Miss Joy, who is starring in the William DeMille production, "For Alimony Only," which will be on view at the Hillstreet Theater next week, takes keen delight in recalling the days of her childhood, when, with the gleeful co-operation of the neighborhood youngsters, she started on the road to dramatic success.

Girard Urges San Fernando Aviation Field

Calling attention to the natural facilities of Southern California as advantageous in the development of aeronautics, Victor Girard yesterday wrote to Mayor Cryer urging consideration by the City Council of plans for the purchase of a municipal aviation field in 1927. He expressed the belief that Los Angeles can be made the center of aeronautical manufacture in the United States.

Girard, representing residents of the San Fernando Valley, reported that six sites containing from 400 to 600 acres are available in that district as possible aviation fields and added that San Fernando Valley citizens are ready to enter into friendly competition with other localities in efforts to obtain a municipal field.

BALLET AND OPERA DUAL ATTRACTION

Dancers Gain Principal Interest at Opening; New Tamaki Miura Role

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Madame Butterfly is still Tamaki Miura's supreme role in opera. Except for one single final solo and a few other and melodic moments, "Namiko-San," labeled a musical tragedy in one act, by Aldo Franchetti, falls into the class of a mere inconsequential substitute for the Puccini work in which the little Japanese star has made herself famous.

"Namiko-San" was given last evening as the latter part of a double bill, in which the Pavley-Oukrainsky ballet, not previously seen here, was the major source of interest. The Franchetti opus was presented by the Manhattan Opera Company, with Miura in the title role, and Franchetti himself conducting.

The union of ballet and opera, at least when there is an opera to be heard, should prove a felicitous one, other things being equal, and the company is giving four more performances, one this afternoon and evening, and one Saturday afternoon and evening.

Ideas sparkle forth from the Pavley-Oukrainsky presentations. This ensemble is from Chicago, where the Pavley-Oukrainsky activities center around the civic opera association.

The divertissements were notably captivating, and were received with the warmest enthusiasm. Some of them were exceptionally original. The Moorish dance, the "Blue Danube," the Holland dance and "In a Garden" stood out as the gems of this group. The cubist dance was also a novelty.

One seldom sees anything done with such charming imagination as the Moorish dance and the "Blue Danube." The Strauss waltz seemed especially distinctive, because so frequently commonplace.

With naught but a huge blue scarf to add to the realism, the dancers, through the series of graceful weavings and interweavings of movement, gave the audience a remarkably ideal impression of the magical gleam—glint and inspiration of a river that has been celebrated all over the world through a lilting rhythm.

The costuming and settings for "The Temple of the Sun," which was the main ballet, were notably attractive, and in a moderate degree futuristic. This portrays an ancient cult of Syria, culminating in a sacrifice.

Symmetry was marked in the poses of the dancers, and though not of overwhelming import, the ballet as a whole was effective. The music by Hypolite Ivanoff was conducted by Adolph Schmid, who led the music for the other dances. Andreas Pavley was featured, assisted by Miles. Millar, Allen, Compton, Edgcumbs and others.

Pavley did not seem to be at his best in this number, and if anything appeared a trifle nervous. His interpretation of "A Martyr" that followed in the divertissements was received with applause, but is not typically appealing as an interpretation. Pavley attached in the Czardas, however, which climaxed the divertissements. In this sequence of numbers Mlle. Millar also did a very airy ballet number. The Nymphs and Fauns was well presented by Mlle. Allen and MM. Luttmann and Pause, and the excellent Moorish dance by Mlle. Edgcumbe.

It was evident throughout that the dancers were unusually well trained and directed, and that they succeeded to a high degree in affording enjoyment to the audience, which in Los Angeles is unusually critical of dance offerings. The animation and novelty of many of the numbers were the winning allurements.

The cast for the opera, "Namiko San," which portrays a heroine's characteristic sacrifice for her lover, included besides Miura as the star, Sergie Radamsky a Russian tenor, and Graham Marr who was heard some years ago here with Max Rabinoff's Boston Grand Opera Company, which also presented a combination of opera and ballet during one season.

Miura was easily the outstanding attraction, and though neither the action nor the music was inclined to illuminate her talents, she exerted a prevading charm at times by her presence. Incidentally she wore some singularly beautiful costumes, one kimono especially, when she greeted her melodramatic admirer, the prince, being a rich mantle of white embroidered with gold. She wore an elaborate headdress beside.

It may also be noted that in the fullness of its tones her voice also shows improvement, and that she has seemingly attained even more grace than she formerly possessed in her posturings. Her acting opportunities were scant.

The Franchetti score (sic!) is fussy and tedious, with only the very slightest exception. What music does stand out—virtually the one death air—seems rather light in texture—too light, in fact, for the work's presumably tragical character. The libretto is a very lame affair when sung in English, because it is written very prosily and tritely.

The plot has some merit, and might have passed, had the music been unusual.

Mary as the prince did some very fair work dramatically, while Radamsky has some very pleasing tones, and uses his voice with a degree of taste. Luigi Dallemolle and Joseph Cavadore were other cast members, and Gordon Chenet and Grace Forester did a lyrical bit exceedingly well. The orchestra is small, but may prove acceptable in the other operas.

Orville Harrold will sing in "I Pagliacci" this afternoon, and Zamaka Miura in "Butterfly" tonight. Ballet numbers will be given with both operas.

STAGE STAR BOOKED FOR PUBLIX THEATER

Managing Director Frank L. Newman of the Los Angeles Publix Theaters yesterday announced that Sam Ash, musical comedy star, will open at the Metropolitan Theater Friday for a special limited engagement.

Ash is coming here fresh from musical triumphs in the East. His greatest success was as the star in "Rose Marie." Before that he was in Irving Berlin's Music Box Revue in New York. He also has appeared at the Winter Garden and in "The Wild Cat."

HILLSTREET GIVES ONE, TOO

The Hillstreet Theater will hold a celebration New Year's Eve when three special performances will be given. The last complete show will begin at 10:30 p.m. and run 'till ——? Many special features and surprises have been arranged for this occasion, including noise makers. The highlight of the bill will be a special feature in which all the acts of the bill will take part.

BEAUDINE CARRIED A SPEAR

Thomas Meighan and William Beaudine little realized when they became associated in the making of "The Canadian" now showing at the Metropolitan that years before they had been troupers together.

William Beaudine

When Thomas Meighan requested that William Beaudine be engaged to direct him in "The Canadian," the star's most recent screen production which comes to the Metropolitan Theater on Friday, he little realized that he was bringing back to the fold an old theatrical associate.

More than fifteen years ago, Beaudine, now one of the highest salaried directors of the motion-picture world, "carried a spear" in a stage production of which Meighan was the star. As one of the mob Beaudine drew down the munificent salary of 50 cents a performance for his services. Later, the director went to work for Mary Pickford as a studio property boy and thus he began his picture career which has carried him to the top of his profession.

Tommy Meighan and Bill Beaudine are now fast friends as a result of their recent association during the production of "The Canadian" and the "good old days" of show business was the subject of many entertaining discussions while the company was on location in the wilds of Canada. Both the star and the director began their respective theatrical careers in New York and each had to fight his way to success without pull or financial aid.

CAST TWO ROLES FOR "TRAGEDY"

Helene Millard and Ruby Rush Will Play Two Lead Parts

Helene Millard will portray the role of Sandra, and Ruby Rush has been awarded the role of Roberta in "An American Tragedy," which will be the premiere attraction at the Wilkes Vine-Street Theater, January 17.

Sandra is the society girl, while Roberta is the factory worker.

Miss Millard appeared in Los Angeles with Bert Lytell in "Silence" and has been playing leading roles in the Wilkes Theater in Denver for the past six weeks.

Ruby Rush has been in Los Angeles for about two weeks, having been brought here by Al G. Wilkes from New York especially for this engagement.

Rehearsals Get Under Way for Masquers' Revel

With active rehearsals under way, plans are progressing for the annual Masquers' Revel to be held January 15, at the Philharmonic Auditorium. The revel was originally planned for December but was postponed as the date conflicted with the charity ball held at the Shrine Auditorium.

DOUGLAS MACLEAN

According to Douglas MacLean, president of the Masquers' Club, the Revel this year has been patterned after the Gambols of the New York Lamb's Club. All female roles will be enacted by men, including chorus and musical numbers.

Female stars, although they will not appear on the stage, will distribute programs in the lobby of the theater. More than 150 stage and screen players will take part in the Revel.

STANFORD GRIDDERS GUESTS OF UPTOWN

Members of the Stanford football squad, which will meet the University of Alabama grid team in the New Year's Day game at Pasadena, will be the guests of the Uptown Theater tonight.

The Uptown management will call for the boys at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena and will get them back early.

Abe Lyman, now playing at the Uptown, has planned a special program of Stanford songs and cheers.

Louise Fazenda, the star of "Footloose Widows," the current photoplay attraction, will be the hostess of the evening.

Figueroa Will Show Murnau's 'Faust' Version

"Faust," romantic and tragic, has finally reached the screen with Emil Jannings in the role of Mephisto and directed by F. W. Murnau, the man who produced "The Last Laugh."

"Faust" is now playing at $2 prices in New York City, where it is hailed as one of the outstanding hits of the season.

"Step on my magic cloak," says Mephisto, "and we will fly through space. The earth will turn around beneath us." And away Faust whisks hand in hand with the devil, to whom he has sold his soul in exchange for his youth. Scenes of startling beauty unfold themselves beneath them, until they land in Parma, in the midst of the wedding festivities of the Borgia.

Hawaiians Will Celebrate a la Native Manner

According to an announcement made yesterday, the seventy-five native Hawaiians in Charles E. King's operetta "The Prince of Hawaii" at the Majestic, will celebrate New Year's with two performances New Year's evening and in regular native style.

As has been the Hawaiian native custom, according to King, the dusky players will celebrate the coming of the New Year with weird native dances, songs and chants. The second performance of "The Prince of Hawaii" at the Majestic, starting at 11:30 p.m. New Year's Eve, will feature native ceremonies, while the first show will be presented along the regular nightly routine.

Mysterious rituals, native chants, dances and songs of the islands, interspersed with Hawaiian music from the ukulele and guitar orchestra will be features of the special midnight matinee.

BORI FAMOUS FOR BEAUTY AND VOICE

Spanish Singer to Appear Here Tomorrow With Rothwell Conducting

The Philharmonic orchestra seems, from all reports, to have captured that rarity a great singer who fascinates by her beauty, or if you prefer it the other way around, a beauty who can sing. Her name is Lucrezia Bori, and her fame of course has preceded her here, as she has been for the last twelve years the leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera-house.

Bori is an aristocrat who seems to have forgotten about it, for she is, according to reports, not resting upon her laurels as a descendant of Queen Isabella who financed that eventful trip of Christopher Columbus to America. She is a most charming woman, and the possessor, if the critics of the world's great metropolitan dailies can be relied upon, of one of the most beautiful voices of the day.

She appears as soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra, Walter Henry Rothwell conducting, at the pair of concerts Thursday night and Friday afternoon.

WILL BUILD THREE NEW PLAYHOUSES

Sol Lesser Will Enter Ranks of Producers on West Coast

Sol Lesser, former director of the West Coast Theaters chain, will enter the ranks of Los Angeles producers with legitimate playhouses in Hollywood, Los Angeles and San Francisco, it was learned yesterday. With the completion of his project he hopes to have the three cities rival Broadway as the theatrical center of America.

The first theater will be built in Hollywood on Hollywood Boulevard, and as soon as this is running, theaters will be built in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Plays will be shifted from one city to another, and such productions as are meritorious will be sent on to New York, also under Mr. Lesser's personal direction, it was said.

Mr. Lesser, who recently returned from a trip abroad, is said to have gained the promise of new plays from Franz Molnar, the Guitrys, Brieux, Shaw, Bennett, Synge, O'Casey, who is said to be coming to the fore as one of Ireland's greatest contemporary dramatists; Hauptmann, Vadja, Schnitzler, Maeterlinck, Pirandello, D'Annunzio, Capek, Benaventa and Wied.

Many of the finest European houses were visited by Lesser and he conferred with many of the continent's leading engineers and theater builders. When construction work starts on the Hollywood enterprise it is his plan to have two or three European experts on the ground to advise in the work.

Gay Travesty First Play on New Year's List

For their first offering of the new year, the Pasadena Community Players are to give "Captain Applejack," an "Arabian Night's Adventure" by Walter Hackett, which will open tomorrow evening to continue for eleven performances.

This travesty is said to combine the thrills and situations of a mystery melodrama with the atmosphere of an Arabian night's tale. There is the adventure of Ambrose Applejohn, a rather timid, placid little Englishman, with his ward, Poppy, on his hugs ancestral home on the Cornwall Coast, which is invaded by a weird group of people in search of a mysterious something. There is also the thrilling dream adventure of which they quite naturally dream after such an experience.

Mrs. Charles Ray will make her second appearance at the Pasadena Community Playhouse in this offering. George Reis, one of the cleverest comedians of the Pasadena group, will be Capt. Applejack, and the company will include Helen Brooks, Robert Griffin, John Bell, Pardee Erdman, Mrs. Lillian Rivers, Gordon Crocker and many others.

Nancy Carroll Will Appear in "Loose Ankles"

According to an announcement issued yesterday by Louis O. Macloon, Nancy Carroll has been signed for a leading feminine role in "Loose Ankles" which opens at the Playhouse January 10 succeeding "Cradle Snatchers."

Miss Carroll, who opened at the Orange Grove Christmas night in Michael Kallesser's play "One Man's Woman," will relinquish her role of Betty Davis to Mrs. Bryant Washburn who is known on the stage as Mabel Forrest.

Miss Forrest, who is credited with having played a leading role in "White Collars" in the original production staged by the Macloons, will make her debut in "One Man's Woman" Sunday evening.

Miss Carroll is the second player to be signed by Macloon for "Loose Ankles." Edward Woods, formerly announced, will be seen in the play which is to be staged by Lillian Albertson.

Plus Fours Not Strictly Golf Garb It Seems

Earl Dane has traced the evolution of "plus fours," the familiar golf togs so often seen around Hollywood.

It happened during the filming of "The Scarlet Letter" starring Lillian Gish, which is now playing at the Million Dollar Theater.

One day, Dane in a hurry for his lunch and with an early call back on the set, went out to a restaurant in his Puritan costume. One of his friends, passing him on the street, asked him where were his golf clubs.

The character actor made a few observations and discovered that the pantaloons to his costume of the Puritan period were identical with the cut and fit of plus fours.

Dane, who supplies the principal comedy relief in "The Scarlet Letter" first came into fame by virtue of his role of Slim in "The Big Parade."

MAUGHAM ENTERS NEW FIELD WITH COMEDY

"Lady Frederick," Pauline Frederick's vehicle, at El Capitan, Hollywood, may be said to be W. Somerset Maugham in another medium. The author of the sophisticated "The Circle," a virtuoso piece for John Drew and Mrs. Carter, of "Rain," and the South Sea novels, displays himself here as a bland and genial humorist.

"Lady Frederick" is frolicsome; it is said to be lit up with quirks and merriment, and Pauline Frederick is reported to have a part aptly suited to her comedy gifts.

British comedy it is, and packed with epigrams and pointed short sentences.

WILL LET OUT EARLY

I'M THE GINK

I'm the ginkette who always attempts to find out what the neighbors paid for things they have in their home. Sometimes I even brazenly ask. Most of the time, however, I ask others who have been in their home what they think the various articles cost. It is a sort of mania with me. People detest seeing me, because they know I will soon be plying the old questions. I adopt a secretive manner and in my best confidential voice ask, "I wonder what she paid for that bedroom piece, my dear? It looker rather cheap to me."

AUTO ACCIDENTS FATAL TO THREE

Woman Among Those Losing Lives in Traffic

One Driver Facing Charges of Manslaughter

Crash Injuries Expected to Cause Boy's Death

One woman and two men died yesterday as the result of traffic accidents, while three men, one of whom is not expected to live, suffered injuries in a fourth automobile crash.

Mrs. Eva Lowey, 60 years of age, a widow whose home was at 7319 Lexington avenue, died in the General Hospital from injuries suffered the 12th inst., when she was struck at Los Feliz Boulevard and Vermont avenue. The car which caused her death was driven by Jack Rea of 8627 West Knoll Drive. Mrs. Lowey's body was taken to the County Morgue.

Death came to Howard Ward, 45, of 1307 Maltman avenue, in the Pacific Hospital as the result of being struck by an automobile on Sunset Boulevard in the 3600 block Christmas Day. Charges of driving while intoxicated and failing to stop and render aid, which were originally filed against Cluess Stapleton of 2931 Glendon avenue, where changed to manslaughter last evening after Ward's death.

An unidentified Mexican was killed yesterday afternoon when a truck driven by A. Harusuian of 1208 Mentone avenue collided with a truck guided by E. E. Cousino of the Alamo Hotel, Lankershim. The Mexican, whose home is said to have been in Pasadena, was a helper on Harusuian's machine. The accident occurred at Empire and Lincoln avenues in Burbank.

Fred Granville, 22, of 4926 Raymond avenue, Hawthorne, was taken to the Receiving Hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull which is expected to prove fatal. He was hurled from a car in which he was riding with Gifford Lewis of 9812 Grape street, Watts, and W. S. Delabaugh of 700 East Fifth street, when the machine crashed into a truck at Eighth street and Hooper avenue. The driver of the truck was exonerated by the police of responsibility. Lewis and Delabaugh received minor injuries.

TEARS FLOW AS FIREMEN SAY ALOHA

Mates Praise Service and Present Watches to Men Who Will be Retired

It isn't often that firemen give way to tears, but they can shed them when the occasion justifies.

BATTALION CHIEF EDWIN GRIPP

Nearly 100 members of the Los Angeles fire department assembled at 2 p.m. yesterday to say farewell to retiring Batallion Chiefs Gripp and Crites, both of whom will leave the department January 1 after many years of service. Chief Crites was appointed July 1, 1900, as a hoseman and recently completed twenty-six and one-half years of service, while Gripp completed his twentieth year on November 1, last.

Tears began to trickle down Chief Crites's bronzed cheeks as he listened to the praise delivered by Capt. J. T. McCann of Engine Company No. 31 on behalf of the whole department. When he observed the misty eye of his chief listener, the captain's voice choked slightly and he paused to brush tears from his own eyes.

The sob in McCann's voice, as he continued, seemed to start others, and for a moment there was a general dabbing of handkerchiefs. In concluding his remarks, Capt. McCann presented a beautiful watch to the retiring chief and a bouquet to Mrs. Crites, who sat at his side. Chief Gripp also was given a watch and praised for his long years of faithful service.

BATTALION CHIEF ALDE CRITES

against Mrs. McPherson and the other co-defendants.

Attorney Woolley was to have been a witness at the hearing but was not called. Prior to the filing of the charges against Mrs. McPherson and the others, Mr. Woolley made a detailed statement to the District Attorney concerning his legal work in behalf of Mrs. McPherson and her mother. He was present during the hearing but remained on the sideline and did not take an active part in behalf of his clients.

BLUE COUPE MESTORED

Possession of a blue coupe, in which the State charges Ormiston "kidnaped" Mrs. McPherson from Ocean Park May 18, last, was granted the radio man yesterday by the District Attorney's office, it was announced.

The automobile, recently seized in an Oakland garage and held as State's evidence in the McPherson conspiracy case in which Ormiston is a defendant, was turned over to the radio man on his promise that he would produce it at the demand of the prosecution. It is expected to be an exhibit at the evangelist's forthcoming trial.

According to the State's reconstruction of Mrs. McPherson's case, Ormiston met her at the beach with the blue coupe and took her to a Carmel cottage by the sea, where the pair sojourned for ten days while a search for her supposedly drowned body was carried on at the beach.

Legal technicalities surrounding the seizure of the automobile as evidence were removed when Ormiston paid the garage and storage bill, which was charged to the District Attorney's office, and posted a $2000 bond for the car's return at the State's demand.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison said that he had not been informed whether Ormiston has hired legal counsel to represent him at his arraignment on felony charges January 6.

A lengthy conference between Dist.-Atty. Keyes and his deputies concerning the McPherson case was held yesterday.

WOMAN DIES OF POISONING

Mrs. Aileen Zart, 34 years of age, of 854 East Forty-second street, died late last night in the Receiving Hospital after swallowing poison. Her husband, who found her in a dazed condition upon his arrival at the residence, could give no reason for the act.

JOB CRYING FOR POSTMASTER

But Nobody's Poor Enough in Beverly Hills to Want Position

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 28. (AP) Beverly Hills Postoffice is understood to be going begging for a postmaster. Policy of the Republican County Central Committee is to recommend only Republicans of at least two years' residence and no citizen of Beverly Hills has been found, it is reported, who is poor enough to want the job.

This leaked out of a closed-door conference of bay district members of the committee in Santa Monica last night. The whole committee will meet tomorrow in Los Angeles for further discussion of this and other offices and to decide on a policy toward Proposition No. 28 on redistricting. The Legislature may be asked to resubmit the proposition to the voters.

Ocean Park Prepares for Celebration

Betty Peaman, One of the Yama-Yamas

OCEAN PARK, Dec. 28.—Hundreds of Ocean Park girls, dressed in yama-yama and other fantistic fete costumes, will act as hostesses at the New Year's Eve carnival here Friday evening. The fair funsters will mingle with the throng of merrymakers along the pleasure pier and in the amusement zone promoting the festive spirit.

Confetti and serpentine battles, clown bands, zigzag parades and a number of outdoor attractions have been planned by the Ocean Park Business Men's Association, sponsors of the event.

Special car service over the Pacific Electric Railway will assure transportation back to the city for those who wish to celebrate till the wee small hours.

Narcotic Tip Nets Three and Stolen Goods

Acting on a tip that they might apprehend two asserted violators of the State narcotic law, Detectives Southard, Kirkpatrick and Yoakam of the narcotic squad not only captured their quarry last night, but arrested two other persons after they discovered supposedly stolen property valued at $6000 in the home of one of them.

The first call was made at 1876 La Brea street, where the officers arrested Monty Gibson and his wife, Bessie Gibson, after, they assert they found a small quantity of narcotics in their possession. Among Gibson's effects, they declared, was a paper on which was written "2509 1-2 West Pico street."

On the chance they might discover a cache of drugs at that address, which proved to be the home of Mrs. Blanche Dowdy, the officers entered and discovered the asserted loot. They then arrested Mrs. Dowdy and Paul Boyd, who declared he is in the real-estate business and lives at 1278 North Kingsley Drive, on suspicion of burglary charges. The woman, the detectives declared, is the wife of Charles Dowdy, known as the "Pajama Kid," now serving a term in San Quentin for robbery of a payroll messenger.

Secret Wedding of Director and Star Disclosed

The New Year's surprise which Ena Gregory, Universal leading lady, and Al Rogell, director of First National screen features, had prepared for their friends, will come as the "fade-out" of the old year, instead of the introduction of the new, as it leaked out last night that the young couple, whose engagement was announced some time ago, were married last Thursday in Santa Barbara.

Although the actress and director took every precaution to prevent the news becoming known, even to their immediate families, until they "sprung" it at a New Year's Eve party which is planned, it somehow got about and was admitted last night at the bride's home, 846 South Genesee avenue.

The new Mrs. Rogell is a native of Australia, while the director was born in Oklahoma in 1901.

Kissless Bride Given Decree of Annulment

Mrs. Media Harvey was granted an annulment of her marriage to John G. Harvey by Judge Gates yesterday after she had pictured herself a "kissless bride."

According to Mrs. Harvey they were married in Santa Ana, October 21, 1925, separating immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Harvey told the court that she had many times refused to marry him, but that due to illness of her son she had borrowed $450 from Harvey.

"He used this as a club, threatening me with jail and civil suits," she testified; adding that she believed he would carry out his threats if she failed to go through with the ceremony.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES PEDESTRIAN TUNNEL

The construction of a pedestrian tunnel under Wilshire Boulevard at McCadden Place was authorized yesterday by the City Council. The work will be done by the North Pacific Construction company, which has the contract for the widening and paving of Wilshire, now under way. The construction of the pedestrian tunnel is to be expedited so that it can be completed while the other Wilshire Boulevard improvements are under way and before the street is repaved.

The INTERVIEWER

"Your Los Angeles holiday sunshine reminds me of my home town," said H. J. Wilson, manager of the Empress Hotel, Victoria, B. C., who is at the Ambassador.

"I find that few persons in this section realize what a mild climate we have in Victoria. Everybody believes that because of its location so far north our town is a place of snow and cold.

"As a matter of fact, we never have snow. It rains occasionally in the winter time, but not to the extent that it does in Seattle or Portland. Our lawns have to be mowed all winter long.

"Victoria is rapidly becoming a winter resort, especially for the people who live in the prairie provinces of Canada, whose winters are long and very cold. Many of them spend the midwinter months in Victoria to escape the rigors of their own climate.

"We have plans under way for increasing this winter-resort traffic through advertising in Eastern Canada and, if possible, hope to co-operate with Southern California in this matter. Many of our winter visitors spend a part of the time in Victoria and then go to Los Angeles, and not a few come from Los Angeles to our city. One of the objects of my visit here at this time is to increase this exchange of winter tourists through arrangements with the hotels here."

HEAVY TRAVEL COMING, PULLMAN AGENT SAYS

"Tourist traffic to Southern California during the coming winter months promises to be larger than for many years," said J. M. Fithian of Chicago, publicity man for the Pullman Company, who is at the Alexandria.

"Travel to California has been heavy all this year, and a large proportion of those who went to Florida last year and the year before will come to California this season when seeking a mild winter climate. I base this prediction on the great demand at this time for western Pullman accommodations.

"Eastern sentiment in regard to California was never so favorable as it is at this moment. I believe this is particularly due to the fact that eastern ideas about this State seem to have undergone a change during the last couple of years. Aside from the climatic advantages here, the easterner has become impressed with the idea that California possesses great business and economic advantages. The easterner has discovered that the Californians really have something worth crowing over."

WATER SUPPLY ASSURED BY ARIZONA SNOWFALL

"Arizona ranchers are jubilant over the heavy snowfall in the mountains of that State during the last few weeks," said H. S. McCluskey of Phoenix, secretary of the Arizona delegation of the Colorado River Commission, who is at the Alexandria.

"In the White Mountains, for instance, snow fell in some places to a depth of fifteen or sixteen feet. This is the heaviest snowfall since 1917. For the first time in five years Roosevelt Dam will be filled this season and the agricultural and water experts of the State assert that enough snow has already fallen to provide an ample water supply for five years in some of Arizona's most important agricultural sections."

Diners at Cafe Terrorized by Liquor Raiders

Diners at the George Washington Cafe at 1726 North Main street were thrown into confusion by a liquor raid yesterday. Federal prohibition officers reported. The report spread among the patrons of the cafe that a bandit raid was in progress and a wild scramble ensued.

Search of the place revealed several bottles of whisky, the agents reported. The proprietor, Joe Ferre, was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor.

The Federal officers said that the asserted evidence was turned over to the police. The raid was made at about the noon hour.

WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN TRAFFIC

Struck by an automobile driven by J. F. Ryan of 409 South Burlington avenue, Mrs. Nellie Dignum, 419 South Burlington avenue, was taken to the Receiving Hospital in a critical condition yesterday, police reported. She suffered a probable fracture of the skull. The accident occurred at Sixth and Burlington. Mrs. Dignum, apparently becoming confused in heavy traffic, according to the report.

DOWNTOWN LIGHTS URGED

The Board of Public Works yesterday recommended to the City Council ornamental lighting posts be installed on Los Angeles street from Fifth street to Seventh street.

Loser in Race Against Stork Wins in Court

James T. McHerndon was stepping on the gas in order to beat the stork when he was stopped by a motorcycle policeman on Santa Monica Boulevard several nights ago, he told Municipal Judge McConnell yesterday when he appeared for trial on a charge of driving thirty-six miles an hour in a twenty-mile zone.

"Did you win?" Judge McConnell queried.

"No, I didn't, Your Honor," McHerndon replied between blushes. "I lost by about five minutes. But it's a mighty fine baby, anyway."

"Well, two losses on account of the stork is too much for a proud parent," Judge McConnell declared, "so I'll help you not lose here. I'll suspend your fine and give you my heartiest congratulations."

"Judge, it's too late now," McHerndon declared, "but I sure wish I had named that baby William McConnell McHerndon."

"That's a tough break for me," Judge McConnell said, "but you never can tell what might happen in the future."

LOS ANGELES SCOUT WINS REGION POST

Ralph H. Salazar Made Council Chief of District Twelve on Coast

For the first time in the history of the Lone Scout Division of the Boy Scouts of America, a Los Angeles boy won the position of Council Chief of Region Twelve. When Ralph H. Salazar polled the greatest number of votes from the grand councillors of that division, to win the position which opens January 1.

RALPH H. SALAZAR.

Lone Scout Salazar has been active in the division for several years, organized the Los Angeles Lone Scout League in 1924, editing and publishing an amateur publication called "Pacific Scout," writing a Lone Scout rally song and representing Los Angeles at the national Lone Scout rally in Chicago in August, 1925.

The region over which he will have jurisdiction will be California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona.

A national council chief who represents the Lone Scouts at the national delegation yearly is also nominated and elected. Royal W. McDonald, another Los Angeles youth, but now residing in Austin, Tex., was almost unanimously elected over three other candidates.

Speaker Urges Law Guarding Names for Baby

Advocating passage of a law that would prevent parents from giving children names and initials which later in life might prove a detriment to their success, Coleman Cox, author and lecturer, in an address to the Advertising Club at the Biltmore yesterday said that most great men in history have not been encumbered with a string of names in honor of their ancestors.

"Even a good salesman, in addition to all other qualifications, including honesty, a pleasing personality and a popular article to sell, should have a name easy to remember," said the speaker.

Donald Thomas, secretary of the club, announced that the speaker next Tuesday noon will be Peter B. Kyne. Harry J. McClean was chairman of the meeting yesterday and a musical program was furnished by the Hawaiian quartet from "The Prince of Hawaii" company.

Ralph Spence Charges Cite Salary Notes

Charged with issuing non-negotiable notes in lieu of salary in violation of the State Labor Law, Ralph Spence, Hollywood title and scenario writer and asserted "angel" of the Will Morrissey Revue, was named defendant in a complaint issued yesterday by Chief Deputy City Prosecutor Concannon.

The complaint was issued on the recommendation of Deputy Labor Commissioner Lowy, who declared that Spence, as promoter of the show, owes Hazel Maye Borden more than $1000 for her part in the production.

WATER COMPANY TOLD TO GIVE $1335 REFUND

The State Railroad Commission yesterday ordered the Vermont Water Company, serving the territory adjacent to the intersection of One Hundred and Tenth and Hooper streets, to refund $15 collected from each of the eighty-nine users for tapping charges. It was said that the collections were contrary to an old order of the commission requiring the company to extend its service to the curb line free of charge.

COAL GAS OVERCOMES PATRONS AT CONCERT

PARIS, Dec. 28. (AP)—A score of American musicians and music lovers were seized with fainting spells while leaving a Mont Parnasse concert hall late last night. The hall, tightly closed against the cold, was heated by coal stoves, and preliminary investigation this morning indicated that coal gas caused the prostrations. Some of those overcome were unconscious several minutes, but none suffered serious after-effects.

WILSHIRE LIGHTING STARTED

The installation of ornamental lighting posts on Wilshire Boulevard from Park View avenue to Fairfax avenue was started yesterday by the Board of Public Works, which approved of the specifications for these special-type posts, so that bids can be advertised for.

HUSBAND SUES PLAYFUL WIFE

Charges She Poisoned Him, Shot at Him and Caused Him Much Worry

Accusing his wife, Lora Deitch, of putting poison in his food, of having fired five shots at him while he laid in bed and of always keeping a revolver handy, Max Deitch yesterday filed suit for divorce in Superior Court. The couple had lived together twenty-two years, the complaint stated.

Deitch further said his wife falsely accused him, contradicted him on all subjects and caused him so much worry that his health became impaired. Deitch asserted that two of the shots fired by his wife struck him in the head.

ACTION TO BAR JUDGE LAUNCHED

Jurist of Kern County Ordered in Court to Show Eligibility as Lawyer

An order to show cause why his license to practice law in California should not be revoked was directed against Superior Judge Howard A. Peairs of Kern county yesterday by the Second District Court of Appeal, Division Two.

The order was made on complaint of T. F. Allen and Samuel Sanborn, Bakersfield attorneys, who filed a petition asserting that Peairs was not fully qualified as required by law when he was admitted to practice here.

The law requires that an applicant either pass an examination or show that he has been admitted to practice before the highest court of some other State. Peairs presented an affidavit that he was qualified to practice before the highest court in Kansas, whereas, in reality, he had not been admitted to practice before any court higher than the District courts in Kansas, according to the petition.

Since he was admitted to practice here, Peairs was appointed and later elected Superior Judge in Kern county. If his license is revoked, according to Clerk Lillie, he will automatically become disqualified to sit as a judge.

Wife Sues Niece of Husband for Lost Affection

Ethel M. Playman, niece of Daniel D. Alton, was yesterday made defendant in a $25,000 action for the asserted loss of her husband's affections, by Mrs. America Lee Alton. The heart-balm action is the echo of a divorce suit filed a few days ago by Mrs. Alton, in which she charges the niece with wrecking her home.

In her divorce action, Mrs. Alton stated that her husband said "he would never live with her again" and that her place in his life had been taken by the niece.

Mrs. Alton further charged that her husband boasted of the good times he was having without her, that he preferred his niece to his wife, and that he often struck her. She asked for $60 a month alimony and $50,000 in community property she says is controlled by her husband.

Travelers' Aid Society Tells Holiday Cares

Making contact with fifty-five cities and five foreign countries in one day was the record made by the Travelers' Aid Society during the holiday rush, the report of that fact on the shoulders of its depot representatives was unusually heavy this year, according to Miss Eleanor Kimble, assistant secretary. It was the experience of a worker one day to untangle the traveling difficulties of a group of foreigners no one of whom spoke the language of the other.

During Christmas week representatives of the society handled a total of 760 travelers, many of whom were blind, deaf, ill or mentally incompetent, and bewildered by the confusion of a great city.

San Gabriel to Say Farewell to New Bishop

Rt. Rev. John Maistigue, the Father John of San Gabriel Mission, who recently was created bishop, will leave San Gabriel Monday for the See of Panama, where he is to take up the duties of his new office.

Next Sunday afternoon in the City Hall Auditorium of San Gabriel there will be a gathering to bid Bishop Maistigue farewell. There is to be a program of entertainment to which the public is invited. John Steven McGroarty, author of the Mission Play, will preside, and addresses will be delivered by Joseph Scott and others representing the San Gabriel Board of City Trustees, the San Gabriel Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

Capt. Ghent to be Relieved on Recruiting Job

Capt. D. T. Ghent, U.S.N., who has been in charge of the navy recruiting station since last July, will be relieved by Lieutenant-Commander B. B. Waddell, U.S.N., the first of the year.

Capt. Ghent has been made recruiting inspector of the western division and will leave for San Francisco shortly after the arrival of his relief. Lieutenant-Commander Waddell was in command of the U.S.S. Mullaney prior to his coming to Los Angeles for duty.

PRIZE LAMB ON MENU

Southern Pacific Buys Blue Ribbon Stock for Fast Trains

Two of six California lambs given first prizes at the recent International Live-stock Show in Chicago, were received yesterday at the local commissary of the Southern Pacific to be served travelers on the Golden State Limited.

The prize lambs were purchased for use on the fast trains as a means of advertising the State's best products to travelers from the East, according to C. R. Walsh, in charge of the local dining-car commissary. The Southern Pacific purchased two pens of three lambs each, one pen at 43 cents a pound on the hoof and the other at 45½ cents per pound.

Following the show, the prize-winning lambs, entered by the agricultural department of the University of California, were returned to Davis, where they were turned over to the railroad.

AUTO ACCIDENTS FATAL TO THREE

Woman Among Those Losing Lives in Traffic

One Driver Facing Charges of Manslaughter

Crash Injuries Expected to Cause Boy's Death

One woman and two men died yesterday as the result of traffic accidents, while three men, one of whom is not expected to live, suffered injuries in a fourth automobile crash.

Mrs. Eva Lowey, 60 years of age, a widow whose home was at 7519 Lexington avenue, died in the General Hospital from injuries suffered the 12th inst., when she was struck at Los Feliz Boulevard and Vermont avenue. The car which caused her death was driven by Jack Rea, of 9627 West Knoll Drive. Mrs. Lowey's body was taken to the County Morgue.

Death came to Howard Ward, 45, of 1307 Maltman avenue, in the Pacific Hospital as the result of being struck by an automobile on Sunset Boulevard in the 3600 block Christmas Day. Charges of driving while intoxicated and failing to stop and render aid, which were originally filed against Cluese Stapleton of 3331 Glendon avenue, where changed to manslaughter last evening after Ward's death.

An unidentified Mexican was killed yesterday afternoon when a truck driven by A. Harusuian of 1205 Mentone avenue collided with a truck guided by E. E. Cousine of the Alamo Hotel, Lankershim. The Mexican, whose home is said to have been in Pasadena, was a helper on Harusuian's machine. The accident occurred at Empire and Lincoln avenues in Burbank.

Fred Granville, 22, of 4938 Raymond avenue, Hawthorne, was taken to the Receiving Hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull which is expected to prove fatal. He was hurled from a car in which he was riding with Gifford Lewis of 9812 Grape street, Watts, and W. S. Delabaugh of 700 East Fifth street, when the machine crashed into a truck at Eighth street and Hooper avenue. The driver of the truck was exonerated by the police of responsibility. Lewis and Delabaugh received minor injuries.

TEARS FLOW AS FIREMEN SAY ALOHA

Mates Praise Service and Present Watches to Men Who Will be Retired

It isn't often that firemen give way to tears, but they can shed them when the occasion justifies.

BATTALION CHIEF EDWIN GRIPP

Nearly 1 0 0 members of the Los Angeles fire department assembled at 2 p.m. yesterday to say farewell to retiring Battalion Chief Edwin Gripp and Crites, both of whom will leave the department January 1 after many years of service. Chief Crites was appointed July 1, 1900, as a fireman and recently completed twenty-six and one-half years of service, while Gripp completed his twentieth year on November 1, last.

BATTALION CHIEF ALDE CRITES

Tears began to trickle down Chief Crites's bronzed cheeks as he listened to the praise delivered by Capt. J. T. McCann of Engine Company No. 31 on behalf of the whole department. When he observed the misty eye of his chief listener, the captain's voice choked slightly and he paused to brush tears from his own eyes.

The sob in McCann's voice, as he continued, seemed to start others, and for a moment there was a general dabbing of handkerchiefs. In concluding his remarks, Capt. McCann presented a beautiful watch to the retiring chief and a bouquet to Mrs. Crites, who sat at his side. Chief Gripp also was given a watch and praised for his long years of faithful service.

against Mrs. McPherson and the other co-defendants.

Attorney Woolley was to have been a witness at the hearing but was not called. Prior to the filing of the charges against Mrs. McPherson and the others, Mr. Woolley made a detailed statement to the District Attorney concerning his legal work in behalf of Mrs. McPherson and her mother. He was present during the hearing but remained on the sideline and did not take an active part in behalf of his clients.

BLUE COUPE RESTORED

Possession of a blue coupe, in which the State charges Ormiston "kidnaped" Mrs. McPherson from Ocean Park May 18, last, was granted the radio man yesterday by the District Attorney's office, it was announced.

The automobile, recently seized in an Oakland garage and held as State's evidence in the McPherson conspiracy case in which Ormiston is a defendant, was turned over to the radio man on his promise that he would produce it at the demand of the prosecution. It is expected to be an exhibit at the evangelist's forthcoming trial.

According to the State's reconstruction of Mrs. McPherson's case, Ormiston met her at the beach with the blue coupe and took her to a Carmel cottage by the sea, where the pair sojourned for ten days while a search for her supposedly drowned body was carried on at the beach.

Legal technicalities surrounding the seizure of the automobile as evidence were removed when Ormiston paid the garage and storage bill, which was charged to the District Attorney's office, and posted a $2500 bond for the car's return at the State's demand.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison said that he had not been informed whether Ormiston has hired legal counsel to represent him at his arraignment on felony charges January 6.

A lengthy conference between Dist.-Atty. Keyes and his deputies concerning the McPherson case was held yesterday.

WOMAN DIES OF POISONING

Mrs. Aileen Zart, 34 years of age, of 654 East Forty-second street, died late last night in the Receiving Hospital after swallowing poison. Her husband, who found her in a dazed condition upon his arrival at the residence, could give no reason for the act.

Ocean Park Prepares for Celebration

Betty Peaman, One of the Yama-Yamas

OCEAN PARK, Dec. 28.—Hundreds of Ocean Park girls, dressed in yama-yama and other fantistic fete costumes, will act as hostesses at the New Year's Eve carnival here Friday evening. The fair funsters will mingle with the throng of merrymakers along the pleasure pier and in the amusement zone promoting the festive spirit.

Confetti and serpentine battles, clown bands, zigzag parades and a number of outdoor attractions have been planned by the Ocean Park Business Men's Association, sponsors of the event.

Special car service over the Pacific Electric Railway will assure transportation back to the city for those who wish to celebrate till the wee small hours.

Narcotic Tip Nets Three and Stolen Goods

Acting on a tip that they might apprehend two asserted violators of the State poison law, Detectives Southard, Kirkpatrick and Yokasm of the narcotic squad not only captured their quarry last night, but arrested two other persons after they discovered supposedly stolen property valued at $6000 in the home of one of them.

The first call was made at 1376 La Brea street, where the officers arrested Monty Gibson and his wife, Bessie Gibson, after, they assert they found a small quantity of narcotics in their possession. Among Gibson's effects, they declared, was a paper on which was written "2500 1-2 West Pico street."

Or the chance they might discover a cache of drugs at that address, which proved to be the home of Mrs. Blanche Dowdy, the officers entered and discovered the asserted loot. They then arrested Mrs. Dowdy and Paul Boyd, who declared he is in the real estate business and lives at 1278 North Kingsley Drive, on suspicion of burglary charges. The woman, the detectives declared, is the wife of Charles Dowdy, known as the "Pajama Kid," now serving a term in San Quentin for robbery of a payroll messenger.

Secret Wedding of Director and Star Disclosed

The New Year's surprise which Elna Gregory, Universal leading lady, and Al Rogell, director of First National screen features, had prepared for their friends, will come as the "fade-out" of the old year, instead of the introduction of the new, as it leaked out last night that the young couple, whose engagement was announced some time ago, were married last Thursday in Santa Barbara.

Although the actress and director took every precaution to prevent the news becoming known, even to their immediate families, until they "sprung" it at a New Year's Eve party which is planned, it somehow got about and was admitted last night at the bride's home, 846 South Genesee avenue.

The new Mrs. Rogell is a native of Australia, while the director was born in Oklahoma in 1901.

Kissless Bride Given Decree of Annulment

Mrs. Media Harvey was granted an annulment of her marriage to John G. Harvey by Judge Gates yesterday after she had pictured herself a "kissless bride."

According to Mrs. Harvey they were married in Santa Ana, October 31, 1925, separating immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Harvey told the court that she had many times refused to marry him, but that due to illness of her son she had borrowed $450 from Harvey.

"He used this as a club, threatening me with jail and civil suits," she testified; adding that she believed he would carry out his threats if she failed to go through with the ceremony.

JOB CRYING FOR POSTMASTER

But Nobody's Poor Enough in Beverly Hills to Want Position

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 28. (AP) Beverly Hills Postoffice is understood to be going begging for a postmaster. Policy of the Republican County Central Committee is to recommend only Republicans of at least two years' residence and no citizen of Beverly Hills has been found, it is reported, who is poor enough to want the job.

This leaked out of a closed-door conference of bay district members of the committee in Santa Monica last night. The whole committee will meet tomorrow in Los Angeles for further discussion of this and other offices and to decide on a policy toward Proposition No. 28 on redistricting. The Legislature may be asked to resubmit the proposition to the voters.

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES PEDESTRIAN TUNNEL

The construction of a pedestrian tunnel under Wilshire Boulevard at McCadden Place was authorized yesterday by the City Council. The work will be done by the North Pacific Construction company, which has the contract for the widening and paving of Wilshire, now under way. The construction of the pedestrian tunnel is to be expedited so that it can be completed while the other Wilshire Boulevard improvements are under way and before the street is repaved.

The INTERVIEWER

"Your Los Angeles holiday sunshine reminds me of my home town," said H. J. Wilson, manager of the Empress Hotel, Victoria, B. C., who is at the Ambassador.

"I find that few persons in this section realize what a mild climate we have in Victoria. Everybody believes that because of its location so far north our town is a place of snow and cold.

"As a matter of fact, we never have snow. It rains occasionally in the winter time, but not to the extent that it does in Seattle or Portland. Our lawns have to be mowed all winter long.

"Victoria is rapidly becoming a winter resort, especially for the people who live in the prairie provinces of Canada, whose winters are long and very cold. Many of them spend the midwinter months in Victoria to escape the rigors of their own climate.

"We have plans under way for increasing this winter-resort traffic through advertising in Eastern Canada and, if possible, hope to co-operate with Southern California in this matter. Many of our winter visitors spend a part of the time in Victoria and then go to Los Angeles, and not a few come from Los Angeles to our city. One of the objects of my visit here at this time is to increase this exchange of winter tourists through arrangements with the hotels here."

HEAVY TRAVEL COMING, PULLMAN AGENT SAYS

"Tourist traffic to Southern California during the coming winter months promises to be larger than for many years," said J. M. Fithian of Chicago, publicity man for the Pullman Company, who is at the Alexandria.

"Travel to California has been heavy all this year, and a large proportion of those who went to Florida last year and the year before will come to California this season when seeking a mild winter climate. I base this prediction on the great demand at this time for western Pullman accommodations.

"Eastern sentiment in regard to California was never so favorable as it is at this moment. I believe this is particularly due to the fact that scientific ideas about this State seem to have undergone a change during the last couple of years. Aside from the climatic advantages here, the easterner has become impressed with the idea that California possesses great business and economic advantages. The easterner has discovered that the Californians really have something worth crowing over."

WATER SUPPLY ASSURED BY ARIZONA SNOWFALL

"Arizona ranchers are jubilant over the heavy snowfall in the mountains of that State during the last few weeks," said H. S. McCluskey of Phoenix, secretary of the Arizona delegation of the Colorado River Commission, who is at the Alexandria.

"In the White Mountains, for instance, snow fell in some places to a depth of fifteen or sixteen feet. This is the heaviest snowfall since 1917. For the first time in five years Roosevelt Dam will be filled this season and the agricultural and water experts of the State assert that enough snow has already fallen to provide an ample water supply for five years in some of Arizona's most important agricultural sections."

Diners at Cafe Terrorized by Liquor Raiders

Diners at the George Washington Cafe at 1796 North Main street were thrown into confusion by a liquor raid yesterday, Federal prohibition officers reported. The report spread among the patrons of the cafe that a bandit raid was in progress and a wild scramble ensued.

Search of the place revealed several bottles of whisky, the agents reported. The proprietor, Joe Ferre, was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor.

The Federal officers said that the asserted evidence was turned over to the police. The raid was made at about the noon hour.

WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN TRAFFIC

Struck by an automobile driven by J. F. Ryan of 409 South Burlington avenue, Mrs. Nellie Dignum, 410 South Burlington avenue, was taken to the Receiving Hospital in a critical condition yesterday, police reported. She suffered a probable fracture of the skull. The accident occurred at Sixth and Burlington. Mrs. Dignum is apparently becoming confused in heavy traffic, according to the report.

DOWNTOWN LIGHTS URGED

The Board of Public Works yesterday recommended to the City Council ornamental lighting posts be installed on Los Angeles street from Fifth street to Seventh street.

Loser in Race Against Stork Wins in Court

James T. McHerndon was stepping on the gas in order to beat the stork when he was stopped by a motorcycle policeman on Santa Monica Boulevard several nights ago, he told Municipal Judge McConnell yesterday when he appeared for trial on a charge of driving thirty-six miles an hour in a twenty-mile zone.

"Did you win?" Judge McConnell queried.

"No, I didn't, Your Honor," McHerndon replied between blushes. "I lost by about five minutes. But it's a mighty fine baby, anyway."

"Well, two losses on account of the stork is too much for'a proud parent," Judge McConnell declared, "so I'll help you not lose here. I'll suspend your fine and give you my heartiest congratulations."

"Judge, it's too late now," McHerndon declared, "but I sure wish I had named that baby William McConnell McHerndon."

"That's a tough break for me," Judge McConnell said, "but you never can tell what might happen in the future."

LOS ANGELES SCOUT WINS REGION POST

Ralph H. Salazar Made Council Chief of District Twelve on Coast

For the first time in the history of the Lone Scout Division of the Boy Scouts of America, a Los Angeles boy won the position of Council Chief of Region Twelve, when Ralph H. Salazar polled the greatest number of votes from the grand councillors of that division, to win the position which opens January 1.

RALPH H. SALAZAR.

Lone Scout Salazar has been active in the division for several years, organized the Los Angeles Lone Scout League in 1924, editing and publishing an amateur publication called "Pacific Scout," writing a Lone Scout rally song and representing Los Angeles at the national Lone Scout rally in Chicago in August, 1925.

The region over which he will have jurisdiction will be California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona.

A national council chief who represents the Lone Scouts at the national delegation yearly is also nominated and elected. Royal W. McDonald, another Los Angeles youth, but now residing in Austin, Tex., was almost unanimously elected over three other candidates.

Speaker Urges Law Guarding Names for Baby

Advocating passage of a law that would prevent parents from giving children names and initials which later in life might prove a detriment to their success, Coleman Cox, author and lecturer, in an address to the Advertising Club at the Biltmore yesterday said that most great men in history have not been encumbered with a string of names in honor of their ancestors.

"Even a good salesman, in addition to all other qualifications, including honesty, a pleasing personality and a popular article to sell, should have a name easy to remember," said the speaker.

Donald Thomas, secretary of the club, announced that the speaker next Tuesday noon will be Peter B. Kyne. Harry J. McClean was chairman of the meeting yesterday and a musical program was furnished by the Hawaiian quartet from "The Prince of Hawaii" company.

Ralph Spence Charges Cite Salary Notes

Charged with issuing non-negotiable notes in lieu of salary in violation of the State Labor Law, Ralph Spence, Hollywood title and scenario writer and asserted "angel" of the Will Morrissey Revue, was named defendant in a complaint issued yesterday by Chief Deputy City Prosecutor Concannon.

The complaint was framed on the recommendation of Deputy Labor Commissioner Lowy, who declared that Spence, as promoter of the show, owes Hazel Maye Borden more than $1000 for her part in the production.

WATER COMPANY TOLD TO GIVE $1335 REFUND

The State Railroad Commission yesterday ordered the Vermont Water Company, serving the territory adjacent to the intersection of One Hundred and Tenth and Hoover streets, to refund $15 collected from each of the eighty-nine users for tapping charges. It was said that the collections were contrary to an old order of the commission requiring the company to extend its service to the curb line free of charge.

COAL GAS OVERCOMES PATRONS AT CONCERT

PARIS, Dec. 28. (AP)—A score of American musicians and music lovers were seized with fainting spells while leaving a Mont Parnasse concert hall late last night. The hall, tightly closed against the cold, was heated by coal stoves, and preliminary investigation this morning indicated that coal gas caused the prostrations. Some of those overcome were unconscious several minutes, but none suffered serious after-effects.

WILSHIRE LIGHTING STARTED

The installation of ornamental lighting posts on Wilshire Boulevard from Park View avenue to Fairfax avenue was started yesterday by the Board of Public Works, which approved of the specifications for these special-type posts, so that bids can be advertised for.

HUSBAND SUES PLAYFUL WIFE

Charges She Poisoned Him, Shot at Him and Caused Him Much Worry

Accusing his wife, Lora Deitch, of putting poison in his food, of having fired five shots at him while he laid in bed and of always keeping a revolver handy, Max Deitch yesterday filed suit for divorce in Superior Court. The couple had lived together twenty-two years, the complaint stated.

Deitch further said his wife falsely accused him, contradicted him on all subjects and caused him so much worry that his health became impaired. Deitch asserted that two of the shots fired by his wife struck him in the head.

ACTION TO BAR JUDGE LAUNCHED

Jurist of Kern County Ordered in Court to Show Eligibility as Lawyer

An order to show cause why his license to practice law in California should not be revoked was directed against Superior Judge Howard A. Peairs of Kern county yesterday by the Second District Court of Appeal, Division Two.

The order was made on complaint of T. F. Allen and Samuel Sanborn, Bakersfield attorneys, who filed a petition asserting that Peairs was not fully qualified as required by law when he was admitted to practice here.

The law requires that an applicant either pass an examination or show that he has been admitted to practice before the highest court of some other State. Peairs presented an affidavit that he was qualified to practice before the highest court in Kansas, whereas, in reality, he had not been admitted to practice before any court higher than the District courts in Kansas, according to the petition.

Since he was admitted to practice here, Peairs was appointed and later elected Superior Judge in Kern county. If his license is revoked, according to Clerk Lillis, he will automatically become disqualified to sit as a judge.

Wife Sues Niece of Husband for Lost Affection

Ethel M. Playman, niece of Daniel D. Alton, was yesterday made defendant in a $25,000 action for the asserted loss of her husband's affections, by Mrs. America Lee Alton. The heart-balm action is the echo of a divorce suit filed a few days ago by Mrs. Alton, in which she charges the niece with wrecking her home.

In her divorce action, Mrs. Alton stated that her husband said "he would never live with her again" and that her place in his life had been taken by the niece.

Mrs. Alton further charged that her husband boasted of the good times he was having without her, that he preferred his niece to his wife, and that he often struck her. She asked for $400 a month alimony and $60,000 in community property she says is controlled by her husband.

Travelers' Aid Society Tells Holiday Cares

Making contact with fifty-five cities and five foreign countries in one day was the record made by the Travelers' Aid society during the holiday rush.

The burden that fell on the shoulders of its depot representatives was unusually heavy this year, according to Miss Eleanor Kimble, assistant secretary. It was the experience of a worker one day to untangle the traveling difficulties of a group of foreigners no one of whom spoke the language of the other.

During Christmas week representatives of the society handled a total of 700 travelers, many of whom were blind, deaf, ill or mentally incompetent, and bewildered by the confusion of a great city.

San Gabriel to Say Farewell to New Bishop

Rt. Rev. John Maistrigue, the Father John of San Gabriel Mission, who recently was created bishop, will leave San Gabriel Monday for the See of Panama, where he is to take up the duties of his new office.

Next Sunday afternoon in the City Hall Auditorium of San Gabriel there will be a gathering to bid Bishop Maistrigue farewell. There is to be a program of entertainment to which the public is invited. John Steven McGroarty, author of the Mission Play, will preside, and addresses will be delivered by Joseph Scott and others representing the San Gabriel Board of City Trustees, the San Gabriel Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

Capt. D. T. Ghent, U.S.N., who has been in charge of the navy recruiting station since last July, will be relieved by Lieutenant-Commander R. B. Waddell, U.S.N., the first of the year.

Capt. Ghent has been made recruiting inspector of the western division and will leave for San Francisco shortly after the arrival of his relief. Lieutenant-Commander Waddell was in command of the U.S.S. Mullaney prior to his coming to Los Angeles for duty.

PRIZE LAMB ON MENU

Southern Pacific Buys Blue Ribbon Stock for Fast Trains

Two of six California lambs given first prizes at the recent International Live-stock Show in Chicago, were received yesterday at the local commissary of the Southern Pacific to be served travelers on the Golden State Limited.

The prize lambs were purchased for use on the fast trains as a means of advertising the State's best products to travelers from the East, according to C. R. Walsh, in charge of the local dining-car commissary. The Southern Pacific purchased two pens of three lambs each, one pen at 43 cents a pound on the hoof and the other at 45½ cents per pound.

Following the show, the prize-winning lambs, entered by the agricultural department of the University of California, were returned to Davis, where they were turned over to the railroad.

ROSE FESTIVAL ROADS MAPPED

Directions Given to Aid Traffic Problem

Attendance Expected to Number 750,000

Directing Force Augmented by Thousand Men

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—With at least 750,000 persons expected to visit Pasadena for the annual Tournament of Roses New Year's Day elaborate preparations have been made for the influx of automobiles. Nearly 1000 additional officers will be on duty in Pasadena and surrounding communities to expedite the streams of traffic.

Two hundred and seventy extra officers from Los Angeles and the county force will augment the Pasadena traffic division. Near-by cities and towns will have 700 additional officers aiding their regular traffic squads in keeping the roads open to and from this city.

SIGNS POSTED

The Automobile Club of Southern California, in addition to posting 2500 special signs to guide motorists in the vicinity of Pasadena, will aid in the traffic movement. Seven emergency cars will be stationed along the route of the parade to render aid to any car or float that breaks down. For a similar purpose an emergency car will follow each division of the parade.

Motorists coming to Pasadena for the celebration are asked by Chief of Police Kelley to have sufficient oil and gasoline. If possible, they should enter the city from the east or southeast, and see the parade on Hill or East Orange Grove avenue. They should park before reaching the parade route.

Persons taking the Pacific Electric from Los Angeles are asked to take the Oak Knoll line and leave the cars at Lake avenue and Colorado street, as the short-line cars, unloading passengers down town, add to the congestion. Both lines will have three-minute service from Los Angeles and special through trains will be run from other points.

PASTE STICKERS

Motorists going to the football game are asked to paste on the windshield the colored sticker given with each ticket, as these show the location of the seats and will facilitate direction of cars by traffic officers at the Rose Bowl.

The parade will start at 10:30 a.m. and the football game at 2:15 p.m. Charles D. Lockwood will be Grand Marshal of the parade. The reviewing stand has just been completed at East Orange Grove and Hill avenue. The parade will be four and a half miles long, will contain 275 units and will be an hour and forty-five minutes in passing.

Plans are being worked out so as to arrange the twenty-five or thirty bands that there will be no gaps in the music.

Health and Business

Ill health is the real cause of business depression, declares Dr. Huntington of Yale. There comes a spell of general ill health, followed by more numerous deaths and this so depresses the population and creates such a feeling of panic that one of its results is a financial crisis, which is thus in reality due to the weakening effects of ill health.—[New York World.

LANKERSHIM IN NEW HANDS

Toledo Men Will Operate and Improve Downtown Hotel; Other Hostelries Change Owners

Transfer of the management of the Hotel Lankershim, for the past seven years controlled by Wallace W. Whitecotton, to E. P. Severcool and E. B. Edmonds was completed yesterday, according to announcement made by J. D. Minster & Co., who handled the negotiations. The Lankershim is one of Los Angeles's best-known downtown hotels. It has 300 rooms.

Edmonds and Severcool for many years past have operated the leading commercial hotels in Toledo, O.

"We have been coming to California for quite a number of years and on each visit our faith in the development of this section has grown until we finally have closed out practically all of our eastern interests and decided to make this our permanent place of residence," said Mr. Severcool. "We will immediately redecorate the exterior and interior of the Lankershim for the purpose of bringing this house to the latest and most modern of hotel standards."

In addition to this transaction, J. D. Minster & Co. yesterday completed negotiations for the transfer of the Hotel Tyler at Grand avenue and Thirty-seventh street to George F. Morrow of Kansas City. They acted for C. F. Lauman, who opened this residential hotel a year ago. C. W. Beardsley, sales manager of the brokerage concern, handled the transaction. He also closed a deal on the Hotel Santa Ana at Santa Ann for Earl Busby, who transferred the furniture and lease of that house to William J. Murphy, former commander of the American Legion at San Jose.

Negotiations were also completed yesterday for the leasing of a new 110-room hotel now being built at Prescott, Ariz. The lessee of this house is William J. Harner, who owns and operates the Hotel Cecil in Los Angeles, the Oasis at Palm Springs, and other hotels in the Southwest.

The total lease and sales consideration in these various transactions runs to approximately $1,500,000, and are indicative, according to Mr. Minster, of renewed interest in the hotel investment field. "We are receiving a large number of inquiries from eastern operators who are anxious to transfer their interests to the local field," said Minster.

BRIDE WON BY MAYOR OF AVALON

Judge Russill Officiates at Marriage of Friend to Miss Marguerite Brown

Acting suddenly to crown a long-standing romance of Hymen, Milton Shepard Patrick, Mayor of Avalon, Catalina Island, yesterday called upon Municipal Judge Russill, a friend of years, to officiate in his marriage to Miss Marguerite Brown of this city.

MILTON S. PATRICK

While the simple services were being culminated in the judge's chambers, traffic violators sat in suspense wondering whether or not the affair would serve to temper the blade of justice with mercy.

The romance had its inception several years ago when Miss Brown was a visitor at the island.

The bride, who lived at 740 South Catalina street, is the daughter of George W. Brown of Hartford, Ct.

The groom is the son of J. H. Patrick, secretary of the Catalina Island Company. Mayor Patrick has been a resident of Avalon for seven years, having gone there when the island was taken over by the Wrigley interests. His former home was in Illinois.

MRS. MILTON S. PATRICK

The couple plan a short honeymoon trip which will end at Avalon before January 15, as Mr. Patrick then is due to serve on the committee of judges in the $40,000 Catalina Channel swim being sponsored by Mr. Wrigley. Judge Russill is also a member of this committee.

Thomas Thorpe, clerk in Judge Russill's court, was a witness to the marriage.

EX-IOWANS CELEBRATE STATE DAY

Former Residents Gather on Admission Anniversary for Feast and Oratory

More than 300 ex-Iowans attended the banquet of the Iowa Association of Southern California last night in the Chamber of Commerce Building celebrating the anniversary of the admission of Iowa into the Union. The banquet was preceded by a reception from 6 till 7 p.m.

The principal address was delivered by Judge Edmund Nichols, whose topic was "What Is Iowa?" Congressman-elect Joe Crail also spoke. He expressed his appreciation of the efforts of Iowans in the recent election and told his audience that he was to leave for Washington next week.

Maj. F. H. Nichols, president of the Iowa Association, introduced Frank F. Merriam, who gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Charles E. Ballreich. Other speakers were Col. J. F. Rublee, Dr. Herbert F. Martin and L. C. Dale. H. J. Brubaker led the former Iowans in the singing of "America" and the Iowa State song.

German Actress Arrives to Play With Paramount

Lil Dagover, UFA star for the past six years and known as "the most beautiful woman in Germany," arrived yesterday to join the Paramount forces. She is the fifth foreign film celebrity to affiliate recently with Paramount, the others being Maurits Stiller, director; Emil Jannings, actor; Lother Mendez, director, and Lya de Putti, actress.

Miss Dagover's trip to Hollywood was in the nature of a honeymoon. Just before leaving Germany, she became the bride of George Witt, assistant to Erich Pommer, former head of UFA, now a Paramount director. Witt went back to Germany to arrange for the coming of Jannings to the United States. He met Miss Dagover and lingered until he had won her for his bride.

LIL DAGOVER

CLUB AND CHAMBER BREAKFAST GOLFERS

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Breakfast Club will be joint hosts to visiting golfers this morning at the Breakfast Club, according to Carl Kegley, president of the junior body. Included in the list of golfers who will attend are the names of Mike Brady, Johnnie Farrell, Harry Cooper, Joe Turnesa, Tom Armour, George Von Elm, Willie Hunter, Bobby Cruickshank and many others. More than 400 players are expected to participate in the Los Angeles $10,000 open, staged by the junior chamber, which will be held at El Caballero Country Club, January 7, 8 and 9. The breakfast is in honor of golfers who will take part in the second annual Los Angeles tournament.

HIGH POLICE POST GIVEN TO O'BRIEN

Made Acting Inspector of Detectives as Reward for Record on Gun Squad

Assistant Captain of Detectives Tom O'Brien, who, for years has been considered by police and judicial authorities as one of the best informed police detectives on the Pacific Coast, yesterday earned an illuminating commendation from Chief Davis for his work as head of the police gun squad, created recently by the chief to curb the activities of rum-runners and hi-jackers.

As an earnest of his appreciation of Capt. O'Brien's work, Chief Davis conferred upon him the title of Acting Inspector of Detectives. The commendation was contained in the official police bulletin along with the order of promotion.

"There is no doubt about it," declared Chief Davis warmly. "Capt. O'Brien has, as head of the gun squad, put a definite stop to gun battles in the city's streets such as have occurred in Chicago and other cities in the country. Before he took hold with his wide knowledge of underworld characters, we did have several outbreaks among gunmen paid by former local bootlegging and hijacking rings. But since that time our streets have been comfortably free of any kind of gang war. It was through the efforts of Capt. O'Brien and his men that load after load of liquor was captured before it reached local distributors and so curtailed the activities of thousands of bootleggers."

Goat's Ferocity and Aroma Keep Guard on Wine

There was a method in Joe Mudnich's madness of keeping a goat as custodian of his liquor cache, according to testimony before a jury in Municipal Judge Stafford's court yesterday.

Mudnich came before the court charged with possession of a large quantity of wine found buried in the garage at Mudnich's home at 582 Progress street. Serving as a foil to the aroma of wine and a near-by still stored in the garage, said also as a guardian, was the goat.

Police Officer Crane discovered the wine and the goat. But before Crane got the wine the goat got Crane and the latter had to call for help.

The jury returned a not guilty verdict on possession of a still and guilty verdict on the liquor possession charge.

HUGHES CITED OVER CHILDREN

Former Wife Says He Failed to Obey Court Order

Ice Cream Man Given Thirty Days to Produce Them

Admits He Placed Boy and Girl in Institution

Another chapter in the story of little Jeanne and Lawrence Hughes was written yesterday in Superior Court when Judge C. P. Vieini allowed Lawrence Hughes, wealthy ice-cream manufacturer, who believed for a long time that he was the father of the children, thirty days in which to produce them in Los Angeles.

Hughes had been cited by his former wife, now Mrs. Hazel Stith, in contempt proceedings for his asserted failure to turn the children over to Mrs. Stith, according to the terms of a settlement effected between them and sanctioned by the court several months ago.

According to Hughes, he had kept the children in his possession for six months, subject to his former wife's demand for them, but she failed to take them. Hughes said he then felt his responsibility under the settlement had ended and placed them with an institution in Spokane, Wash., for adoption. It was brought out yesterday that the girl had been adopted by a Washington couple while the boy still is in custody of the institution.

Hughes stated he thought the boy could be produced within a short time and that he would make a diligent effort to have the girl returned. With this understanding the court continued further proceedings for thirty days.

The children previously occupied the attention of Superior Court when it was brought out during litigation between Hughes and his former wife that he and Mrs. Stith were not real parents as he believed. It was established, finally, that the children had been adopted in New York by Mrs. Stith, although Hughes was said to have been under the impression for a long time that the boy and girl were his own.

Masonic Rites for Veteran of Theater Today

Funeral services for William H. Gregory, veteran of the theater, will be conducted at 10 a.m. today from the Bresee Undertaking Parlors. Masonic services will be conducted. The funeral will be under the auspices of Pacific Lodge and the 233 Club. Burial will be in the Masonic plot at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Gregory died last Friday, fourteen hours before he was scheduled to begin a role at the Orange Grove Theater. He had been director of John Barrymore, Thomas Meighan, Lionel Barrymore, Richard Mansfield and others. At one time he was the owner of a theatrical agency in New York, and on another occasion was managing director of the Powers Theaters, a large eastern circuit. He had taken part in many plays at the Morosco.

Gregory leaves his widow, Jennie Gregory, and a son and daughter, all in New York.
